C. SCRIBNER, No. 124 Grand-st., N. Y.
THIS REMARKABLE FRENCH BOOK
THE UPRISING OF A GREAT PEOPLE.
THE UNITED STATES IN 1861.
By Count DE GASPARIN. Translated by Miss Booth. 1 vol., 12mo. 75 cents.

The N. Y. Times says of it: "The thorough intellectual mastery of the subject determines the quality of the book, the moral warmth which runs intent through it (breaking at times into an eloquence which fairly burns)—takes its power from the weight of his facts and the force of his Logic. There is in his treatment of the question, a wise moderation that carries with it convincing force."

The N. Y. Evening Post says: "It is the wisest book which has been written upon America since De Tocqueville. * * * Remarkable for its intelligence, its insight, its logic, and its nobleness of purpose."

From The N. Y. Tribune: "The author thinks that we are rising, awakening, coming to ourselves, asserting our right in this time of trial, and BY VIRTUE OF THAT TRIAL—had this work been written but a few weeks ago, it could not be more apt to the time than it is.

C. S. will also publish, on same day:
