Plaquemines.—An intelligent correspondent in this parish, under date of the 4th inst., writes us as follows:

Edr. Crescent—The efforts of the American party in this parish have been crowned with success. I have but the time to give you the following list, with the promise of sending you to-morrow the full returns of all the polls in the parish.

The majority for the Democratic State ticket is about 10. Third is about 20 ahead of Eustis.

The following officers have been elected by the American party: Representative, Dr. J. B. Wilkinson, 32 majority; Recorder, V. Reand, 43 majority; Sheriff, R. Johnson, 61 majority; Coroner, J. N. Pons, 80 majority; Assessor, A. D. Salvant, 60 majority.

SECOND CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.—The contest between Mouton, Slidell and Taylor in this District is very close, although we incline to think the chances preponderate very slightly in favor of the former. To-day will settle the matter finally, as full news must come in.

ORLEANS THEATRE.—This establishment will open very soon. The ship Johannisberg, having on board the newly-engaged members of the company, arrived yesterday at the South-West Pass. Due notice of the opening will be given.

ADELPHI THEATRE.—Matt Peel & Co. appear again to-night in a grand melange of the mirth which sparkles and the music which delights. The Amphitheatre is slightly the great living feature of St. Charles street, for Peel's Ethiopians are luxuries which every one [illegible]

GAIETY THEATRE.—The Drews had a moderately good audience at their benefit last night, and in "St. Patrick's Eve" and the "Original Lesson" afforded not a little entertainment. We never saw them play better. They appear again to-night, and for positively the last time, in a repetition of the above pieces. They are worth seeing. Go.

ST. CHARLES THEATRE.—This establishment, we learn, is to open on Saturday night.—Ben De Bar and his crack song on the way and nearly here. A powerful attraction at the opening, aside from the new company, will be the new configuration which the inside of the theatre has assumed during the past summer. We have not seen it, but are told that the old patrons of the establishment will hardly be able to know it, so great is the change from last season.

ARRIVAL OF THE STEAMSHIP BLACK WARRIOR.—The U. S. mail steamer Black Warrior, R. W. Smith, commander, from New York Oct. 27th, arrived at Havana Nov. 1, and from thence, on the 2d, arrived at her wharf at 10 o'clock yesterday evening. Two slavers had been captured—one with 116 Africans, the other with 600. The one was brought into Havana, the other is at Sagua la Grande. Stock of sugars 100,000 boxes. Exchange on London and New York inactive, and but few transactions. Freights nominal. The Warrior brings to this port $412,000 in specie from New York, and $88,000 from Havana.

GOLD FROM HAVANA.—By the bark Matamora and brigs India, Drake and Margaret A. Stevens, which arrived at this port on Tuesday night and Wednesday morning, from Havana, there was received $121,500 in gold, consigned as follows: To Pratt, Pujol & Co., $21,500; Puig, Mir & Co., $99,000. Total, $121,500.

AMERICAN DOCTORS IN THE CRIMEA.—A Russian journal announces the number of medical men killed in her service in the late war at 382. Of these ten were Americans.

OPENING OF MRS. ROPER'S MILLINERY ESTABLISHMENT.—Mrs. G. W. Roper having moved into the elegant new store at the corner of Poydras and Carondelet streets, has opened the same and now offers to her old friends and the public a most complete and beautiful assortment of bonnets, of the latest fashions, with ribbons, flowers, dress trimmings, and other articles fully as new and attractive as the bonnets. The ladies will do well to drop in and take a look at the goods. We refer them to Mrs. Roper's advertisement in this morning's Crescent.

SPLENDID PIANOS.—Mr. Schneider, at No. 89 Royal street, has on hand some of the finest Piegel and Brard pianos ever brought to this city. We have seen and heard them; and more beautiful and finely-finished pieces of furniture to look at, or more sweetly-toned and rich-sounding instruments to listen to, have never yet come in our way. We refer to Mr. Schneider's advertisement in another column.

MEDICAL BOOKS AT WHITE'S.—Mr. T. L. White, at No. 135 Canal street, has on hand a great variety of standard medical works, valuable alike to the practitioner and the student of medicine. The list, published in our advertising columns, will sustain our assertion. Look over it.

W. G. Jewett offers at his salesroom, 73 Camp street, this day, at 10 A. M., large invoices of groceries, liquors, sundry merchandise, books and stationery, boots and shoes, etc. See advertisement.

The ladies' auction will be continued at 101 Baronne street, this day, by L. A. Levy, Jr., auctioneer. Great chances for the [illegible]

HUMBOUDLY, BUT SEVERELY SARCASTIC.

The subjoined article, which we extract from the Courier of yesterday morning, we regard as an excellent specimen of genuine humor and sarcasm:

"THOSE EXTRAORDINARY EXTRAORDINARIES.

"Tune—Little Sally Waters.

"Tune—Little John Bull.

"Chorus—Oh, what would we do, what would we do, what would we do?

"Hong and story formally record of the Cadet Bonaparte, that among many other valuable properties, such as a cocked hat, a roof, and pantaloons of paper, he was the happy owner of three dogs, of which one was a bloodhound, one was a mastiff, and one was a cur, which he called him. We may therefore well imagine what rejoicing the noble cadet left his three dangerous and his three chateaux and went hunting with his three dogs, his success was measured rather by the willingness of the game to be caught, than by his power to catch it.

The Superintendent of Elections, last Monday, found himself possessed of certain extraordinary extraordinaries quite as valuable for keeping peace at the polls as the dogs of the cadet were for the chase. Most of them were like the third magnanimous quadruped, and considered the fact that they were summoned to attend a sufficient reason to leave the city or imprison themselves in their houses. The few gallant exceptions who held their ground, found themselves alone, deserted and ridiculous. No appeal to the Superintendent procured any reinforcement, that we know of. Where his "ordinaries" were we know not—his "extraordinaries" were nowhere. Peace, as a general thing, was maintained, but it was the peace of terror. If the Things had not found it for their interest to be quiet, murder and bloodshed would have been as rife as usual. The Cadet Superintendent caught his "peace;" but "peace" came up to his extraordinary extraordinaries, and staid there, because it was a convenient time and place.

We trust the extraordinary extraordinaries have had their day. We trust that at the next election the new law will be put into operation. Its enemies call it the Army bill. Let us make it one. If the gentlemen who are now the managers of the Democratic party do not feel able to carry out the law as it was intended to be carried out—if they do not feel able or willing to rely on organized legal power to put down organized illegal violence—if they do not intend to stand by the original idea of the Attorney-General, on which the bill was founded, and the original design of its friends—it would be graceful in them to abdicate and make way for other men. For our own part, we are as ignorant of their designs and purposes as if they were a Know-Nothing lodge. We do not even know their names, except by guesswork. But the result of their management is before us, and we feel humiliated in the bitter disgrace they have brought on the Democrats of New Orleans. We have had no part in their doings, but we share in their shame.

The "extraordinary extraordinaries" have some futile excuse, we apprehend, for their remissness. The "Army bill" did not make provision for paying them a single copper cent. On the contrary, it was expressly stipulated that they should receive no remuneration whatever! This fact furnishes some reasons in justification. There is force and application, these modern times, in the old catch:

"All work and no play,
Makes Jack a dull boy."

And, now-a-days, patriotism, without pay, is looked upon as a non-paying business—a business to be repudiated by every ardent and devoted patriot—by every true lover of his country and its glorious institutions—by every admirer of the American Eagle—by every adorer of the surpassingly beautiful Goddess of Liberty—and by every reverer of the memories of our illustrious forefathers. In other words, to be unmistakable, all work and no pay, has a tendency to diminish the number of patriots amazingly, as was strikingly illustrated last Monday.

But this excuse for the "extraordinaries," poor though it may be, will not answer for the "ordinaries"—"the ten dollar per day fellows." Ten dollars per day, during these times of extraordinary pressure in the money market, and lassitude in all other markets, is extraordinarily high pay—pay that should have stimulated the "ordinaries" to put forth extraordinary efforts. This latter proposition we hold to be incontrovertible. The "ordinaries" had no right to desert. Their desertion was absolutely inexcusable. With them, patriotism and pay went hand in hand—money was supplied in ample amounts to reimburse them for any expenditure of muscle they might be called on to make; and, under circumstances like these, we maintain it was their bounden duty to have "saved the country," if they discovered it was going to destruction. But they did'nt do anything of the sort. Instead of trying, they incontinently slid off themselves, apparently regardless of any slide their beloved country might take during their absence! Such extraordinary conduct on the part of the "ordinaries" deserved the caustic castigation it has called forth.

But, seriously: Superintendent Cotton was the possessor of extraordinary powers last Monday—powers wholly incompatible with the theory and practice of our government, and which should never be confided to the custody of a single citizen. We believe he appreciated the great responsibility weighing upon him, and sought to act as fairly and justly as the law permitted, throughout. Yet, as there is precious little fairness or justice in the detestable statute, he was afforded little opportunity to display his good qualities, either as a citizen or chief commander under the iniquitous "Army bill."

The actualities of Monday establish one great fact we have often asserted in these columns, viz: the almost universal detestation in which the Election Law is held by the people of New Orleans. Scarcely anybody approves it; and almost everybody considers it unconstitutional, outrageous and despotic. But for this, Judge Cotton would have had as many "extraordinary Deputies" and as many "ordinaries" as he could have possibly required. As it was, the result speaks trumpet-tongued in favor of repeal. When partisans will not rally to the practical support of a partisan measure—when it is obvious they hold it in such abhorrence that they will hazard grave pains and penalties before they will assist in its execution—its repulsiveness and odiousness becomes most glaringly apparent.

