AN ADDRESS TO SALOON-KEEPERS.

Three saloon-keepers in Chicago were found guilty of selling liquor to minors, and the following is the address of the judge who sentenced them, as reported in the Chicago Tribune:

"By the law, you may sell to men and women if they want. You have given your bond and your license to sell them; no one has a right to molest you in your legel business, no matter what families are distracted and are rendered miserable, no matter what wives are treated with violence, what children starve or cry over the degradation of a parent, your business is legalized, and no one may interfere with you in it. No matter what mother may agonize over the loss of a son, or sister blush for the shame of a brother, you have the right to disregard them all and pursue your legal calling—you are licensed. You may fit up your lawful trade, you may use all your arts to induce visitors, you may skilfully expose to view your choicest wines and captivating beverages; you may then induce thirst by all contrivances producing a raging appetite for drinks, and then you may supply to the full because it is lawful; you have paid for it; you have a license. You allow boys, almost children, to frequent your saloon; they may witness the apparent satisfaction with which their seniors quaff the sparkling glass, you may be schooling and training them for the period of twenty-one, when they can participate—to do all this lawful. You may hold the cup to their lips, but you must not let them drink—that is unlawful. But while you have all these privilege for the money you pay, this poor privilege of selling to children is denied you. Here the parents have a right to say: 'Leave my son to me until the law gives you the right to destroy. Do not anticipate that terrible moment when I can assert for him no further right of protection; 'twill be soon enough for me, for his mother, for his sister, for his friends and for the community to see him take his road to death. Give him to us in his childhood at least. Let us have a few years of his youth, in which we may enjoy his innocence, to repay in some small degree for the love we have lavished upon him.'

"This is something you who now stand as prisioners at this bar have not paid for; for this is not embraced in your license. For this offence the court sentences you to ten day's imprisonment in the county jail, and that you pay a fine of $75 and costs, and that you stand committed until the fine and costs of this prosecution are paid."—National American.

Chillicothe News: Mr. George Clowdis, of Cream Ridge township, while out hunting Monday with a shot-gun, in crossing a small stream on a log, slipped just as he stepped off the log, and by some means his gun was discharged, the shot striking him on the outside of his right leg and tearing away the whole outer half of the leg below the knee, but fortunately not injuring the bone. Mr. Clowdis was alone, but managed to hobble about half a mile and by shouting for assistance attracted the attention of a young man named Wilcox, who assisted him home. He lost a great deal of blood. Dr. Foster was sent for and rendered the young man medical aid, and he will probably recover, though it is a grievous wound.

An Enthusiastic Endorsement.

GORHAM, N. H., July 14, 1879.

GENTS:—Whoever you are, I don't know but I thank the Lord and feel grateful to you to know that in this world of adulterated medicines there is one compound that proves and does all it advertises to do, and more. Four years ago I had a slight shock of palsy, which unnerved me to such an extent that the least excitement would make me shake like the ague. Last May I was induced to try Hop Bitters. I used one bottle, but did not see any change; another did so change my nerves that they are now as steady as they ever were. It used to take both hands to write, but now my good right hand writes this. Now, if you continue to manufacture as honest and good an article as you do, you will accumulate an honest fortune, and confer the greatest blessing on your fellow-men that was ever conferred on mankind.

42 TIM BURCH.

The total number of convicts in the Missouri Penitentiary on the 30th, was 1,405, being within seven of the highest number, 1412, ever in the institution at once. The officers think the number will reach 1442 before the winter is over. Of this vast number are all employed, the shops being run with full forces, while the State is using all not under contract in carrying on the work of improvements made necessary by last February's fire.

A new idea embraced in Ely's Cream Balm Catarrh is cured by cleansing and healing, not by drying up. The application is easy and agreeable. It is not a liquid or snuff. Price 50 cts.

Only Two Bottles. Messrs. Johnston, Holloway & Co., wholesale druggists of Philadelphia, Pa., report that some time ago a gentleman handed them a dollar, with a request to send a good catarrh cure to two army officers in Arizona. Recently the same gentleman told them that both of the officers and the wife of a well-known U. S. A. General had been cured of catarrh by the two bottles of Ely's Cream Balm. (Not a liquid or snuff. Price 50 cts.)

The restoration to health of our child we considered uncertain. When two weeks old she caught cold. For 18 months she was not able to breathe through her nostrils. Upon using Ely's Cream Balm her difficulty is removed; she breathes naturally.—Mr. & Mrs. J. M. Smith, Owego, N. Y. (Price 50 cents.)

There is a rumor afloat in railroad circles to the effect that the Hannibal & St. Joe railroad will soon lay an additional track between Kansas City and Cameron, making it a double track line, and the only one in this part of the country.

A Railroad superintendent has given the San Francisco Call an estimate of the cost of an average train on a first-class railroad: For an express train locomotive, $13,000; baggage car, $1,200; smoking car, $5,000; dining room car, $12,000; five first class Pullmans, $18,000 each; total, $120,000. The ordinary express train represents about $85,000. Some Pullman cars cost $30,000 each. The average value of a freight train is still greater than that of a passenger train if the rolling stock and value of a freight train is still greater than that of a passenger train if the rolling stock and value of a property are included. Sometimes the through freight trains aggregate in value from $250,000 to $300,000.

GENERAL HARRISON AND WINE.

A Pennsylvania lady tells that when General Harrison was running for the presidency he stopped at the old Washington house in Chester for dinner. After dinner was served, it was noticed that the general pledged his toast in water, and one of the gentleman from New York, in offering an other, said, "General, will you favor me by drinking a glass of wine?" The general refused in a very gentlemanly manner. Again he was urged to join in a glass of wine. This was too much. He rose from the table, his tall form erect, and in the most dignified manner replied: "Gentlemen, I have refused twice to partake of the wine-cup. That should have been sufficient. Though you press the cup to my lips, not a drop shall pass the portals. I made a resolve when I started in life that I would avoid strong drink, and I have never broken it. I am one of a class of seventeen young men who graduated, and the other sixteen fill drunkards' graves—all through the pernicious habit of wine-drinking. I owe all my health, happiness, and prosperity to that resolution. Will you urge me now?"—Ex.

THE OLD STORY.

A short time ago a man by the name of Kearns victimized a number of farmers in this vicinity in the following manner: He would go to the house of his intended victim and offer a lot of dry goods at greatly reduced prices: for instance, he would offer calico at 2 1 2 cents per yard and other goods equally low priced. The unsuspecting farmer, thinking that he was being offered a bargain, would buy from $25 to $75 worth of goods, giving his note in payment therefor. But after the peddler was gone he would find on examination that the goods did not hold out in measurment by about one-half, and were of very inferior quality. The last heard of Kearns he was near Breckenridge going south.

When will our farmers learn to let these swindlers alone and give them a wide berth, and do their trading with their home merchants who will deal honestly with them and sell them goods as low as any man can sell them.—Jamesport Gazette.

A Boston teacher made a speech to her pupils just before the last term of school closed. She said she hoped that they would come back to school resolving that their behavior should be perfect and that they would give up all bad habits. When she had concluded the speech, a little girl in the back part of the room jumped up and said: "The same to you ma'am."

IN THE PILOT HOUSE.

"Yes, sir, this kind of work obliges a man to keep sober as a judge. Of all men in the world, steamboat pilots and railroad engineers should let liquor alone. For on the clearness of sight and coolness of head depends the safety of life and property."

Keeping his hand on the wheel as he said this, Mr. A. Brockman, of No. 264 Silver street, Chicago, added: "Of course, some of 'em drink; but the sober ones have the best positions and the best pay. Yes, the work and exposure sometimes tells on me; but for my part, I find PARKER'S TONIC, to be all the invigorant I need. I've got a bottle aboard here now; never go on a trip without it. When I haven't any appetite, or am in any way out of sorts, its extra use is no time. If drinking men would use the Tonic, it would help them to break off. (No, that isn't a light-house; it's a star, low down near the water.) As I was saying it is next the bottled up. You see that Sea staff? Well, with a bottle of PARKER'S TONIC in the locker I can keep malaria as far from me as that, all the time. My wife has used it for three years for summer complaints and colic, and as an invigorant, when she's tired out from over work, she says the tonic is a dainty. Good-bye! Don't break your neck going below."

This preparation, which has been known as PARKER'S GINGER TONIC, will hereafter be advertised and sold simply under the name of PARKER'S TONIC. As unprincipled dealers are constantly deceiving their customers by substituting inferior articles under the name of ginger, and as ginger is really no medicinal ingredient, we drop the misleading word.

There is no change, however in the preparation, itself, and all bottles remaining in the hands of dealers, wrapped under the name of Parker's Ginger Tonic, contains the genuine medicine if the facsimile signature of Hostetter & Co. is at the bottom of the outside wrapper.

How Watch Cases are Made.

The many great improvements introduced in the manufacture of the Jas. Boss' Gold Watch Case, have led to similar improvements in the making of silver cases.

Under the old methods, each part of a silver case was made of several pieces of metal soldered together, requiring a great amount of cutting and soldering, which softened the metal and gave it the pliability of lead rather than the elasticity of silver.

Under the improved methods, each part of the Keystone Silver Watch Case is made of one solid piece of metal hammered into shape. The advantages are readily apparent, for every one knows that hammering hardens the metal while soldering softens it.

To test the superiority of the Keystone Silver Watch Case, take one of 3 oz. weight, press it squarely in the center when closed, and it will not give, while a case of same weight of any other make will give enough to break the crystal. The Keystone Silver Watch Case is made only with silver cap and gold joints.

Send 3 cent stamp to Keystone Watch Case Factories, Philadelphia, Pa., for handsome illustrated Pamphlet showing how Jas. Boss' and Keystone Watch Cases are made.

DROWNED IN BEER.

Concerning this Popular Beverage Two Men Express their Minds

"The fact is sir, and you may stick a pin there, that the people of this country are likely to be drowned in a flood of lager beer", shouted an enthusiastic teetotaler the other day into the ear of your humble correspondent. "It is German drink, has stinks to it, and it is the second deluge."

"Yes, and the worst of this beer-drinking business is that it gets up kidney troubles, as a heavy wind raises the waves," added a city physician, who had a knowledge of the times and a tendency to metaphor. "The midnight 'schooner' leaves behind it a wake of furred tongues, headaches, torpid livers, nausea and all that, and lays the foundation of Bright's disease."

This melancholy fact accounts in part for the increasing sales of HUNSON'S LAPSINE POROUS PLASTER, which at once mitigates these symptoms. Price 25 cents. Ask your physicians about it.

Something About Dress Reform.

If there is a divinity which shapes our ends, rough hew them as we will, there should, also, be some kind of an artistic divinity to shape the abnormal dresses of the present era. While the male portion of poor, struggling humanity manages to get itself up regardless of cost, taste and everything else, we must sorrowfully confess that the beautiful forms of our wives, daughters and other female relatives are wrapped up in the drapers of extreme hideousness and fantastic designs.

The Mother Hubbard must go. If Mother Hubbard does not step in and redeem her old clothes, and place them on the retired list, there is going to be trouble at Hot Springs, Saratoga, Long Branch, Skowhegan and Kalamazoo. Turn the Mother Hubbard out! As a balloon, it is all right enough, and en regle, but as a dress, it is a lock-stitched, gathered, puffed and ruffled failure, and a withering reproach to the boasted culture of the nineteenth century.

The Mother Hubbard dress is all skirt and no waist—a kind of a calico rag-bag, gathered at the neck, drifting away off into nowhere, and floating along after the wearer like a spanker sail in a dead calm. If the Mother Hubbard dress is an old fashion rejuvenated, we can only say, in the posthumous language of a departed poet, "shoot it." From the ashes of the dead past rises the Mother Hubbard dress, like a phœnix, and not so much like a phœnix, either, as like a coffee-sack, held in place at the swan-like throat by a silver arrow, and trimmed with point lace and other frills. There is nothing like it on the face of the globe, unless it be another dress of the same awful pattern.

Sometimes they are seen in pairs, triplets and quartets, bobbing along the street like oriental mutton-legged sails dotting the Mediterranean Sea. Devoid of grace, shapeless and cumbersome, what is there about a Mother Hubbard dress to commend itself to the taste of our girls, and of other fellows' girls? We implore the dear creatures to discard the Mother Hubbard before it is everlastingly too late; before the awful Mother Hubbard habit gets too firm a hold on them. Then let them adopt something less voluminous, balloony and turgid, something neat, natty and petite. Willingly would we yield up a dollar and a half to witness such a decided movement for dress reform. Will our wives, sisters and daughters give heed to our timely warning, or will they still persist in clinging to the abnormal Mother Hubbard and leave us hanging on the ragged edge of despair.—Texas Siftings.

