To Dealers in Wash Boards.
IN 1851, O. RICE, of Cincinnati, "Invented a Valuable Improvement in wash-boards," for which he obtained a PATENT in Oct. 1849. Said improvement consisted in properly preparing the edges of a sheet of zinc (or other suitable metal,) and then causing them to incline or cut their way into the soft wooden sides or legs of a wash board, the methods previously employed, having been to solder a piece of metal, or to receive the metallic plate. O. Rice subsequently sold his entire interest and assigned the said Patent to the subscriber, who is now sole proprietor thereof, as well as duly authorized manufacturer of Rice's Improved Patent Zinc Wash-board, having succeeded to the late firm of Wright, Hatch & Co., in that business, induced by the popularity and extensive sale of said Patent Wash-board, many persons have engaged in making and vending them without authority from me, thereby violating my rights secured by said Patent. Suits have been commenced and are now pending, against certain parties known to be thus engaged, and it is my intention to prosecute for all infringements of my legal and just rights, to the extent of the law. ALL PERSONS are therefore cautioned against making or dealing in the wash boards made after the manner patented by Rice, unless obtained of O. Rice's Patent Wash-board, Patented 1849," none others being genuine. It may be well to remark, that the use of the simple or two cornered, or the employment of any Patented machine to make wash-boards—does not give the right to use the Patented Locking Process, above specified, upon which the value of the board really depends.
Wholesale orders for the genuine article respectfully solicited and promptly executed, at as low prices as any of the unauthorized makers, by
JOSEPH W. WAYNE,
Sole proprietor and manufacturer thereof,

No. 1 'Super Phosphate of Lime.'
VERSUS "GUANO."
THIS valuable fertilizer has been used for several years in England and other parts of Europe, and next to guano holds the highest rank in popularity and the extent to which it is used among Farmers. Its introduction in this country by the subscriber has been more recent, but the progress it has made in the estimation of the public has not been less marked or successful than abroad, after a full trial of three years investigation of its merits, in which time there has been very many scrupulous experiments made by the most scientific agriculturists and various Clubs, Committees, &c., side by side Peruvian Guano, as to its relative value compared with the latter, and in most instances a preference given to the "Super Phosphate of Lime." Such reports as returned will shortly be placed before the public, which will convey more information than the subscriber see's disposed to offer, as the manufacturer, at the present moment.
Its chemical composition is of that nature to at once afford food and nourishment to growth of all descriptions, its basis being crushed or ground "Bones," the efficacy of which as a manure is already well known and appreciated, which are decomposed by the addition of one fifth their weight of Sulphuric Acid, to which is added a due proportion of Guano and Sulphate of Ammonia; the latter is one of the most efficient agents in the best Peruvian Guano.—It is easy handled, being in a perfect powder; it will be found suitable to all soils, warranted pure and genuine, and when at maturity to be found as efficacious as here represented.
Pamphlets will be forwarded on application to the subscriber or to his agents, whose names are as follows:
