DISTINGUISHED ARRIVAL.
"No old lady has arrived in New-York in a long time who has met with a warmer reception than Mrs. Partington with her 'Knitting-Work'—not to mention Ike and the other various members of that illustrious family. Modern wit is seldom genuine. Generally it is but an awkward semblance of the real thing as we find it in Aristophanes, Martial, Cervantes, Swift, Butler, Sterne, &c. For this reason I confess that, for my own part, I seldom proceed further than the title page, no matter how many eminent critics have pronounced the new book brim-full of wit, humor, wisdom, &c. It has been otherwise, indeed, with the 'Knitting-Work;' the perusal of which, from one end to the other, has put me in better temper with myself and others than I remember to have been in during any hot spell since I first became acquainted with the adventures of Gulliver in Lilliput."—[New-York Correspondent of Transcript.

THE CLEVELAND LEADER says:
"Mrs. Partington is no common humorist—her quaint sayings and innocent blunders are as distinct from any other counterfeits, and her style as free from any taint of plagiarism as any writer of the age. She treats of all subjects with equal power, and gives a hit at all the follies of the day.

In reference to the accuracy of APPLETON'S GUIDE, the attention of the traveler is called to the following extract from a letter to The Boston Saturday Evening Gazette:
"Within the past six months, business or pleasure called me into one-half of the States of the Union, and over several thousand miles of railroad, and I have never arrived at a depot ten minutes late, nor lost a connection—thanks to my pocket companion, APPLETON'S RAILWAY GUIDE—a work corrected and published semi-monthly, which is a model of accuracy, and may be relied on implicitly. A study of its contents has beguiled many miles of their tediousness, while the information it imparts reflects the greatest credit on the publishers."
OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.
From The N. Y. Herald.
"This admirable compilation is increasing so rapidly in circulation that, in this respect, it promises soon to outrival the English Bradshaw. In the ease with which the tables are put together, and in the extent and variety of the information which it conveys, it, however, has no equal."
From The Baltimore American.
"As the traveling season will soon commence, this comprehensive guide will now be called into requisition. Those who buy it once will never afterward be without it."
From The Boston Journal.
"We should as soon think of starting on our journey without a valise as to go on our journey without the latest edition of this useful and entertaining hand-book."
Extract from The Musical Harp.
"This is decidedly the best guide in the world—far ahead of Bradshaw's English work. It is illustrated by over sixty maps, and contains over two hundred pages. It is a work that should be placed in the hands of every man, woman and child in the United States."
From The American Railway Times.
"This is a most admirably arranged traveler's guide, and we cordially recommend it to the public. It is the most complete thing of the kind ever published in this or any other country."
From The Cincinnati Commercial.
"Appleton's Railway Guide is, without exception, the most complete work of the kind ever published. Mr. G. F. Thomas, the original projector and compiler of the Guide, was for many years a resident of Cincinnati, and is well known to many of our citizens as peculiarly competent for a work of this kind."
From Harper's Weekly.
"Appleton's Railway Guide, which makes its monthly appearance, has become as much of a necessity in America as Bradshaw is in England or on the Continent, while the style puts to shame that dingy publication."
APPLETON'S ILLUSTRATED RAILWAY GUIDE
Is, without any exception, the cheapest book ever published. It contains nearly 300 pages, nearly 75 maps, a variety of useful and entertaining matter, and is sold at the low price of
