New Orleans Daily Crescent.

ANNUAL Commercial Statement

FOR THE YEAR ENDING AUGUST 31, 1860.

CRESCENT OFFICE, New Orleans, September 1, 1860.

In consonancy at the close of our Commercial year, we present to our readers a general review of the operations in our markets for the last twelve months, embracing detailed statements of the arrivals, exports, sales and prices of the staples and leading articles making up the commerce of this city, which has become one of the most important markets in the world. With the largest crop of Cotton ever produced, the business in that staple with us has shown a corresponding increase, and in other articles it will be seen by our tables that the movement compares very favorably with that of previous seasons. The weight of Tobacco alone shows an increase over those of last year, but with a partial failure in the Cane crop the business in Sugar and Molasses has been correspondingly reduced, while the difference has been nearly counterbalanced by enhanced prices. The average movement of the year has been large and remunerative to the planter and the merchant, and a cumming up of the operations, in amount and value, affords most encouraging indications of increasing prosperity in our city and State. A drawback, however, has existed in the large proportion of dirty and sandy Cotton found in the last year's crop, which has been greatly diminished in value from this cause, such descriptions selling at very low prices, and thereby involving heavy losses to the purchasers, as well as destroying confidence on the part of our European customers. Never before have the complaints been so general or so bitter in this respect, and we may add never with so much justification.

The following table exhibits the receipts and exports of the principal articles of Southern and Western Produce during the past year, compared with the year before:

COTTON.—The receipts of Cotton at this port during the year have been 2,250,438 bales, including 101,077 from Mobile and the ports of Florida, and 12,361 from Texas. The exports of the year have embraced 2,214,315 bales, of which 1,428,219 to Great Britain, 353,136 to France, 136,219 to the North of Europe, 120,265 to other foreign ports, and 192,466 to domestic ports North. The stock remaining on hand this day, including all in presses and pickeries, and on shipboard not cleared, is 74,137 bales. The receipts at this port last year were 1,774,739 bales, including 101,206 from Mobile and the ports of Texas and Florida. The exports last year embraced 1,777,168 bales, of which 994,251 to Great Britain, 256,791 to France, 182,678 to the North of Europe, 145,542 to other foreign ports, and 196,228 to domestic ports North. An increase is thus shown of 476,719 bales in the total receipts at this port, an increase of 453,038 in the exports to Great Britain, an increase of 96,335 to France, a decrease of 46,459 to the North of Europe, 15,057 to other foreign ports, and an increase of 14,238 to domestic ports.

The imports of Cotton into Great Britain during the year ending 31st December last, was about 2,828,000 bales, showing an increase over all previous years, as will be seen by the following table, which compares the imports of ten years past:
