INTERESTING TO IMPORTERS.
A. LEBLANC, U. S. DENSIDO W. BERGERE, No. 6,
Nos. 17 and 19 Toulouse Street,
Between Levee and Chartres.
Its central position, its proximity to the Piety and Tivoli, to the steamboat landing, and to the Custom House, ranks it very high in the importation and exportation trades.

BURGESS'S PATENT HORSE AND MULE SHOE.
On a Handy Blacksmith Shop, shoeing, ordinary, Government, Southern, City and Navy Hind patterns.
One Hundred Kegs assorted Heavy and Light Mule Shoes. These Shoes are of a superior and approved form, are in universal use, and wherever they have been introduced, such as by the United States Government, they are used by the principal teamsters throughout the country. The saving in the consumption of the harness or gear, the increased durability per cent, wallow in horse power, equality of form in weight, and the quality of iron, are all in favor of the Burgess Shoe.

AYER'S AGUE CURE, FOR THE SPEEDY cure of Intermittent Fevers, Fever and Ague, Bowel Fever, Chills and Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache, or Bilious Headache, Bilious Pleurisy, Bilious Dysentery, Bilious Colic, Chronic Diarrhœa, Chronic Dysentery, Liver Complaint, Bilious Apoplexy, Pulmonary Apoplexy, Paralysis, Palpitation, Painful Menstruation, Spasms, Nausea, Vomiting, Pain in the Bowels, Colic, Paralysis, and Determination of Blood to any of the vital organs, whether induced by the use of Mercury, Arsenic, Marsh Miasma, or other causes, not on the Mississippi and its tributaries, or the Western Lakes, but those which prevail from the inland, and consequently earlier settlements. It is an invaluable protection to emigrants and families traveling or temporarily residing in the Southern States. It turns the scale in early chills by the first dose, and will be found equally efficacious in subduing the severest form of disease, and in restoring to health those whose constitutions have been shattered by the fever and ague, and broken down by the use of quinine. Its power to expel the poison of Marsh Miasma is well known to the people of those regions, and its value in such cases is not to be doubted. Its peculiar adaptedness to such cases has not been ascertained by trial, but it is believed that it will be found equally efficacious in the cure of Intermittent Fever, Fever and Ague, and Bilious Fever, in other localities, where these complaints are not the result of Marsh Miasma, but of other causes, such as the sudden transition from a healthy to a miasmatic locality, or the reverse, or from a temperate to a cold or hot climate, or the reverse, or from a healthy to a miasmatic locality, or the reverse, or from a healthy to a miasmatic locality, or the reverse, or from a healthy to a miasmatic locality
