[illegible] MORNING, NOVEMBER 25, 1857

[illegible] J. C. Morgan, of Exchange [illegible] with a copy of Harper's Magazine. It is an exceedingly fine number. It opens with the commencement of the sixteenth volume, [illegible] the commencement of Thackeray's [illegible] "The Virginians," and Charles Reade's [illegible] (written exclusively for Harper,) entitled [illegible] "Peg Woffington—A Matter-of-Fact Romance." [illegible] papers are, "A Christmas Garland of [illegible] Ladies in Pictures," "The [illegible]," and Thackeray's novel, "The Virginians." [illegible] is fully worthy of its [illegible] country. It more than fulfills [illegible]

[illegible] No. 67 Camp street, also has our thanks for a copy of the magazine.

Graham's Magazine.—The October number of [illegible] has been received by Mr. J. C. Morgan, Exchange Place. We are indebted to him for a copy.

[illegible] St. Charles Theatre.—[illegible] "The Irish Genius" and "The Happy Man," and Mr. Keenan in "Who Stole the Pocket [illegible]

[illegible] "Rosalie," "The Bloodin and Martinetti [illegible] in the grand fairy pantomime of "Rasol, or the Magic Ring," and "The Venitian Carnaval;" with a force by the stock company.

[illegible] Theatre.—A brilliant variety of musical, [illegible] and other entertainments of the Ethiopian kind, by Matt Peel and troupe.

Orleans Theatre.—Donizetti's grand opera of "La Favorita" is to be given at the Orleans to-morrow night. The new baritone, M. Rasch, is to make his debut on the occasion.

SEE FIRST AND FOURTH PAGES.

Mississippi Legislature.—The Legislature of Mississippi adjourned on Thursday last, after a session of ten days. The following are the important acts of general interest which were passed:

An act locating the three per cent. fund, and dividing the same among several railroad companies of the State as follows: the Central Road; New Orleans, Jackson and Great Northern; the Mobile and Ohio; the Southern, and the Tennessee and Mississippi. An act apportioning the Senators and Representatives among the several counties. An act to establish an Agricultural Bureau. An act repealing the Mississippi Railroad; and also acts for the benefit of the Deaf Dumb Institutions for the Deaf and Dumb and Blind.

Short session, that. A very good beginning. We are sometimes inclined to the opinion that if the Legislatures of half the States were peremptorily limited to sessions of ten days duration it would be better for the taxpayers and the general weal of the respective commonwealths concerned. Here, in Louisiana, we are quite confident if the sessions were confined to four weeks, at the outside, it would be better for all parties except the mere partisans—those who depend upon spoils for a livelihood and practice politics as a trade. However, it is all right, we suppose, as our people rather like special legislation and excessive taxation than otherwise.

Murderous.—The keeper of a drinking saloon in New York was stabbed and killed on the night of the 17th by three foreigners, who attacked him for the purpose of obtaining a sum of money in his possession. The murderers escaped.

From Sierra Leone.—The New York papers have advices from Sierra Leone, Africa, to the 21st of September. The emigration schemes of the French on the coast had led to a suspicion that the Emperor Napoleon was attempting to revive the slave trade. The British cruisers were unusually vigilant, and a number of vessels sailing under Spanish and American colors had been captured, among them the American brigs Miss Jane and William Clark. The crops of the colony promised an abundant yield. The Liberia Herald had been discontinued for want of adequate patronage. There had been a great deal of sickness at Accra.

Convicted.—On the 13th inst. a young man named James Rodgers was tried in New York for killing John Sprangton with a knife, and found guilty of murder. Sprangton was killed without provocation, while walking along the street with his wife, Rodgers being very drunk at the time.

Commissary Express.—We take pleasure in calling the attention of our community to this Express, as it is something new in this city or the Southern country, though quite common in the Northern and Eastern cities. Brought as it is to all outfitters from any section of the country upon the shortest notice, for a small commission, it also is ready to receive and sell anything from one dozen eggs to a bale of cotton. The gentlemen engaged in this enterprise propose to keep on hand a full supply of eggs, chickens, turkeys, possum and wild game of every sort to suit the taste of the most fastidious epicure.

Gentlemen of fastidious desiring to have fresh game at any time, or poultry, can be accommodated by calling at the office of the Express. They are now making arrangements and expect to open on the 1st December, and due notice will be given to our readers of their wherewithals.

Bale of Black and Colored Silks, Damasks, Broadcloths and Dry Goods.—We call the attention of the trade to the sale of an extensive assortment of black and colored silks, damasks, broadcloths and dry goods, to take place this day, at 10 o'clock A. M., at Bloche & Lemonnier's auction room, No. 77 Chartres street. Terms—Over $200, sixty days; over $100, ninety days credit for approved endorsed notes.

For Memphis and Cairo.—The Memphis packet line steamer John Simonds, Capt. Church, connecting through to St. Louis and Louisville by first class packets from Memphis, and by Illinois Central Railroad from Cairo, leaves at 5 P. M. this day. J. H. Freight, agent—office under St. Charles Hotel.

☞ W. C. Jewett sells at 10 o'clock A. M., at No. 75 Chartres street, a large invoice of diamonds, watches, etc., on a credit.

Singer's Sewing Machines.—We call the attention of the public to the notice in another column of Singer's sewing machines, which appear to be rapidly increasing in public favor. Mr. Bennett has a beautiful office at 33 Camp street, and takes pleasure in exhibiting the operation of his machines.

Wines and Liquors.—Mr. S. Wolff, at the corner of Gravier and New Levee streets, has received fresh supplies of the choicest wines and liquors from abroad. See his advertisements.

Silks and Damasks almost for Nothing.—There is a place in town, where beautiful dress silks are to be had at a dollar a yard, and worsted curtain damasks at sixty-two and a half cents a yard. And that place, ladies, is Routhuysen, Lewis & Co's., No. 116 Canal street. For confirmation, see the advertisements.

Pulgian's Tombolos.—Mr. I. Pulgian, of the Turkish Bazaar, No. 34 St. Charles street, has opened two grand tombolos of fancy goods, one for Christmas, and the other for New Years. They offer a fine opportunity to procure splendid holiday presents at a small outlay. The full particulars are given in the advertisement in another column.

Cheap Clothing at the Great Emporium.—Messrs. A. Munroe & Co., at the corner of Magazine and Gravier streets, are accommodating themselves most emphatically to the times—offering a gigantic and magnificent stock of clothing to suit the odd times, at prices to suit the hard times. Now is the time, gentlemen, to rig yourselves out superbly at a small outlay. Read the advertisement of Messrs. Alfred Munroe & Co.

Magnificent Parisian Goods.—M'me D. Albert, at the corner of Royal and Bienville streets, yesterday opened to public display the magnificent selections of millinery and fancy dry goods which she has just received from Paris. Our lady friends, who stand up to the mark in the matter of fashionable apparel, should go and see for themselves. We know they will be fascinated. See M'me Albert's card.

FOR THE "UNION AT ANY PRICE," GENTLEMEN.

The New York Tribune, of the 16th inst., has the following in regard to the recent election in that State:

We hear the death of our late election generally spoken of as disastrous to the Republicans, but we do not regard it so. True, we lose by it—or rather, we fail to gain—the management of the canals, which has been a curse to us whenever we have had it. Had we completely, unquestionably lost the Legislature also, it would have been a piece of rare good fortune. Let us only be fairly rid of all local responsibility and power, and we shall bring distinctly into the view, as our great national issue on which the people and the hearts of the people are overwhelmingly with us. Had we lost the Legislature and the canals last year, we should have carried the State City fall by an ample majority. As we are now defeated for the contest of 1856, when we have a Governor and members of Congress to elect, we are morally certain to triumph.

However objectionable the anti-slavery politics of the Tribune may be to the Southern people, one fact is quite evident and should not be forgotten: its editors are the ablest and shrewdest of Black Republican politicians and leaders, and we have found, after several years of experience in watching their course, that their political predictions are oftener realised than are those of any of their cotemporaries. They generally hit, or come very near the mark they aim at. And, while we abhor their doctrines, we are bound to give them a full meed of credit on the score of reliability.

