PLEASANT READING
AND AN
AGREEABLE RELIEF FROM THE DEPRESSIONS AND EXCITEMENTS OF THE TIME.
THE
LIFE AND LETTERS
OF
WASHINGTON IRVING,
BY HIS NEPHEW,
PIERRE M. IRVING.
Two Volumes, ready on Wednesday,
WITH THREE FINE PORTRAITS.
Price.....$1 50 per vol.
The same, uncut, $1 50 per vol.; Half Calf Extra, or Antique, $2 50. A few copies on large paper, $3 00.

, This is perhaps the most interesting and attractive personal history ever published in this country. It abounds with incident and entertainment.

"Turning aside from the noise of battle and the dreary record of slaughter, it is a real delight to contemplate such a specimen of serene, peaceful, kindly human life as is presented in this memoir of Washington Irving." [New-York Express.

"Not merely a bald biography, but a literary planetarium, in which, as around a central sun, multitudes of other planets revolve in their orbits and shed luster in their proper sphere." [Boston Post.

"No more interesting work can be presented to the American people." [Alta California.

"By universal consent, the literary incident of the trade this season, is the publication of the life of Irving." [Boston Transcript.

"Not less suggestive than intrinsically delightful." [H. T. Tuckerman.

"It is a book every way worthy a place beside the other works of the great author." [Buffalo Advertiser.

"A full-length, flesh-and-blood portrait of the great pioneer of American literature." [Sacramento Daily Union.

New-York: G. P. PUTNAM.

☞ The attention of the trade is specially invited to the new and improved editions of
IRVING'S WRITINGS,
Which are now ready, in various sizes and bindings, suited to all tastes, in separate volumes and in complete sets.

The great variety of pleasant reading and valuable information presented in these volumes, in the purest language, render them a Library for the Family, for which no other series could be a substitute.

They are now complete, in a permanent shape, which will not be excelled or superseded. Full lists of the different styles and prices of sets, and of each work, may be had of the Publisher.

"It is seldom that it is accorded to any public man, in any department of human greatness, to accomplish such completeness and perfection of life and labor and fame as was vouchsafed to Irving * * * He lived to enjoy a large measure of renown, as extensive as the civilized world." [Buffalo Advertiser.