Fortunately, although the "extraordinaries" and "ordinaries" were non est on Monday, there was no occasion for their services, nor any indication that they would ever be required. Peace, quiet, law and order reigned supreme throughout the length and breadth of the corporation. It was, in all respects, the most peacefully conducted election known to the history of New Orleans. There were no riotings anywhere. There were, comparatively speaking, no disturbances anywhere. There was no intimidation practiced anywhere. Good feeling and hilarity prevailed everywhere, so far as our observation extended, and we were pretty much all over the city, at various times during the day. Every legal voter could have exercised his privilege, had he thought proper. There was no one to molest him or make him afraid.

Should not the Supreme Court decide upon the Election Law before the meeting of the Legislature, we hope measures for its repeal will be at once taken. Repeal it—let crimination and recrimination cease—let language calculated to excite bad and subdue good passions find no utterance—silence the tongue of misrepresentation, slander and obloquy, and the good old times will speedily return, and there will be little for the most circumspect to complain of. The insane pursuit of the opposite policy has been productive of nothing but baneful fruits. Let it be abandoned and another course adopted.

Talk on 'Change.

The improved condition of commercial affairs was the chief topic of comment yesterday. People seem to move with more elasticity on our streets; in fact, croakers and alarmists did not show themselves yesterday.

Every arrival adds largely to our transient population, and we hardly know where and how the many thousands seeking business and employment will find them this season. Retrenchment is the order of the day, and will be followed up to its fullest extent, and very few tours of Europe are in contemplation at this moment.

The arrivals of steamboats yesterday were few. An interdict from low water may check intercourse with the Ohio river, and there is not much show even for a medium trade for the present with St. Louis.

The Northern mail failed yesterday. The presumption is that contractors find it more profitable to transport passengers that the United States mail.

CHLOROFORM ROBBERY.—One night recently in Cincinnati, a man, muffled in a cloak and standing at the mouth of an alley, threw chloroform by means of a syringe into the face of Mr. J. H. Powell, as he was walking past. A portion of the fluid entered his throat, and he fell down in a state of partial insensibility. He was conscious, however, of the robber stepping over him, taking his watch, cutting out his pocket, and making off with the plunder, the money in the pocket amounting to $463. For nearly two days, Mr. Powell suffered the effects of the chloroform, and could not speak above a whisper.

Telegraphed to the New Orleans Crescent.

THREE DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE CANADA AT HALIFAX.

FURTHER DECLINE IN COTTON.

[BY THE NATIONAL LINE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The Royal mail steamship Canada, Capt. Long, from Liverpool on the afternoon of Saturday, Oct. 24th, has arrived at Halifax, en route for Boston. Her advices are three days later than brought by the Indian and Arago.

Commercial.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 24.—The sales of cotton for the week amount to 31,000 bales. All qualities have declined, but Middling qualities show a decline of ½ to 3-16d. Quotations are nominal. The market closed with a declining tendency.

Breadstuffs closed dull, with a declining tendency. Provisions are dull.

[SECOND DISPATCH.]

Cotton Quotations.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 24.—Orleans Fair 9½; Orleans Middling 9 1-16d; Mobile Fair 9½; Mobile Middling 9d; Upland Fair 9½; Upland Middling 8⅞d.

The whole stock of cotton in port at Liverpool is 318,000 bales, of which 160,000 bales are American.

Manchester Markets.

Our advices from Manchester are unfavorable. Prices are weak.

Consols and Money.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—Consols closed at 88⅞ to 88⅞. Money is generally unchanged. The bullion in the Bank of England has decreased during the week $585,000.

Liverpool Markets.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 24.—Inferior flour has declined 2s. Corn is is higher. Beef and Bacon quiet. Lard heavy. Rice heavy. Sugars have declined from 1s to 3s. Coffee is a little cheaper. Rosin steady. Spirits turpentine dull.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—Baring & Bros. report money slightly easier. The pressure is considerably abated.

France.

France intends removing the restrictions against the exports of breadstuffs. New Orleans tree ordinaire, at Havre, is quoted at 125 francs.

Additional by the Canada.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—The funds are improving. There is a good supply of money at 5½ per cent. The advance in the bank rates has greatly checked the flow of gold to New York.

It is reported that the Directors of the Bank of France have asked for a decree giving a forced currency to the notes of the bank.

The Bank of France has lost 25,000,000 in bullion since the last monthly return. The 3 per cents. closed at 66f. 85c.

The Spanish Cabinet is unorganized. Turkey persists in claiming the Island of Perin.

Mr. TonBrock's horse Pryor is dead.

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE.

Louisiana Election.

ASCENSION PARISH.—Baton Rouge, Nov. 4.—Miles Taylor's majority over Burke in Ascension is over 250.

ASSUMPTION PARISH.—Baton Rouge, Nov. 4.—Assumption parish gives Taylor, for Congress, nearly 600 majority over Burke.

WEST FELICIANA PARISH.—Baton Rouge, Nov. 4. The following is the official vote of West Feliciana:

Auditor—Robertson, 306; Hardesty, 176.
Treasurer—Hunter, 304; Walker, 177.
Superintendent Public Education—Hamilton, 307; Lacey, 174.
Congress—Davidson, 267; Watterston, 152; Sigur, 87.

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 4.—Concordia parish gives Sigur 104; Watterston 108; Davidson 75.

The returns from Pointe Coupee give Davidson 160 majority, with two or three precincts to hear from, which will not change the result. Davidson's election is considered certain.

HEAD OF PASSES, Nov. 4.—The Democratic majority at the Balize is 32. Only 14 American votes were polled.

Elections in New Jersey.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The Democrats have carried both branches of the Legislature.

New York Elections.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Additional returns make the result in the State doubtful, but the Democrats claim a majority.

ALBANY, Nov. 4.—Fuller returns indicate the success of the Republican State ticket.

Baltimore Elections.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 4.—The election is progressing quietly. All the bar rooms are closed.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 4.—The Americans are parading the streets shouting victory, and claiming the election of their whole ticket.

Arrival of Star of the West.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The steamer Star of the West has arrived with about $2,000,000 in gold. Her dates are anticipated.

Arrival of the City of Baltimore.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The steamship City of Baltimore from Liverpool has just arrived. Her dates are anticipated.

The Cahawba.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The Cahawba, from New Orleans via Havana, arrived this morning.

Gold from California.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The Star of the West brings $1,464,000, of which $174,000 is for Robb, Hallett & Co.

Great Fire.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 4.—The depot of the Illinois Central Railroad, at Cairo, was burned on Sunday night with four freight cars and the engine house. Loss $200,000.

Markets and Money.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 4.—Flour active at $4 50 to $4 75. Whisky 15½c. Barley 65c. Money easier. No protests of any consequence to-day. Bank rates for Exchange declining.

STARVATION IN MINNESOTA.—A committee from Stearns county, M. T., visited St. Paul recently to solicit contributions for persons in that county who were on the verge of starvation. They represent that for the past two years the crops in Stearns have been totally destroyed by the grasshoppers. There is not a bushel of wheat or oats in the county, raised within its borders. Farmers, but two years since comparatively wealthy, are now suffering from a want of the necessaries of life. Over two thousand people, it is estimated, will require aid.

ALAS, POOR GIDEON!—The unlucky Pillow has foundered in the mire at the bottom of his new ditch until his best friends cannot recognize him or are glad of an excuse for not doing so. Even the Washington Union and the Star give him the cold shoulder by going into ecstasies over the election by the Tennessee Legislature of Hon. A. O. P. Nicholson to the position which the immortal little general aspired to fill.

Enigm-Hat-ical.

My first is a man of the old-fashioned kind
We never meet now, but in pictures may find,
Who scourning earth's weaknesses, looked but above,
Doing no deeds but kindness and love.

My second's the name of a monarch whose life
Was a routine of merriment rather than strife;
A name that is common with men low and high,
And oft, with my first, on our maps meets the eye.

My third is an article useful to wear,
May always be seen when over men are;
Though comfort its purpose, there's beauty about it,
And dreadful would be our condition without it.

My fourth is a city—a grand rendezvous
Of all that is lively, and all that is new;
A center where trade in a mighty tide swells,
A mart o'er which fashion in dignity dwells.

My whole is the place of all places wherein
A man may purchase him a beautiful hat;
Where JOHNSTON, the hatter, prince favorite with all,
Will explain this enigma to one and to all.

Marlin's Self-Weighing Carts.

From and after the first of November, we will have in operation the above
PATENTED SELF-WEIGHING CARTS.
These Carts WEIGH THEIR OWN LOADS at the door of the consumer, and are Correct to a Fraction!
Persons knowing their own weight, by getting on top of a load of coal, or into an empty cart, will be convinced at once that the
SELF-WEIGHING CART IS NO HUMBUG!
All Coal delivered with these Carts will be sold invariably by the ton—Pittsburg and English Coaled, as well as Anthracite. But parties preferring to purchase by the barrel, will be supplied in the usual manner, at the regular prices of all dealers throughout the city.
Our stock of ANTHRACITE COAL is much larger, and variety greater, (for the several purposes which these Coals are best adapted) than any other in the city—all of which will be sold at prices satisfactory to the consumer, by
SPENCER FIELD & CO.,