Hi Jolly.

In 1856, when Pierce was President and Jeff Davis Secretary of War, through the Gadsden purchase the United States became possessed of what is now Arizona, embracing large desert tracts. As an experiment the Government concluded to purchase camels to be used as pack animals in traversing these vast wastes, and accordingly David D. Porter, afterward Commodore, was commissioned to go abroad and make the purchase. At Smyrna, in Asia Minor, the Commodore met Hi Jolly, and through him bought seventy-six camels, and also engaged the services of Hi Jolly, who was then quite a young man. By a vessel the camels were shipped direct to Indianola, Tex., where they were landed the same year, thence across Texas to Albuquerque, where the animals arrived in fine condition, under charge of Hi Jolly. Here an expedition was being fitted out under command of Lieutenant Ned Beale, and the camels were first brought into active service. The objective point was Fort Tejon, Cal., and the route ran along the thirty-fifth parallel. The expedition consisted of forty-four citizens, with an escort of twenty soldiers, and the camels performed the packing, in some instances carrying as much as one hundred gallons of water to the animal, and going without a drop themselves for nine days at a time. They arrived safely at Tejon, then made the return trip to Albuquerque, then back to Tejon, all the time being under the charge of Hi Jolly. Tiring of the camels, the Government condemned them, and they were sold at Benecia to two Frenchmen, who took them to Reese River, where they were used in packing salt to Viginia City. Afterward the animals were brought back to Arizona, and for some time were engaged in packing ore from the Silver King to Yuma; but through some cause or other the Frenchmen became disgusted, there being no market for camels just then, and turned the camels loose upon the desert near Maricopa Wells, and to-day they and their descendants are roaming through the Gila Valley, increasing and multiplying and getting fat upon the succulent cacti and greasewood with which that country abounds. Last summer two car-loads were captured by Maricopa Indians and sent east, where the market is said to be good for camels.

Hi Jolly settled down at Fort Tejon, and remained there until during the war, when he joined the California column and with it returned to Arizona, where he has resided ever since. Here he has principally been in the employ of the Government as interpreter, packer and scout, his last service being under Captain Overton.—Tombstone Epitaph.

The United States Richer Than Great Britain.

Statisticians have pronounced the United States to be not only potentially, but actually richer than the United Kingdom. Counting the houses, furniture, manufactures, railways, shipping, bullion, lands, cattle, crops, investments and roads, it is estimated that there is a grand total in the United States of $49,770,000,000. Great Britain is credited with something less than $40,000,000,000, or nearly $10,000,000,000 less than the United States. The wealth per inhabitant in Great Britain is estimated at $1,160, and in the United States at $995. With regard to the remuneration of labor, assuming the produce of labor to be 100, in Great Britain 56 parts go to the laborer, 21 to capital and 23 to Government. In France 41 parts go to labor, 36 to capital, 23 to Government. In the United States 72 parts go to labor, 23 to capital and 5 to Government.—London Times.

TUTT'S PILLS act directly on the Liver. As a Liver medicine TUTT'S PILLS have no equal. Their action on the Kidneys and skin is also prompt, removing all impurities through these three "scavengers of the system," producing appetite, sound digestion, regular stools, a clear skin and a vigorous body. The medical profession has long been acknowledged, and more so at this day than any other. The vast field of medical science is ever increasing, and its numerous branches are brought nearer and nearer to perfection, so that no one man can any longer grasp them all. Hence the necessity for dividing the labor. And it is true, beyond all doubt, that diseases affecting the genito-urinary organs need special study more than anything else, if we would understand them, and know how to treat them properly. It is self-evident that a physician who pays special attention to a certain class of diseases, and treats a thousand cases annually, acquires great skill. Physicians knowing this fact often recommend cases to my care. When it is found reason to visit the city for treatment medicine can be sent privately and safely by mail or express, with directions for cure. All cures guaranteed. Consultation personally or by letter, free and strictly confidential. If you are in trouble, call or write. Advice, fees, charges low. Hours, 9 A. M. to 8 P. M. Sundays, 9 A. M. to 1 P. M.
