WASHINGTON PARK CAR HELD UP BY TWO MASKED MEN

Conductor R. C. Cottle Is Forced to Turn Over $18; No Clue to Robbers.

While on the return trip from Washington park to the car barns at 12:35 Tuesday morning, Washington park car No. 15, R. C. Cottle, conductor, and E. H. Kincaid, motorman, was held up at the El Paso & Southwestern railroad crossing at Myrtle and Laurel streets, by two masked men.

As conductor Cottle stepped off the car to "flag" the crossing, two men stepped out of the shadows and covered him with revolvers. As one of them proceeded to relieve him of all the money he had, the other switched off the trolley and left the car in darkness.

Masked with Handkerchiefs.

The two holdups were white handkerchiefs for masks, and according to the descriptions given by Cottle, were well dressed. Both the conductor and motorman believed the holdups were white men.

After securing the money from the conductor, the masked men hastened from the scene and escaped.

No Clue Found by Police.

The crew of the car notified Capt. Lee Garner of the robbery within a few minutes after it happened, and the officer, with four policemen, went to the scene in an automobile. Though a search of the neighborhood was made, no trace of the holdups could be found.

WORKED 63 HOURS; LOSES ARM; GIVEN $75,000

Chicago, Ill., July 7.—A jury awarded James R. Wilson, former conductor on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, $75,000 Monday for injuries received after he had been forced to work 63 hours out of 72, according to testimony.

Propped up in a wheel chair, Wilson told the jurors he had been made to work three days and nights from August 19 to 22, 1913, with only nine hours off for rest. He said that while switching a freight car to a sidetrack at Peninsula, Pa., on the third day, he became exhausted and fell between the car and an engine. His right arm was crushed and his spine badly injured.

Oil Treatment for Stomach Troubles

A simple prescription made up of a combination of pure vegetable oils is producing wonderful results for sufferers from stomach, liver and intestinal troubles. The remedy, which is said to have originated in France, where it has been used for years by the peasantry, was introduced into this country by George H. Mayr, a leading Chicago druggist, who cured himself of severe stomach, liver and intestinal troubles by its use. Those who have used it say the first dose is sufficient to convince any one of its remarkable merit, and that within twenty-four hours the sufferer feels like a new person. This medicine, which has become known as Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy, is now sold by first class druggists everywhere. It is now sold here by Potter Drug Co.—Advertisement.

ANCIENT RUINS OF AN EARLY CITY RICH IN HISTORY

Another Example of Richness of History on Western Hemisphere.

Washington, D. C., July 7.—Edward H. Thompson, former United States consul at Merida, Yucatan, in a communication to the National Geographic society, at Washington, D. C., describing Chichen Itza, the home of a forgotten race, on the peninsula of Yucatan, declares that the American people should awaken to the fact that they have right at home architecture essentially American and ruined structures every whit as interesting and massive and possibly as old as those of other lands, who boast that Americans must come to them.

"Within these mysterious American ruins are great books, with pages of stone, writ in characters that no man may yet read," he declares. "Are the mysteries they hold, the wonderful facts that certainly lie sealed and mute within them, hidden from us, less interesting to Americans than are the tales of Egyptian dynasties, the rites of Druids, Roman campaigns, or Saxon raidings? I think not."

Tennis or Basketball.

Mr. Thompson describes what was probably the first tennis or basketball court on this hemisphere and possibly in the world. "The ruined group of Chichen Itza covers a space of fully three square miles," he says. "Over all this wide territory are scattered carved and squared stones, in countless thousands, fallen by the hundreds, while the formless remains and outlined walls of huge structures fallen into ruin are seen on every side. Seven massive structures of carved stone and adamantine mortar still tower erect, and almost inhabitable. Their facades sustain the claim that Chichen Itza is one of the world's greatest monuments of antiquity.

Great Piles of Masonry.

"Several hundred feet to the west of the Castle Temple rest two great parallel moles of solid masonry, each 275 feet long, 34 feet wide and 25 feet high. Between these moles is the ceremonial court. This level cemented space was probably the theater for the performance of certain rites and games of a ceremonial character. This belief is borne out by the fact that at a distance of six feet from the level upper surface of the mole two great rings of stone were fixed into the perpendicular wall surface, directly opposite each other."

Mr. Thompson declares estimates as to the age of the city vary from less than 2000 years to more than 11,500 years. An idea of the intricacies of the language of the people of the city is given by the following quotation from a document found there: "Lai u tsolan katun lukel ti cab ti yotoch Nenoual," which is translated to mean, "This is a series of epochs that elapsed from the time of their departure from the house of Nenoual in the land of Tulapan."

