This Telephone Talks

This is the Telephone Age. Nearly half of the world's business is transacted over the phone. Imagine what that means in the saving of time. But you must have a telephone that talks.

The telephone in the home is no longer a luxury—it is a real necessity. For shopping, for "calling," for emergencies, for protection—the telephone is indespensible. But you must have a phone that talks.

Our New Harmonic Party Line System

is the only satisfactory party line to date. It is now working in perfect order. This system is absolutely selective and calls one party at a time. It provides a full metallic circuit, the same as an individual line, and enables you to hear the conversation perfectly.

May we tell you more about it?
