Moral Intelligence.

YESTERDAY.—In our rambles yesterday, we discovered nothing in the usual reportable line. Life, gaiety, and joyousness, were the features of the town wherever we loitered.

SUIT FOR DAMAGES.—Dr. Jethro Jackson, who was recently arrested by officers Smith Isard and Tom Boylan, on the instance of Mr. Wm. Christie, of the firm of C. C. Miller & Co., on a charge of having feloniously collected from a man in Arkansas and embezzled a sum of money owing by that man to a firm in Memphis—but who was discharged by Recorder Smith for want of a prosecutor—has entered a suit for damages against Mr. Christie and officers Isard and Boylan jointly. He claims that he is a physician of respectable character, and in good standing in this city and elsewhere; and that, by the accusation of Christie and the arrest and imprisonment by the officers, his business, reputation, and feelings, have been damaged to the extent of $10,000. He has engaged Messrs. Joseph R. Lyman and W. D. Hennen to prosecute the claim, and the suit has been entered in the French District Court.

BOY DROWNED.—A boy named Joseph Silverstein, about 11 years old, fell overboard from the steamer Fulton, on Saturday evening, and was drowned. The canoemaking yesterday forenoon—which was so long delayed by a large circuit of the city—was a proceeding of the broken-hearted mother of the boy, in endeavoring to raise the body; she having applied to the Washington Artillery Company for the purpose. The firing, however, did not have the expected effect, and the body still sleeps in the deep.

DUEL FRUSTRATED.—Mr. W. R. Kennedy was arrested on Esplanade street at 1 o'clock yesterday morning, by policeman Cantliven, on a charge of being about to engage in a duel. He had a sword with him. He was lodged in the Third District lock up. We were unable to obtain any particulars of the proposed duel.

CORONER'S INQUESTS.—Two Deaths by Intemperance.—The Coroner held an inquest on Saturday, at the Charity Hospital, on the body of an unknown white man, who was received there the day before in a state of insensibility. Verdict, congestion of the brain, caused by intemperance. Also, an inquest on the body of John St. John, an Irishman, twenty-two years of age, found dead in the Parish Prison. Verdict, intemperance.

Mysterious Death of a Child.—Yesterday the Coroner held an inquest on the body of Lera A. Gunnegle, a child eight months old, found dead at the residence of its parents at the corner of White and Erato streets. Verdict, asphyxia. The circumstances were not enough. Mr. Gunnegle, the father of the child, who is well known as the box doorkeeper of the Gaiety theater and as mail clerk at the Bulletin office—and who was kept out till after midnight by the performance at the Gaiety on Saturday night—slept late yesterday morning. His wife went to market, leaving him asleep with the little one, Lera. When she returned she went to look after the little one, the father being still soundly asleep, and the child missed it. Looking around for it, she discovered it hanging, dead, between the bedstead and the wall, its body having fallen through the crevice, but its chin having caught on the bedstead, thus suspending it and choking it to death. The scene that followed was dreadful—the mother going into convulsions and the father being scarcely less distracted.

When the Coroner arrived to hold his inquest, the father had the child on his lap, holding it for the daguerreotype, he having sent for an artist for that purpose; and the scene was otherwise touching and harrowing to the extreme. The unhappy mother's convulsions continued throughout the day, and it was feared that they would endanger her life. Wine added to Mr. Gunnegle's distress, was the fact that he had previously saved off the projection of the taster of the bed, in order that the bed might stand so near the wall as to prevent the child falling through. A strong suspicion was entertained by the bereaved himself that the child could not fall through. The immediate nature of his mistake he discovered yesterday morning.

MONEY STOLEN AND RECOVERED.—Two thousand dollars, in Mexican silver and gold, were stolen off the steamer Robert Waterman, on Thursday night, shortly after her arrival from Brazos Santiago. Several packages of specie were left securely fastened, as was thought, under the hatch, but in the morning one of the packages, consigned to Mr. J. H. Phelps, was missing. Messrs. Harris & Morgan, the charterers of the steamer, at once acquainted the police with the fact, whilst Mr. Phelps offered the usual reward through the papers for the recovery of the money and the arrest of the thieves. Suspicion having fallen upon some of the crew of the steamer, special officers Smith Isard and Tom Boylan traced one of them, named Barsal, to a house on Front Levee street near Erato. They concluded it was the better policy to defer making any arrests for a while, and so postponed their visits till 3 o'clock the next morning, Saturday morning.

At that hour, Boylan being too ill for active service, Lieut. Hunt went with Isard to the house in which Barsal lodged. They picked him from the midst of a promiscuous assemblage of men and dogs sleeping about on the floor, scented him by their plain talk, and got him to take them to the room of another of the crew named Schmidt, at the corner of Tchoupitoulas and Notre Dame streets. They aroused Schmidt, and after taking him and Barsal to the lock-up, returned to Schmidt's place and succeeded in finding $1,030 of the silver, in three bags—one bag buried beneath a lot of rubbish under a sink way, and the other bags in an old trunk up-stairs, with an old blanket over it, as though it had not been disturbed for a year. Returning with this to the lock-up, they induced Barsal to show them where his baggage was. He took them to the Crescent Coffeehouse, at the corner of Levee and Gustomhouse streets, where they found his carpetbag; and in the bag they found $860 in gold. This made the total amount recovered $1,890, only $50 less the amount stolen. Barsal, however, when sober enough to steal, but not sharp enough to keep what they had stolen from such a blind of chief jockeys as Isard, Boylan and Hunt. They will be arraigned before Recorder Smith to-day.

AN INSIDER AT THE LAKE—How a Blackguard was not Horsewhipped.—If it be true that good breeding and natural politeness may readily be discovered under any garb, it is also true that ill-manners and natural vulgarity cannot be concealed by the apparel of a gentleman. An exemplification of this truism came under our observation a few days ago in one of the hotels on this side of Lake Pontchartrain.

In one of the parlors a well-dressed man amused himself by setting insanely upon his head a fantastic, broad-brimmed lady's hat, the owner of which, with the three other belles of her party, was seated just outside the room on the piazza. She naturally resented this liberty with her head gear, and in a very pointed manner; but he, instead of apologizing like a decent and sensible man, thought proper to reply:

"Madame, I have no hurt your bonnet. I have not fleas, no flies in my head!"

This gentlemanly and exceedingly witty retort did not satisfy him. He drew a chair and sat down upon the piazza; and, either stupidly presuming that the ladies would shrink up into ill-humor were not acquainted with the French language, or designing to grossly insult them under cover of that presumption, he commenced a series of remarks in that tongue, freely criticising their personal appearance, style of dress, etc., and finally we were told, making use of expressions not calculated to "soince ears polite," and in fact so indecent that the wrath of the fair audience burst suddenly forth and overwhelmed him in four rapidfire torrents of French and English vituperation, exclamations, adjectives, expletives and personal pronouns of the most fittingly accented description. The uproar attracted the attention of the vacationists and peacefully disposed writer herself, who thereupon quitted his half devoured dinner, and proceeded to gratify his appetite not less importunate—curiosity and love of scandal. One of the ladies, when he reached the gallery, was vehemently assuring Monsieur that her husband, who was at the time amusing himself in a neighboring pistol gallery, would arrange matters to the mutual satisfaction immediately upon his return, and Monsieur, who was evidently alarmed at the probable consequences of his folly and ill-manners, had assumed an apologetic tone, and, with matchless effrontery, asserted his innocence of an intention to insult anybody. Just then the train for the city gave the signal of departure, and our hero vanished down the stairs, no doubt heartily glad of an opportunity to escape a further visitation of female scorn, seasoned, perhaps, with masculine wrath. He must leave not the promised business on the stairs, for he came up directly afterwards, and the moment he was made acquainted with the circumstances, started at a break-neck pace for the cars, furiously flourishing a tremendous horsewhip, and indulging in expressions that would be highly inappropriate in the neighborhood of a prayer-meeting. He mounted upon the side of one of the cars, which had just commenced moving, and called loudly for the insulter, inviting him to show himself and be thrashed, but that individual, if a blackguard, was not quite a fool, and so held his peace until the increasing speed of the train compelled the gentleman who so eagerly sought his acquaintance to relinquish the search. The whimsical distress of the man with the horsewhip at the probability that he should never be able to identify the individual in whom he had taken such a sudden and intense interest, was amusing to witness.

ALL GAS.—The alarm of fire on Saturday evening was caused by the explosion of a gasometer in Mr. Goldman's store on Chartres street, near Canal, and the consequent ignition of some paper. The thing was properly settled without the intervention of the fire brigade, who turned out, hungry for action.

UNLAWFUL ASSEMBLAGE.—Lieut. Marshall and a posse of his men made a descent, on Saturday night, on the premises of J. B. Graves, at the corner of Camp and Felicity streets, where any quantity of niggers were having a grand powwow—a wedding, as the proprietor of the house reported. The Lieutenant found the gate nailed, and within he and his men were forcing an entrance through the fence, the darkeys stampeded. Thirteen of them, three being wenches, were caught and calaboosed, the great majority escaping—the keeper of the house giving them refuge in his private rooms, as the Lieutenant reports. All the negroes arrested were slaves.

CUTTING SCRAPES.—Thomas Hutchinson was cut by Philip Carroll, and Patrick Hutchinson was cut by Martin Dunn, all on St. Marc street, on Saturday night. Neither of the Hutchinsons was badly hurt. Both the cutters were arrested, and one of them, Carroll, was yesterday released on bail by the Mayor. Officers Hewett and Creigh made the arrests. We did not learn what led to the cuttings, but it is safe to presume that John Burlegerum was an accessory to the business.

John Brogan was stabbed in the left breast with a pair of shears on the same night, up Tchoupitoulas street, by B. N. McCauley. Brogan was taken to his residence. His wound was not a dangerous one—so we heard. McCauley and his shears were captured by officer Durand, and safely calaboosed.

Ernest Coulter was previously calaboosed by officer Tilton, on a charge of having cut Ernest Marchand. No further particulars.

THE RECORDERS' COURT.—Recorder Stith on Saturday dismissed Catherine Cronigan from the charge of stealing two watches from Catherine McSually, of Girod street. Francois Lafitte was also dismissed from a charge of larceny. Joseph Alimee, charged with selling liquor to a slave, was dismissed, the negro proving to be five and not a slave. Mr. Gunnegle's slave Simon was ordered to receive twenty-five lashes for brickbatting a white boy. Joseph Smith was sent to the Insane Asylum. Wm. Grunson was fined $10 for renting a room to a slave. Barney Masterson, a boy, was held for examination on a charge of stoning Mary Lesbey.

Recorder Fabre sent Emma Kirk and Ann Sullivan before the First District Court for beating Mary St. Clair. Annette Marcellany, f. w. c., was fined $10 for insulting a white woman. Clement Spellman, charged with being found in Dan. Grunsdor's house on Old Levee street, under suspicious circumstances, and a woman who would not tell her name, charged with being similarly found in Leon Yzell's house, were arraigned and booked for examination.

Recorders Solomon and Adams had nothing note worthy before them.

SPECIFICATIONS for the contract for removing and filling up the vaults of the old privies of the Court-House, Parish Prison and Police Jails, and for building new privies.

PRIVIES OF THE COURT-HOUSE.—The sink of the old privies shall be cleaned and filled up on a level with the yard, and all the partitions shall be broken down and removed. The opening communicating from the privies into the back yard shall be filled up with masonry in the best manner. A floor shall be laid over the whole of said old privies, which floor to be of 1½ inch planed yellow pine planks, free of sap and bad knots, square edged, and nailed on 5 by 6 inch cedar sleepers. The whole of the plastering of said privies shall be repaired and whitewashed, three coats, in the best manner.