Legend of a Lover.

The writer tells a legend concerning Canek, the impetuous ruler of Chichen Itza, who loved the daughter of the ruler of a distant province. One day, a runner brought him the news that the batab of a neighboring and far more powerful province had married the maiden. Canek and his warriors went to his enemy's city under cover of darkness, while all was revelry there in celebration of the wedding. After venting their fury on the drunken celebrants, they stole the bride of an hour and disappeared. Never again did Chichen Itza know its lord Canek nor any of his band of fighters. Years afterward, a hunting band from Chichen Itza made a long journey to the south. They finally reached a lake, and in its center found an island city. The city was Tayasal and its ruler the now aged lord Canek.

When Spaniards Came.

He also tells of the arrival, reception and subsequent flight by night of Montejo, one of the early Spanish conquerors, in 1525. The Spaniards, besieged and almost without provisions, tied a dog to a rope of a bell and placed food just beyond his reach. His efforts to get the food kept the bell ringing and deceived the natives into believing their captives were still there. When the ruse was discovered, the little band of Spanish soldiery was nearly out of the enemy's reach. The writer expresses the belief that the natives, desiring to be rid of their burdensome guests, shut their eyes and let them escape unmolested.

FULL CREW BILL FAVORED BY UNIONS

Austin, Tex., July 7.—The railroad organizations and unions of the state have decided to renew their campaign in favor of the passage of the so-called full crew bill. The campaign has been inaugurated by the Davy Crockett lodge No. 26 and C. Spangler Lodge No. 52, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. Attention is called to the fact that the Farmers' Union of Texas at its convention held at San Antonio in August 1912, went on record as being opposed to the Full Crew bill.

"We honestly believe," declares the resolution adopted by these two organizations mentioned herein, "that this action was brought about by the agents of the corporations and ignorance on the part of some of the members (Farmers' Union) in that they do not understand the true meaning of the full crew bill, and the large saving it would mean to the corporations as well as the protection it would give the employes and the traveling public."

PROJECT LANDS WILL BE MARKED MORE DEFINITELY

Reclamation Service Is Distributing 2000 Concrete Posts For Purpose.

For the better marking of the farm lands under the Elephant Butte irrigation project, 2,000 concrete posts have been prepared by the reclamation service and are being distributed to the property owners, upon application to the project engineer's office.

This system of marking has been adopted in order to definitely locate upon maps valley lands not now susceptible of proper description or designation.

Descriptions Inadequate.

After the old Spanish grants were subdivided and sold, the descriptions were so inadequate and inaccurate that the owners could not be designated, so these posts are being distributed among the landholders whose property is not now a part of recorded subdivisions. The landholders locate their own buildings and establish their own corners, marking these with the concrete posts. Then the reclamation service surveyors locate the properties on the map surveys, giving each a number.

Survey Is Necessary.

This survey is necessary before the laying out of the laterals from the Franklin canal can be started. The mapping of the country will prove of benefit to the landowners as it will enable them to more definitely describe their property in making deeds of transfer, mortgages or sales.

MAY CROSS ATLANTIC IN LESS THAN DAY

Washington, D. C., July 7.—The possibility of a trans-Atlantic ocean flight in a heavier than air machine in 12 hours is pointed out in a communication to the National Geographic society, from Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone.

"The distance from New Foundland to Ireland is less than 2000 miles," says Dr. Bell. "This means that if you go at 100 miles an hour you will cross the Atlantic in 20 hours—less than a day. We have flying machines that go at a greater speed than that. We already have machines that could cross the ocean if their engines can keep going for 20 hours. Of course, these are exceptional machines; but even the ordinary machines of today make 50 miles an hour with ease."

SECRETARY DANIELS COMMENDS MEN WHO SAVED COMRADE

Washington, D. C., July 7.—Secretary of the navy Daniels has sent letters of commendation to Morris Wallace, master of arms, and William Carley, boatswain's mate, for daring and coolness displayed at Veracruz recently in rescuing a sailor who had climbed to a yard arm on the battleship Virginia and was about to dive to the deck, 100 feet below.

The rescuers, following their crazed comrade up the mast, threw a line about his body and hauled him safely to the deck.

MERCHANT AND SON INDICTED; DIAMOND SMUGGLING CHARGED

New York, July 7.—Herman J. Dietz, of this city, a diamond merchant, and his son, Charles, were indicted Monday by a federal grand jury here on 11 counts as participants in an alleged conspiracy to smuggle diamonds into the United States. Diamonds valued at from $300,000 to $500,000 were smuggled from Canada in 1911 and 1912, assistant United States district attorney Roger Wood stated. Government customs inspectors and secret service men have been at work on the case for a year.

CANTALOUPE DAY TO BE BIG EVENT

Plans for the first cantaloupe day at Clint will be made Wednesday when a committee from the El Paso Fruit Growers' association meets at the Sheldon hotel with a committee of the chamber of commerce. The meeting will be held at 12:15 oclock.

Cantaloupes are rapidly becoming one of the most important and valuable crops in the valley and it is planned to make the celebration worthy of a fruit that the local farmers say has no rival, either in Colorado or California. It is hoped to make cantaloupe day an annual feature, not only to advertise the local brand but for the purpose of discussing the very latest methods in cantaloupe culture.

The local committee has been appointed by George Le Baron, chairman of the land and irrigation committee of the chamber of commerce, and is made up of mayor C. E. Kelly, W. M. Platt, H. B. Orndorff, B. M. Worsham, W. S. Crombie, K. P. Kepley, D. Miller, J. M. Wyatt, U. S. Stewart, R. S. Trumbull, J. L. Marr, G. A. Martin, Wyche Greer, L. M. Lawson, R. A. Whitlock.

Would Require an Army To Enforce Hundreds of Miles of Laws Passed

Atlantic City, N. J., July 7.—It would require a huge army of men to enforce the hundreds of miles of statutes now written on the books, according to Eugene L. Richards, New York state superintendent of banks, who addressed the 12th annual convention of the Association of Supervisors of State banks Monday.

"It would require 100 attorney generals, 1000 district attorneys, 1,000,000 policemen and at least $1,000,000,000," said Richards.

"Never in our history, in the turmoil between Socialism and frenzied finance, has there been a louder call for real men in public life, men who will not act from expediency, but from conviction," he said.

DETECTIVE BITTEN BY CAT PUTS "MADSTONE" ON WOUND

City detective Joe Hausinger, who was bitten on the left hand and also on the left leg by a house cat Sunday evening, Tuesday applied a "madstone" to the laceration on his hand. The wounds show no signs of infection and unless they do the detective may not resort to the Pasteur treatment. Despite his wounds, detective Hausinger is on duty.

ELPASO SOUVENIRS FOR OTTAWA MAYOR

Here is another echo from the Ad-club excursion to Canada: this is from the Ottawa (Can.) Citizen:

A tall, well dressed and attractive woman walked into mayor McVeity's office at the city hall yesterday with a substantial looking walking stick in her hand. She had brought this stick all the way from El Paso, Texas, to present to the mayor. The special interest attached to that stick is that it was made by Gen. Villa's Mexican or "Constitutionalist" soldiers in Juarez, Mexico, which is on the other side of the international bridge from El Paso. With the stick, Dr. Alice E. Merchant, one of the leading women of El Paso, brought two other souvenirs for his worship, one being an imitation $100 bill on which all the advantages of that city were set forth, the other being a copper coin made at one of the many rich copper mines in the district. Naturally the mayor appreciated the gifts and told Dr. Merchant so in chivalrous words.

Dr. Merchant left El Paso two weeks ago with a delegation of advertising men to attend the convention of advertising clubs held in Toronto last week, and then came to Ottawa.

It is of interest that Dr. Merchant is a Canadian, being born in Wolfville, N. S. After practicing medicine in New York City for some time she went to El Paso 20 years ago wh[illegible] she married the late judge Washington Merchant. She admits she is a suffragist, but not a militant; she fails to see what good the militants can accomplish by their methods. "I see," she said, "you are voting in Ontario today whether the bar shall be abolished or not. Down in Texas we are soon to vote on statewide prohibition. All over the world sentiment is against the saloon. Wouldn't it be fine if the women had a vote today? There would be no doubt about the outcome if they were voting. I have a boy and girl and for their sake and the sake of all the boys and girls I would like to see the bar abolished."

ALLEGES RAILROAD GATES DAMAGED AUTO; FILES SUIT

In a suit styled Charles C. Dawedoff vs. the G. H. & S. A. Railroad company, filed Tuesday morning in the court of judge James J. Murphy, Dawedoff seeks to recover the sum of $150, for alleged damages to his auto mobile, caused by the gateman at the Stanton street crossing lowing the guards in front of his machine. Dawedoff alleges that the gateman negligently struck his machine with the guards.
