THURSDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 2, 1860.

We have received a copy of the Eighth Annual Report of the President and Directors of the New Orleans, Opelousas and Great Western Railroad Company.

Mr. J. J. McKeever, Agent of the Adams Express, has our thanks for Vicksburg papers of yesterday.

Washington and Texas Correspondence on second page.

THE MISSISSIPPI CENTRAL ROAD is well prepared for the rush of business which will be consequent on the closing of the "gap," for we notice near the Jackson depot a long row of strongly and handsomely constructed freight cars, ready to start up country. These cars are highly spoken of for the strength, neatness and evident durability of their workmanship, and were built here under the skillful and experienced superintendence of Mr. E. O. Jones, from the establishment of Messrs. Wharton & Petsch, the well-known Southern car manufacturers, Charleston, S. C. This is essentially a Southern manufacturing concern, for we are told that proprietors and employés, to a man, are all Southerners, and every item of material used is made in the South, and mostly by themselves. They have built over a hundred cars for the Mississippi Central.

THE ST. CHARLES.—The play entitled "Gisippus, or the Forgotten Friend," will be performed to-night, with Mr. Anderson as Gisippus, Mr. Pope as Titus Quintus, and Miss Virginia Cunningham as Sophronia. "Domestic Economy" will conclude the entertainment.

THE BUNYAN TABLEAUX.—Have you seen the Bunyan Tableaux? If you have not, "stand not upon the order of your going, but go at once," and enjoy a most pleasureable experience. Most of these pictures are severally gems of art, and the grand combination of the whole, in their panoramic succession, is a finer entertainment in this line of exhibition than can be conceived by those who have not seen this admirable work. It is exhibited nightly at Armory Hall.

THE AMPHITHEATER.—The successful extravaganza, which has had such a run, "The Spirits of the Silver Shower," will be repeated to-night, besides a favorite pantomime and a vast number of equestrian, gymnastic, acrobatic and clownish feats.

LOUISIANA STATE BANK.—The Board of Directors of this institution have declared a dividend of seven per cent, payable out of the profits of the last six months.

The sale of reserved seats will commence on Monday, at Mr. P. P. Werlein's music store, 5 Camp street.

DISSOLUTION OF COPARTNERSHIP.—Notice is given through our columns, that the firm of Messrs. Numa Lacoste & Co., consisting of Messrs. Numa Lacoste, Camille Lacoste and L. E. Deluzain, has been dissolved by mutual consent. Mr. L. E. Deluzain, a widely-known and highly-esteemed business man, will continue the extensive wine and liquor importing and dealing business of the late house, at the old stand, 118 Royal street, and the trade will be certain to continue their acquaintance with the concern for the sake of his, if for no other reason.

See Mr. T.'s advertisement.

THE SOUTH AND BRITISH MANUFACTURES.

A correspondent, who styles himself "A Southern Man," writes in French an article to the New York Courrier des Etats Unis, in which he combats strenuously the idea of the South giving encouragement to the direct importation of British manufactures by discriminating burthens upon Northern importations, as a measure of retaliation for the hostile acts of the Anti-Slavery party. He thinks that the South, by such a step, would be "jumping out of the frying-pan into the fire"—inasmuch as the English are known to be as rabidly wedded to Abolition as the Yankees; and he advises, in case a foreign direct trade is found to be expedient, that the South select some people to favor and enrich not so notoriously hostile to our institutions as the British are. Says this writer:

Examine with care the cause of our dissensions and trace them back to their origin. Did not the British establish the first negro emancipation society? Was it not British gold that planted and nursed the same sentiments in the North? And has she not sent her emissary (Ford) to instruct our citizens in the management of those arms which are to be used in the terrible conflict between brothers of the same blood? Still more, we have seen the nobility of England covering with caresses and pushing forward into prominence in the world our most decided and objectionable Abolition fanatics. It is, then, Great Britain that is our worst enemy, not the North. * * * If English sympathy for the blacks was a genuine sentiment of humanity, we might respect them while pitying their ignorance. But they are moved by no such sentiment; commercial jealousy alone pushes them on to excite among us a spirit of disunion. She, looking ahead, calculates that the South, in case of dissolution, finding herself without ships, will employ, in a moment of pique against the North, English bottoms in preference to Northern vessels. This would give a profitable business to English sailors, at present idle. And in this explication we find the real origin of the profound sympathy felt by England for the blacks.

There is undoubtedly some truth in what is contained above. But, it seems to us, the writer overlooks the important fact that the South, by confining as now her trade to Northern cities, benefits and enriches two classes of her enemies: the English and the Northerners. A very large portion of the goods that we purchase in Northern cities have been bought by the Yankees from the foreign manufacturers. We then pay two profits; and both of them are, to some extent, used to injure and break us down. As a mere matter of calculation, it is plainly seen that we do gain something by trading directly with the English; we save all the profits which the Yankees make out of us by acting as intermediaries; and we starve out, and thus will perhaps bring to reason, the most mischievous class of our foes.

But there is still another powerful consideration. At present the principal business and personal intercourse between our country and Great Britain is carried on by the Northern States. Northern men purchase all the British manufactures; foreign goods are sent, almost exclusively, in Northern ships to Northern ports; Northern cities have their lines of steamers and regular mails; and quite an intimate business intercourse and correspondence are kept up by the North with the British. As a consequence, the notions of American politics entertained by the English, are derived mostly from men of Northern sentiment, and of course, are tinctured with abolitionism. And while we of the South, indirectly pay the price of the foreign goods, the fact is not present to the mind of the manufacturer at Manchester, and he, therefore, gives himself no concern about the injury to the slave interest which the fanaticism of the Abolitionists may occasion. On the contrary, he is rather encouraged to exaggerate his hostility to slavery, to make himself agreeable to his American customers from the North, who all talk abolition to him.

If we traded directly with those manufacturers there would be a difference in all this; their ideas of American questions would not be derived from sources prejudiced, and entirely unreliable, as now. They would then be made to hear the other side of the question, and learn how much of falsehood their former notions contained, concerning the cruelty and injustice of slavery. Their best trade depending, too, upon our favor, they would be cautious about injuring or exasperating us; and thus John Bull would be a hundred times milder in his anti-niggerism than he is at present. Then direct trade with Britain would effect three beneficial results, viz: 1st. Save to us all the profit we now pay to Northern importers; 2d. Starve out our Yankee enemies and traducers; and 3d. Greatly moderate and soften the hostility of the English Abolitionists to our "peculiar institution."

TALK ON 'CHANGE.

The weather yesterday morning took one of the freaks characteristic of our clime; it changed from the mild Southern temperature to something of the Lapland feeling, which greatly interfered with the gatherings on rue Carondelet. There is no room or space for the social confabs—the pavers have taken full possession of the business locality; and in the absence or delay of the European intelligence, some days past due, there was no disposition evinced on the part of buyers of cotton to operate to a great extent, though there were some sales, which will be found detailed in the usual column. The talk is, that there is great scarcity of fine and clean cottons, while of the lower grades there is a superabundance. On the great levee and landings there was no falling off in the activity and liveliness which we have talked of for some days past. The arrivals of steamboats are sufficiently numerous to keep all connected with the Western trade and movements on the levee busy and active. In fact, no grander spectacle comes within the talk of the devotee of commerce than what is presented by the seven miles front of landing of our city, now occupied by vessels from every clime and steamers from every section of our inland trade. While cogitating and reflecting on the grand demonstrations of our mighty commerce on the great levee, up comes talk of cotton, that everlasting theme, we may say, for it is cotton in the morning, it is cotton at noon, it is cotton at sun-down or the setting of the sun, and, finally, the day is closed by going to bed on cotton. Well, never mind, cotton is a good subject; but, as we have had considerable talk about the King, and must make some of our estimates good, we have now to state that the three millions of bales to be received at the seaports are accounted for in the following figures; that is, the receipts at this port (New Orleans) and other seaports, up to 12 o'clock or meridian yesterday, the 1st February:

		Bales.
Receipts proper at New Orleans		[illegible]
Do.	at Mobile to Monday night	595,344
Do.	at Charleston to 28th January	217,020
Do.	at Savannah to 28th January	[illegible]
Do.	at North Carolina ports	17,692
Do.	at Norfolk, Va.	14,300
Do.	at Petersburg, Va.	11,690
Do.	at Florida ports	119,924
Do.	at Texas ports	125,231
		3,011,122

Total receipts at the seaports, exclusive of the shipments from Memphis, three millions eleven thousand one hundred and twenty-two bales. It is presumed that our prophecy, made in December, of three millions of bales being at hand and under full contract, on the 1st of February instant, is now confirmed. We have, however, some reserves, which are not necessary to bring into action at this moment.

There has been considerable talk about the called meeting of the stockholders of the Carrollton Railroad, which, according to the mandate of the President, Mr. George Currie Duncan, is to be convened to-day, to take into consideration the grand coup d'etat of the second of last month. The talk appears to be, that to get to the windward or round the old and venerable citizen whose masterly intellect and industry were so successfully applied last month, some folks must rise or get up very early in the morning. We do not own any stock in the old and venerable road, and have no further interest than safe and speedy conveyance over its domains, when, through business or pleasure, we avail ourselves of its facilities and conveniences. But, while we are talking or confabing on this question, an old fogy steps up, and asks us if the gentleman whose signature is appended to the notice calling a meeting of the stockholders is a citizen of the United States of North America; although he has been a resident, off and on, in this good State of Louisiana, since the year of our Lord A. D. 1824—say thirty-six years ago. We cannot settle this question, but are very sanguine that the gentleman was a subject of Great Britain for several years subsequent to the year 1825. As we have no desire to mingle in the contest, we only give the talk.

There was talk of some large sales of real estate. We learned that the property on the southwest corner of Canal and Carondelet streets has been sold for the round sum of eighty-seven thousand dollars cash—a prodigious price, considering that the ground only measures sixty by one hundred and twenty feet, French measure, and that the buildings are twenty-five years old, and of very little value, according to modern views. Some one jogs our memory, and says he recollects when this corner, with James Lambert's old carpenter shop on it, sold for twelve hundred dollars. There is no indication, in this purchase, that our good city is retrograding.

Well, what of the mails? There were none received yesterday. After the close of business it was announced that the agony at the great bear garden (Washington) was over; that a Speaker of the garden had been elected; therefore, mail contractors can comply with their contracts, and the great capitalist in New York, who has a million of dollars of post-office warrants, will have to look to other quarters to employ his money, as it is supposed all interest on warrants ceases when the appropriations for the cancelment of them are made. There was some further talk going on, but we have no room to enter it up at this time.

GONE UNDER.—Harry Perry, once a promising young actor, seems to have rather gone under from the effects of too much whisky in his water. He was so drunk a few nights since at the Walnut street theater, Philadelphia, that he could'nt play. The audience gave him three groans that night, and the next day the manager discharged him.

MOBILE AND PENSACOLA TELEGRAPH.—We are happy to announce, on the authority of C. L. LeBaron, President of the company, (says the Pensacola Observer) that the line, now in rapid progress toward the city, will reach here in a few days. It is now within thirteen miles of this point, as we learn this morning.

Home Testimony.—From the Pittsburg United Presbyterian:
"We have tried Hostetter's Stomach Bitters for dyspepsia, and can speak favorably of its effects, and have no hesitation in commending them to those suffering from any debility of the kind."
[From the Pittsburg Post, Aug. 27, 1858.]
HOSTETTER'S BITTERS.—These Bitters have obtained a wide-spread and well-deserved celebrity in all parts of the country. They are advisable for a great variety of stomach diseases. It is sufficient evidence of its beneficial character to observe the immense quantities of it shipped by Messrs. Hostetter & Smith, the proprietors, to all points in the country.
[From the Pittsburg Gazette, Aug. 18, 1858.]
Knowledge is gained by experience, and, though we have heretofore dealt very little in medical preparations, we are compelled in justice to the manufacturers to say that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has been the means of curing us of a severe attack of dyspepsia, and has removed pain in the stomach in a very short time.

Heimstreet's Hair Restorative—This Hair Coloring is one of the singular inventions of modern times, and, in its way, deserves a prominent niche in the great storehouse of modern improvements. Every triumph of Art over Nature is curious, and often highly suggestive. When the vessels of the scalp become old, and but poorly perform their functions—worn out as it were by the fevers of the brain, generated often by active mental strifes and excitements, nature marks the decay with a growth of gray or white hair. Here Heimstreet's Hair Coloring comes in, and a few applications restore the vessels of the scalp to their original health. [Troy Budget.

State Presidential Convention.

Whereas, In view of the imminent dangers which are now threatening the Southern States from an "Irrepressible conflict" of sectional fanaticism, waged against their domestic institutions, and in utter disregard of the rights secured to them under the Constitution;

And whereas, There exists no State or Federal issues, of a political character, to distract and divide the people of Louisiana in the face of the impending Presidential crisis, in which the continuance of the Union is involved;

And whereas, It is earnestly desired that the whole people of the South shall stand together as a unit in the great and patriotic struggle to uphold and preserve the Constitution and the Union, or, if need be, to protect and defend their separate independence, we, the undersigned Democratic members of the Legislature and citizens of the State, do earnestly recommend to the people of the respective parishes, irrespective of former political differences, to meet together in cordial determination to support the nominee of the Charleston Convention, and appoint their delegates to meet in the Democratic State Convention at Baton Rouge for the purpose of appointing delegates to represent Louisiana in the approaching National Convention at Charleston, South Carolina.

Mortality Among Southern

CHILDREN.

It is estimated that in the Southern States more children are carried off by worms, and the diseases arising from them, than by all other maladies combined. Post mortem examinations of the young too frequently reveal the terrible ravages of these insidious enemies of health and life. It is, therefore, only an act of common philanthropy to recommend, with all earnestness, a preparation like which has proved, in many thousands of cases, an immediate, safe and radical cure for every kind of vermicular disease.

Winer's Canadian Vermifuge,

Principles.

Our forefathers sacrificed their lives in defense of principles. They knew their importance, and were well aware that unless principles were recognized, they would be subject to whatever the whims of a capricious monarch might dictate. The universe is governed by principles, and principles regulate the human system. A certain fixed law governs our existence, and to minute ones being. Now it is very clear that a medicine adapted to those principles must remove disease. Thus as the quality of the blood depends the healthfulness of every part of the system. If the blood be impure the body is unhealthy, no matter in what way that impurity may show itself. It may be in the head, or the chest, or the stomach, or the bowels, or in all of them together.

Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills are of inestimable value in removing the impurities of the blood, and in giving tone and vigor to the system.

Lillies'

PATENT CHILLED IRON SAFES.

A Safe that shall combine perfect fire-proof qualities, with complete protection from the attacks of the most skillful burglars, has long been the want of every business man. The very best of the Sheet Iron Safes in general use, while they may have fire proof qualities, from the peculiarity of their structure, can never resist the efforts of burglars, and are, consequently, worthless for the protection of valuables. The newspaper reports in this and all large cities, and throughout the country, fully corroborate this statement.

WE CLAIM THAT

Lillie's Patent Wrought

—AND—

CHILLED IRON SAFE,

—WITH THE—

POWDER-PROOF COMBINATION LOCK,

REQUIRING NO KEY,

Is the only Safe made which combines the fire and burglar-proof qualities, and shall be pleased to satisfy any one of this fact by actual observation, if they will call and examine our large stock of Safes, and their peculiar construction, and the many certificates we have substantiating our claims.

We have now in store some splendidly fitted up JEWELER'S SAFES, particularly adapted to this market.