It is evident from the above, that the Tribune is not at all discouraged because of the late nominal defeat of its party in New York. We say nominal, because that is the word to use in such a connection. The vote cast was very small; and the bulk of the American party voted with the Democrats, in order to defeat the Black Republicans. Still, if a full vote had been polled, the latter party would have unquestionably triumphed. As it is, they have the Governor, and, we believe, the Senate. This renders the so-called victory of their opponents a complete nullity to all practical purposes and ends.

With such facts and circumstances before him, Mr. Greeley was warranted in expressing the opinion that he did not regard the recent election in New York as a defeat or as a disaster. He rather conclusively proves that it was neither; and his showing almost incontrovertibly tends to inculcate the idea (no matter how unfortunate we may deem it, that the hearts of the voters of New York, on the simple question of hostility to the constitutional rights of the South, are "overwhelmingly with" the Black Republicans. For our part we cannot help coinciding in his conclusions. In 1856 we have little or no doubt that the Black Republicans will elect their Governor and members of Congress, and that, in 1860, they will cast the electoral vote of the mightiest commonwealth in the Union for William H. Seward for President of the United States.

When the chief organ of abolitionism, by all odds the ablest and most influential with which the country is cursed, declares that its organization is "morally certain" to carry the important election of next year, and if they carry that they are bound to carry the Presidential election which occurs two years thereafter, it seems to us that the "Union-at-any-price" gentlemen should pause before they hand the South over to the domination of fanatical abolitionism, helpless, weaponless and manacled hand and foot.

If the "Union-at-any-price" gentlemen are willing to submit to the Presidency of Senator Seward, we cannot help it. At this moment they are doing much to secure his triumph, which, however, will probably be accomplished without their assistance. When he mounts the summit of authority they should, to preserve their consistency, pay him due and proper reverence.

Sickness on Shipboard.—The Bremen ship D. H. Watjen, which arrived at the Quarantine station on Monday, 23d inst., sailed from Bremen on the 27th of September with four hundred and forty-five steerage passengers, and during the passage the ship fever broke out, with which some sixteen of the passengers died, and there were some eighteen or twenty sick with it on her arrival at the Quarantine station.

The Transit Route.—On the 17th Senor Yrissarri was formally received at the White House as Minister from Nicaragua, and shortly after the presentation ceremony the treaty between that republic and the United States was signed by the new Envoy and the Secretary of State. The treaty provides for a free port at each end of the transit route; the United States guarantees the protection and neutrality of the route; the transit is to be free to all nations; the United States reserves the right to transport the mails across the Isthmus. The usual stipulations of good will, commerce and navigation are appended to the instrument. None of the transit companies are mentioned in the treaty.

☞ When coughs, colds, influenza, consumption and the numerous diseases arising from pulmonary affections, are readily cured by Woodman's Cherry Expectorant, it is easy to believe that it possesses merits based upon the only true principle of finding its way to the root of the disease. Woodman's Cherry Expectorant has balsamic, soothing and healing properties, possessed by no other remedy in the world, and is strongly recommended for all affections of the lungs and chest. n23 2p6t&1tW

☞ A Word to a Candid Public.—Scarcely four years have elapsed since the presentation of our now celebrated Stomach Bitters was made to you. You have tested their efficacy, and have manifested your appreciation by your generous patronage, from the fact that they have invariably accomplished all they purported to do, and if there is still among you any who from predisposition have incinded our preparation in their general prejudice against medicine, we would earnestly refer them to any of the leading physicians in the land, who now invariably prescribe it in all cases of indigestion, dyspepsia, biliousness, flatulency, constipation, loss of appetite, etc., etc. It does not profess to cure all things, but we hold for the above diseases it is the only speedy and reliable remedy. We would seriously caution you against the different spurious articles gotten up and palmed off as the genuine "Hostetter;" and it is due to yourselves to acquaint us with all parties engaged therein. We have at present several in different sections of the Union under bonds, but hereafter we intend prosecuting to the fullest extent of the law.

A Beautifying Change
Of the color of grey, red or sandy Hair is effected with ELECTRIC RAPIDITY, and without injuring the fibres, by a single application of that marvel of chemistry, CRISTADORO'S EXCELSIOR DYE.
Unlike the pungent preparations which impart color by burning, this preparation does not impair the LIFE OF THE HAIR.
The blacks and browns it produces are not dull and dead, but bright and glossy as those of nature. For sale by all druggists and hair dressers.
