The Bulletin.

Commercial.

Monday Evening, March 27, 1871.

The state of the market is without important changes.

The provision market is nominal, owing to the condition of affairs at the great pork packing centers, Chicago, Cincinnati and St. Louis. The vast slaughter of hogs during the late season has overstocked the markets, causing, according to St. Louis papers, a condition of trade far from satisfactory, which "points with distinctness to lower prices, want of demand, and a general distrust, which is possibly more annoying than the unexpected accumulations of stocks in both country and city, and may eventuate in the mortifying disappointment of those who had been counting their chickens before they are hatched. The practical teachings of the late season's slaughter are that the recuperative energies of this country are immense, that its productions are almost illimitable. Referring to the statistics given, we perceive that production has increased in every one of the Middle and Western States, and that in the newer ones of the West especially, the increase has been such as to defy calculation, and therefore the result should not be surprising to some operators, as it was announced to them at the opening of the season that the slaughter would not fall below four million hogs. At the immediate opening, it seemed probable that a moderate reduction in values would lead to an absorption of the extra yield, but from week to week it became evident that production was increasing. At a time when, from causes not apparent, if indeed they ever existed in the early months of the season, consumption was, if in excess of previous seasons, at least not keeping pace with increased production, and that the ultimate result must be an over supply, want of demand and a material concession in prices."

Hoofland's German Bitters.

A Bitters Without Alcohol or Spirits of any kind

Is different from all others. Is composed of the pure juices or vital principle of Roots, Herbs and Barks (or as medically termed, extracts,) the worthless and inert portions of the ingredients not being used. Therefore, in one bottle of this Bitters there is contained as much medicinal virtue as will be found in several gallons of ordinary mixtures. The Roots, etc., used in this Bitters are grown in Germany, their vital principles extracted in that country by a scientific Chemist and forwarded to the manufactory in this city, where they are compounded and bottled. Containing no spirituous ingredients, this Bitters is free from the objections urged against all others; no desire for stimulants can be induced from their use, can make no drunkards, and cannot, under any circumstance, have any but a beneficial effect.

Hoofland's German Tonic.

Was compounded for those not inclined to extreme bitters, and is intended for use in cases when some alcoholic stimulant is required in connection with the tonic properties of the Bitters. Each bottle of the Tonic contains one bottle of the Bitters, combined with pure Santa Cruz Rum, and flavored in such a manner that the extreme bitterness of the Bitters is overcome, forming a preparation highly agreeable and pleasant to the palate, and containing the medicinal virtue of the Bitters. The price of the Tonic is $1 50 per bottle, which many persons think too high. They must take into consideration that the stimulant used is guaranteed to be of a pure quality. A poor article could be furnished at a cheaper price, but is it not better to pay a little more and have a good article? A medicinal preparation should contain none but the best ingredients and they will always be found cheap compared with medicines of inferior quality.