A new privy, two stories high, shall be erected back of the new existing ones, in accordance with the accompanying plan of the stairs marked on said plan, profile and section. On the spot where the new privy shall be erected there exists an old building, and such parts of said building which are not required for the new privy, shall be pulled down and removed by the contractor. All new walls necessary to erect and complete the privies are to be laid on the present brick foundation walls of well burnt lake bricks of the best quality, laid in good mortar of fresh Thomaston lime and clear sharp sand. The foundations, as well as the walls as high as the first floor of the privies, shall be laid in best hydraulic cement mortar. All around the sink a counter wall, 1½ brick thick, shall be erected with cement mortar, and the walls of the sink shall be well plastered with cement. The sink shall be one foot deep below the level of the yard, and shall have three feet above the level of said yard, and the bottom of said sink shall be paved with lake bricks. The first floor of the privy shall be three feet above the level of the yard. The stairs, partitions, doors, ceilings, seats, roofs, works, etc., shall be built in the best workmanlike manner, and in accordance with the plan. All partitions to be made of 1¼ inch planed yellow pine, tongued and grooved; and all the doors to be conveniently hung and fastened with a good lock and two keys to each door. Two flues shall be cut into the old wall as per plan. Water-closets shall also be built as marked on the plan, with a 1¼ inch leading lead pipe to convey the water from the closet into the street, and with convenient waterworks fixtures. The roof shall be covered with slates in the best manner. The water-closets floor to be flagged in the best manner. All the wood and iron works to receive three coats of best white lead in oil and such other colors as may be most suitable, and all the walls to be plastered in the best manner.

PRIVIES IN THE PARISH PRISON AND POLICE JAIL.—The sinks in the two old privies in the Parish Prison, and the sinks of the two old privies in the Police Jail shall be well cleaned, and shall be filled up as high as the level of the yard with Lourdes gravel and sharp sand mixed. Cellars walls two bricks thick shall be erected all around the sinks of said privies. Said cellars walls to begin at four feet below the level of the yard, and to be raised to a height of four feet above the level of said yard, and to be made of well-burnt lake bricks, laid in best hydraulic cement mortar. The walls of the sinks to be plastered with cement in the best manner, and the bottoms of said sinks to be paved with lake bricks in the best manner. New floors shall be made for each privy of 1½ inch planed and tongued and grooved, yellow pine planks. Said floors to be a height of four feet above the level of the yards. New seats with a sufficient number of holes to be made in each privy, also the required stairs to be laid from the yard to the privy. A water-closet shall be constructed in each privy with a 1¼ inch leading lead pipe to convey the water from the closet into the street. The plastering of the walls and ceilings shall be repaired and whitewashed in the best manner.

GENERAL CLAUSES.—All the materials shall be of best quality, and shall be furnished by the contractor as well as the labor.

All necessary items omitted to be written in the foregoing specification, and which may be found necessary by the Surveyor, shall be supplied by the contractors without extra charge.

The work shall be adjudicated under the following clauses, to-wit: One contract for the privy in the Court-House and the other for the privies in the Parish Prison and Police Jail.

Each of the contractors shall be bound to begin the work in the ten days following the approval of the adjudication by the Common Council, and to complete the same in ten days after, under a penalty of $10 per day for each and every day thereafter the same is not completed.

Security to an amount of $600 shall be required from each of the contractors to guarantee the faithful performance of the contract.

Payments in cash on the completion of the work and acceptance of the same by the Surveyor.

It is well understood, that in case of failure by the contractor to begin or finish the work, or any part thereof, within the period fixed, or in case the Council be dissatisfied with the manner in which the work is being executed, the Council shall have the right of annulling the contract without putting the contractor in default, as required by article 1905 of the Civil Code, and without applying to a court of justice to annul the same, and without damages; and it is also well understood, that in case the contractors shall at any time abandon the work, or not finish and complete the same in conformity with the contract, the said contractors shall forfeit all claims they may have for any part of the work done by them up to the date of the abandonment, and that the city shall be thereby discharged from any and all liability therefor; and it is also well understood, that in case the contract be resold, the contractors and their securities shall be held and bound to pay to the city all loss and damage, the difference between the price at which the contractors originally contracted to perform the works, and the price at which it may be adjudicated at a resale or readjudication.

Bids to be for the whole work included in the first contract complete, and for the whole work included in the second contract complete.

New Orleans, 25th August, 1857.
[Signed] LOUIS H. PILIE, City Surveyor.

Approved by the Committees on Streets and Landings of both Boards of the Common Council.
