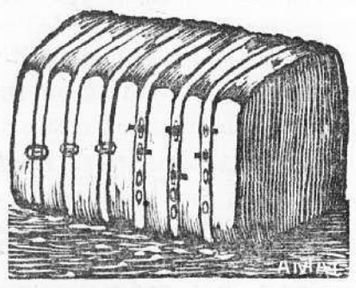
FASSMANN'S PATENT IRON TIES!

FOR COTTON BALES.

J. MOUTON & CO. AGENTS. NATCHITOCHES, LA.



J. MOUTON & CO. AGENTS. NATCHITOCHES, LA.

UNITED STATES PATENT, APRIL, 1865.

The above centre cut represents three of the Button and three of the Buckle Tie as they appear on a bale of cotton.

The hoop for the button is punched with two holes at one end and fifteen at the other. The band has only to be drawn tight, the holes in the two ends to be brought together,—the two hole end on top—and the button inserted. One botton will answer, but it is better to insert two.

With the Buckle Tie, one end of the hoop is fastened to one section of the Buckle, the other end is inserted in the other section, and simply shoved through it under the other end as long as there is any slack. A life on the buckle holds it securely to its place

The hoops are painted to prevent rust, and cut in lengths of 10, 10½ and 11 feet. Ten feet are most generally used, but 10½ and 11 are sometimes required for large bales. The buckles are fastened to the hoops: the buttons will be put in small boxes.

The Weight is About 10 Pounds to the Bale of Cotton.

My Button Tie was the first offered for sale to any extent in the South, and has been used by thousands of Planters with universal approval. I have made a valuable improvement in the shape of the button since it was first introduced; and have also procured a patent for a BUCKLE TIE which for simplicity, facility and expedition of adjustment to bales of any or unequal sizes, and for security of holding is, I think, superior to any offered to the public.

The advantages of iron over rope for baling cotton are now universally acknowledged. I holds the bale in a much smaller compass; is applied and fastened with as much facility, both in the country pressing and the re-compressing at the sea ports; lessens immensely the risk from fire; is strong, and its strength is not impared by time and exposure as is that of rope. This last advantage has been strikingly manifested during the war. Thousands of bales of Cotton have been lost by the rotting and breaking of Rope which could have been preserved if Iron Loops had been used. In addition to this, it can be furnished cheaper than Rope. The derangement of labor in the hemp growing States has reduced the supply of hemp to such an extent as to cause prices to rule unprecedently high: indeed a sufficiency for baling a moderate cotton crop, cannot be relied on at any price.

I have arranged for the importation of a large quantity of the best English Iron,, and have made arrangements with Messrs. Chambers & Latting for the sale and delivery of my Ties.

SHIP REFUGE, NEW ORLEANS, July 7th, 1859.

H. Fassmann, Esq., Orleans Cotton Press,

SIR:—In January last I received from your Press 1089 bales of cotton, of which about 1000 were compressed and bound with your new "Iron Tie." I can safely affirm that the cotton so bound was received in better order than it generally comes from the Presses, that it stowed better, and enabled the ship to carry more than on any previous voyage.

The cotton when discharged from the ship in Liverpool was in better order than the rope bound cotton: it is highly preferable for a ground tier, as the damp arising from the ballast has no effect upon it, for it is well known by practical men that dampness will rot the rope bound. I can confidently recommend your "Iron Tie," as I took this lot for an experiment and carefully watched it both in loading and discharging.

I am Sir, Yours Respectfully,
JOHN HOWARD, Master.

FOR THE TEETH, GUMS, AND BREATH.

An Every-day Companion to the Toilet of the Mouth.

The above mentioned articles are judiciously prepared by a long and practical experience, and their BENEFICIAL effects have been duly tested during an extensive and successful practice, as a Dentist, for over thirty years

THE TOOTH POWDER, cleanses the Teeth, makes them pearly white, preserves the enamel, and prevents decay.

THE MOUTH WASH—preserves the gums, and prevents their becoming soft, spongy and white—it purifies the breath, and imparts to it a most agreeable and pleasant odor.

I have also in preparation an ANTI SCORBUTIC TINCTURE, used for swollen, inflame- or spongy gums, very valuable to those persons so affected, which by a constant use will keep the gums and mouth in a healthy state; meantime it will impart a frangrance to the breath, and of a very refreshing nature.

All can be had at my operating room Front Street, where all operations in Dental Surgery are performed with the greatest care, and upon the latest and most approved scientific principles.
