FIRST-CLASS STEAM FORGE FOR SALE.—Will be sold, at public sale, at 3 o'clock, p. m., on TUESDAY, the 4th day of February, 1862, at the Public House of W. L. DeBorbon, in the City of Reading, the PROPERTY known as the READING STEAM FORGE, in said city.
Said Forge is substantially built, and completely equipped with all the modern improvements, including a seven-ton Nasmyth hammer and three Kirk steam hammers, each with heating furnaces and boilers attached. A tyre-bending machine and oven, three puddling furnaces, five blacksmith's forges, two thirty-ton cranes, one largest class boring mill, slotting machine, turning lathe, and sixty-horse engine. Main building, 300 by 100 feet, with sheet iron roof, a carpenters' shop, and brick office, with fire-proof, &c., on the premises, which contains over 2½ acres.
Said Forge is most conveniently located for business, adjoining the Reading Railroad, and so connected therewith that locomotives can take away and deliver cars of iron, coal and other freight, without cost for hauling. Shutes run outside the building, by which coal, scrap iron, &c., can be dumped close to each furnace, without extra cost for hauling or labor. This Forge is capable of executing the heaviest work, having forged and finished the main shafts of the Adriatic, (believed to be the largest ever made,) beside complete sets of forgings for numerous steamships for Government and others. The City of Reading present's peculiar advantages for the successful operation of such a forge. It is within 53 miles of Philadelphia, connected therewith by the Reading Railroad, and the Schuylkill (160 ton) canal, 128 miles by rail direct from New-York, 128 from Baltimore, 54 from Harrisburg, and 24 from the Schuylkill coal region, whence the best anthracite coal can be placed at the furnace doors for about $2 25 ⅌ ton. Reading is situated in one of the finest agricultural districts of Pennsylvania, has a population of 25,000, and is noted for its general health and the purity of its water. As Berks County contains more furnaces than any other in the United States, iron of every description can be procured by the forge at the lowest prices. Title clear of all incumbrance. Possession given immediately, and terms made easy, to suit purchasers. The Forge is in complete order, and is furnished with every necessary tool and appurtenance to commence work immediately on taking possession. It is a property well worth the attention of those engaged in the above business.
