MAKING THE VOTES

SOME FACTS REGARDING THE WORK OF THE CENTRAL COMMITTEES.

CAMPAIGN OF EDUCATION,

IN WHICH TON OF LITERATURE ARE BEING SENT OUT BY ALL PARTIES.

PREPARING TO RECEIVE BRYAN.

Silver Hustlers Out After the Necessary Gold—News of Minneapolis.

It has been repeatedly said that this campaign is one of education. People seem to be very anxious to become thoroughly posted on the issues of the day before casting their votes on election day. For the past month, the committees of the various parties have been busily engaged in the distribution of campaign literature, but the busiest time will be between now and the end of the campaign. A visit to the headquarters of the different parties brough fourth some data regarding the distribution of literature.

The Republican campaign headquarters for the city for all the tickets the national down to the city, are situated on the fifth floor of the Bank of Commerce. Most complete facilities are had for doing effective campaign work. Here James MacMullan, assistant secretary of the campaign committee, is busily engaged, as well as F. W. Farnham, who has charge of the rooms and who personally sees to the distribution of the literature. Since the campaign opened, the national Republican committee has sent large amounts of reading matter to the committee here. In August about a ton and a half was received, and during carnival week about a ton more was sent. At the close of that event, what matter was left over was removed to the present quarters from the rooms on Nicollet avenue where the national committee had established a branch. At present, about a ton a week, on the average, of campaign matter is being received from the national committee as well as some from the state committee. This matter includes about a thousand large pictures as well as pamphlets with speeches and short arguments on the money question. This literature is sent out every day to all parts of Minnesota, as well as to sections of both North and South Dakota, Iowa and Wisconsin.

A branch established by the Republican committee is situated at 310 Hennepin avenue, and is known as the Union Veterans' league. This is in charge of Peter Plunges and Geo. Warren. Here torches and other campaign paraphernalia are kept and literature distributed. These quarters are constantly crowded. Republican headquarters have also been established in every ward of the city with men in charge. Literature is kept on hand for those who desire to learn. This campaign matter is printed in every language spoken in this section of the country, including German, French, Bohemian, Polish, Salvic and Italian.

The Democratic, Silver Republican and People's party or Fusion headquarters, are at 18 South Fourth street. Here it was stated that the people are taking an unusual interest in political issues, and that four times the amount of literature on hand could be distributed with ease. Great care has to be taken so as to distribute to the best ardvantage. The matter is secured from national headquarters at Washington. Although a great part is sent out by mail to all parts of the state, no inconsiderable amount is distributed from hand to hand, requests for it coming in all the time. The matter is printed in many different languages. The amount distributed from the offices here could not be told.

A Veterans' Bryan club has been established at 323 Hennepin avenue on the second floor, where silver and Popocratic literature is on hand for perusal and distribution.

The sound money Democracy, not to be behind the others is sending out the right kind of matter from their quarters in the Wright block. Pamphlets in English, German, Norwegian, Swede, French and Bohemian are sent out to places throughout the state where there is a call for it and where it is thought that it will have effect. It was stated that, although they did not expect to elect their ticket, they intend to make things warm from now until election day. The Palmer and Buckner campaign was said to have just begun. That the sound money Democracy is aggressive is proved by the list of speakers they will bring to this state, including Carlisle, Eckles, Bynum and Fellows.

The Prohibitionists are also fighting a campaign of education. George F. Wells, secretary of the state central committee, is in charge of headquarters on the second floor of the Boston block. Quite an extensive distribution of "dry" literature is being made throughout the state, most of it being printed in the English and Scandinavian languages.

At 512 Globe block, the Socialists are on hand for the purpose of carrying on a campaign of education. Since the campaign began some 25,000 leaflets with the platform of the Social-Labor party, and doctrines of socialism have been sent out.

The Democratic fusionists have started a lively hustle to raise enough money to prepare for the entertainment and hall rent incident to the Bryan meeting next Monday. They have authorized subcription lists to be circulated signed by A. E. Barker, C. M. Foote, H. D. Irwin and Michael Breslauer. But it has been reported that some enterprising individuals are going around, without authority, soliciting funds for this purpose, presumably working the free-silver movement in a purely personal way. The discovery caused an investigation to be set up by the committee last evening and Pope Gooding has been employed as an expert detective to hunt the rascally solicitors down.

FUEL DEALERS ARE HOT.

Were Neatly Caught on the Bogus Check Swindle.

A clever swindling scheme in which the antiquated bogus check plays an important part was brought to the attention of the police yesterday afternoon. The victims are fuel men in all parts of the city and there is no telling to what extent they have been fleeced in the desire to do a little extra business. The swindlers have probably secured hundreds of dollars.

The swindlers are thought to have been a man and wife. They would drive up in front of a fuel office just after closing up time and on each occasion were in a great hurry for a load of coal or wood, which they wished delivered immediately. In most cases the proprietor would inform them that it would be impossible to deliver the fuel until the next day. At the request of the couple, who "hadn't enough wood or coal to cook breakfast," the obliging dealer would agree to send up enough to last until the load got there.

Then with many thanks the man would produce a check for an amount several times larger than the cost of the prospective load of fuel and would offer to pay for the whole thing in advance. The checks had the appearance of being genuine and the delighted dealer would invariably "go down in his jeans" and cash the check, withholding the cost of the fuel. All the checks were made payable by the W. K. Morrison Hardware company. A number of holders of the checks wished to satisfy themselves yesterday as to their genuineness, and the assistant bookkeeper was kept busy all the afternoon informing the enterprising dealers that the checks were worthless. Eight dealers have been heard from and more are expected.

NEW PASTOR INSTALLED.

Solemn Services at the Bethlehem Presbyterian Church.

With the solemn ceremonies of the Presbyterian church Rev. J. S. Thomas was installed as pastor of the Bethlehem Presbyterian church, corner of West Twenty-sixth street and Pleasant avenue last night. The affair was an important one in the annals of the church, and the auditorium was crowded, chairs having to be placed in the aisles.

The sermon of installation was delivered by Rev. Dr. F. W. Sneed, pastor of the Minneapolis First Presbyterian church. He took as his text Ephesians iv., 2: "Forbearing one another in love." The sermon was an able effort, and held the closest attention of the entire congregation. Rev. H. A. Noyes, of Le Sueur, Minn., an old friend and schoolmate of the newly installed pastor, delivered the charge to the congregation. Following the latter charge, Rev. Dr. Sneed, in the name of the Presbytery of Minneapolis, declared the relation constituted between pastor and people. He then led in prayer, and the congregation joined in singing "Blest Be the Tie That Binds." The ceremonies closed with the pronunciation of the benediction by the new pastor of the church.

Volunteer Leader Arrives.

Maj. Trumbull of Ballington Booth's staff, arrived in Minneapolis at noon yesterday from Omaha to temporarily take charge of the Minneapolis and St. Paul divisions of the volunteers. Maj. Trumbull's first meeting in the city, held last evening at the Hennepin avenue barracks, was an enthusiastic one. The audience completely filled the large room. The services consisted largely of singing, an accomplishment in which the major is well skilled. Testimonials were followed by songs suggested by the words of the speakers. One man confessed that he had spent 22 years behind prison bars, as a penalty for a life badly spent. He intended to lead a different life in the future. As a whole, the meeting very much resembled a revival in one of the churches. Major Trumbull intends to proceed at once to organize new posts in this city and St. Paul, after which the Volunteers will strike for the smaller towns of the state.

Brought a Stolen Wheel to St. Paul.

Leonard Crusee was arrested last evening for the larceny of a bicycle. It was stated that some time ago he stole the wheel from some barn in which he had taken a night's lodging, and with it disappeared to t. Paul, where it had been sold. Detectives Howard and Doyle yesterday went over there and secured the wheel, which is a Pastime, No. 19,222.

Work of the Sheltering Arms.

Sheltering Arms, the children's home of the Episcopal diocese, had its annual reception yesterday afternoon at the asylum on Emerson avenue north, and a large number of visitors were received by Mrs. T. H. Pitts, of St. Paul, president of the society; Miss Black, the matron, and other officers. A liberal supply of provisions and donations for the cellar and wardrobes was an accompaniment of the visitation.

MINNEAPOLIS GLOBULES.

Schedules in the assignment of Lofgren Bros. show assets of $2,864.67 and liabilities of $11,564.89.

The twelve-year-old daughter of Officer Ole Hovelsrud, of the South side station, died Tuesday of typhoid fever at the residence of her parents, 1819 Eighth street south.

The funeral of Emma Seymour, the seventeen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Seymour, will take place from St. Clotilde church this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

"The Old Homestead" will begin a week's engagement at the Metropolitan next Sunday evening. There will be matinees at popular prices Wednesday and Saturday.

Fred Johnson was bound over to the grand jury in $500 bonds yesterday morning by Judge Holt for the larceny of an engineer's transit and level which belonged to the city.

The funeral of Harry C. Lang took place yesterday afternoon from the res 'ence of Miss Louise J. Finley, 1109 Seventh street south. The services were under the auspices of Minneapolis Lodge No. 19, A. F. and A. M.

The jury in the case of the state against Harry B. Moran failed to agree, and was discharged by Judge Smith. The case of the state vs. Edward Ransom, accused of having stolen some clothing from the person of a wayfarer from Corcoran, was placed on trial.

Judge Smith has signed an order directing all creditors of the Riverside Clothing company to file all their claims against the corporation within six months, and to become parties to the action brought by the firm of Gordon & Ferguson against the insolvent. The reason for the order lies in the fact that the suit is brought to enforce the liability of the stockholders.

An application for a receiver was filed in the district court yesterday for the Northwestern Paper company, composed of Andrew, James B. and David Nichol, under the firm name of A. Nichol & Sons, proprietors. The application is based on the petition of the Union National bank, which has a claim of $23,000 against the company.

It takes nerve to face an enraged bull and flaunt in his face the color that he hates. It is a foolish and reckless thing for any man to do, but thousands upon thousands of men and women are daily facing a peril before which the bull fighter's danger fades into insignificance. The bull fighter is armed, trained, and fully prepared for his battle. The thousands who stand face to face with that dread and insidious foe, consumption, are but illy equipped for the struggle. The man or woman who would successfully withstand the inroads of the deadly germs of consumption needs to have arteries bounding with the rich, red, life-giving blood of health. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is without an equal as a blood-maker and flesh-builder. It cleanses and strengthens the lungs and cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption.

Miss Lucy Kloeffler, of Armada, Mich., writes: "When I was about eight years of age I had inflammation of the lungs, and from that time up I was sick nearly all the time and had a doctor nearly all the time. I would take cold so easily it would go right to my lungs. At the age of nineteen I was very bad; there was pain in my lungs, tickling in my throat and my throat was studded with ulcers; there was hoarseness and partial suppression of voice, and difficulty of breathing. I doctored with one of our best physicians and he said he could not help me and just prescribed cod liver oil and told my mother I could not live longer than three months. I kept getting weaker every day, when at last a friend asked me why I did not try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I thought there was no use, no more help for me as consumption was in our family. My father and also my sister died with it; but after taking the first bottle I seemed to feel better. My appetite was better and I kept right on taking it, with a bottle of the 'Pellets' once in a while, until I felt real well. Before taking it, I weighed one hundred and ten pounds, after taking it, one hundred and thirty. I have not had a cough this winter."

ON HIS WAY WEST

BRYAN TO SPEND A WEEK IN IOWA, THE DAKOTAS AND MINNESOTA.

SHORT STOP AT CHICAGO.

CANDIDATE MADE NO SPEECH AND DID NOT LEAVE THE DEPOT.

ANXIOUS TO HEAR FROM GEORGIA

As to the Progress of the Campaign, Mr. Bryan Seemed Unwilling to Talk.

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—The stay of Mr. Bryan in this city was an hour all told. He arrived at the union depot from Indianapolis at 9:30 over the Pennsylvania road, and did not leave the depot, as he was to leave the city inside an hour, over the Burlington road, which runs out of the same depot as the Pennsylvania. He walked up and down the platform, conversing with the friends who had come to see him, but had little to say about the campaign. He asked for the news from Georgia, but the returns at hand were too meager at that time to give him any definite idea as to the result. He expressed himself, however, as being confident that it would be "all right." He left for Burlington, Io., at 10:30 o'clock.

At the station in Chicago in response to the cheers of the crowd inside the gates Mr. Bryan said: "I am not going to talk tonight; I have put in more than an eight hour day and I am going to bed, but I will be back to Chicago before the campaign is over. I simply come out to tell you that if you read in any newspaper that I am broken down, don't you believe it. This campaign is going to be kept up, so far as I am concerned, until the night before election and no time will be wasted either."

Further details of Mr. Bryan's itinerary were given out today. He arrives at Burlington, Io., tomorrow morning. He leaves Burlington about 1 p. m., and will be at Cedar Rapids about 3 o'clock, and at Marshalltown at night. He will be at Sioux City on the morning of Oct 9, and at Sioux Falls, Huron and Aberdeen the same day. He will arrive at Fargo, N. D., the morning of the 10th, and leaves for St. Paul via the Great Northern. He will speak at St. Paul Saturday night, remaining there Sunday. He speaks at Minneapolis Monday evening, and Duluth Tuesday evening.

The special train bearing Mr. Bryan and his party left Indianapolis for Chicago at 8:13 this morning, thirteen minutes late. About 500 people were assembled at the station to give the nominee a parting cheer. Gov. Matthews and Chairman Martin, of the state Democratic committee, and a party of prominent local Democrats, accompanied Mr. Bryan as far as Noblesville.

The first stop during the day was at Noblesville, Ind. A stand had been erected in the center of Main street, and about it were gathered several thousand citizens of that place and the surrounding country. Mr. Bryan was introduced by Judge Davis. A stop of less than a minute was made at Cicero, where Mr. Bryan told the people that he was glad to see them, but he was not going to make a speech in a town named Cicero, for if he should chance to fall below Demosthenes or Cicero in a town of that name he would not be forgiven, and therefore he would save his speeches for other places. Tipton turned out en masse to greet the candidate. A platform had been erected in the center of a big lot, and Mr. Bryan was taken off the train before the depot was reached, conducted through a livery stable, and a line was kept from there to the platform, while Mr. Bryan spoke briefly. At the conclusion of his speech he was presented with a large bouquet of roses from the mothers and wives in Tipton. Kokomo, the next stop, is a Republican stronghold, and it was shown on Mr. Bryan's arrival there today. As the train pulled into the town the candidate stood on the rear platform, and was greeted with cheers for his opponent from people wearing yellow badges. At the junction, when he took a carriage, there were many more adherents of the Republican faith, and they evidently wanted the nominee to know what their convictions were. On his trip from the depot to the open lot where he spoke Mr. Bryan and McKinley were cheered alternately, but when he arrived on the platform he found himself with his own people, crowded together about the stand, and his short speech was liberally applauded.

In the course of his remarks at Logansport, Mr. Bryan said:

"The Republican manager's idea of circulation is to circulate a large amount of money just before election in order to contract the currency right after election. And the Republican manager claims that he is the advance agent of prosperity. I am afraid the chairman of the Republican national committee is the forerunner or the advance agent of that peculiar form of prosperity that comes just before an election to those who expect to make enough now to run them until the next campaign."

BICYCLISTS' RAID

a general battle ensued, and the robbers leaped upon their horses, shooting right and left at any who showed their heads. Brave Cashier Haywood continued this defense of the treasure until it was his undoing. As the robbers turned to leave the bank, one of them placed a gun to the cashier's head and killed him. The robbers secured no money, and in their efforts to escape, two of them were killed by the citizens. The balance of the gang escaped to the timber, and then commenced one of the most extraordinary man hunts in criminal history.

The men all rode fine horses, and were excellent riders. As fast as their horses would give out, they would steal fresh mounts from the farmers and go on, day and night, until it seemed as if they never would be caught. They were traced to Waterville lake, in Waseca county, and often the farmers would catch sight of the bandits, but so terrifying were their aspect that no one had the courage to stop them. The circle of pursuers extended for miles and miles. Several days after the robbery the bandits were seen to cross the Blue Earth river near Mankato, and then the track was lost again. The search was abandoned beyond Worthington, and the papers announced on Sept. 19 that the robbers "had been last heard of in the Lost Timber of Dakota."

Two days later, however, the men were suddenly discovered near Medalia, and a posse was formed. A brisk battle ensued, and one of the robbers was killed and the others wounded and captured. The survivors proved to be the Younger boys. They refused to reveal the names of any of their dead or living companions in the raid. By order of the state authorities all of the dead and surviving bandits were brought to St. Paul, and from here taken directly to Faribault, where they were tried and sentenced. The capture was made Sept. 21, thirteen days after the raid, and within thirty miles of where yesterday's tragedy occurred. Dozens of prominent men assisted in the hunt.

If the reader should go to Northfield today he will see a tablet of bronze erected in the center of the city to the memory of Cashier Haywood and his brave deed.

TRIED HERON LAKE BANK, TOO.

Robbers Got but Little There for Their Pains.

Special to the Globe.

ST. JAMES, Minn., Oct. 7.—Sheriff Forsyth and deputies here have practically identified the murders of Thorburn and Oestern at Sherburne as nearly as descriptive identifications can be made, as two young fellows who were here both Sunday and Monday, but did not remain through the two days, so far as can be learned. The descriptions call for one man of 150 pounds, light, smooth faced and youthful looking, light suit, black stockings, gray golf cap. The other weighs about 145, dark complexion, with dark thin moustache, thin face, gray suit, dark thin overcoat, light golf cap, blue overalls, black stockings, about twenty-four years of age. So far as known the pair did not turn a trick here, but it is supposed they are the ones who set fire to a barn at Heron Lake Tuesday afternoon. They calculated that during the excitement the bank there could be robbed, but the cashier disappointed them by locking up everything before he left the place and they got but a few dollars. This is the only other robbery credited to them except the Sherburne affair.

EDDY AT BARNESVILLE.

A Goodly-Sized Crowd Listened to His Logic.

Special to the Globe.

BARNESVILLE, Minn., Oct. 7—Congressman F. M. Eddy, of the Seventh district, addressed the people of Barnesville last night in Thompsons hall. Before the meeting a large parade, led by the city band, intensified the enthusiasm. Many who were anxious to hear the noted speakers were unable to get into the crowded building. The speaker was introduced by Hon. C. S. Marden, and the audience gave him an enthusiastic reception. The speech that followed was a powerful one, the facts and arguments being logically arrayed. Mr. Eddy goes from here to Comstock, and from thence to other meetings in Clay county.

Republican enthusiasm was in the air, the streets for blocks being crowded with people to see the torchlight procession and parade, several hundred people being in line. The Republican county convention had attracted delegates from all parts of the county, and all remained in the city to participate and listen to the able arguments made by the speaker. Many were turned away from the opera house for want of room, but fully 1,200 people gained access to the opera house. The speech had a telling effect, and brought forth rounds of applause, as did also the songs by the sound money quartette. Republicans of this county are alive and will leave no stone unturned to roll up the largest majority in its history for the whole Republican ticket Nov. 3.

DODGE CENTER, Minn., Oct. 7.—One of the largest political demonstrations ever held in this section was held at Mantorville, tonight. A. J. Leach, a life long Democrat presided. DULUTH'S MAYOR IS FOXY.

Special to the Globe.

DULUTH, Minn., Oct. 7.—There is a little sawing match on between the mayor and the common council over the water election. At the council last evening a resolution was passed submitting the proposition to buy the old plant to a popular vote at the general election. The mayor opposed this, believing the election should be held separately. The council prepared to pass the resolution over the mayor's veto, and adjourned till tonight for that purpose. Tonight the council meeting adjourned, the mayor not yet having acted on the resolution. He will wait until the last moment, and then veto it.

GUEST OF FRANCE

ENTHUSIASM OF PARIS OVER THE CZAR AND CZARINA IS INCREASING.

DAY A ROUND OF FETES.

POPULACE CHEERED THE ROYAL VISITORS AT EVERY POINT THEY VISITED.

THE CZAR LAID A CORNERSTONE.

Asked to Be Presented to the Poet Who Wrote the Hymn for the Occasion.

PARIS, Oct. 7.—Under the guidance of President Faure, the czar and the czarina set out early today to visit the principal points of interest in Paris. At the tomb of Napoleon the Great the czar stood for a few moments, as if in contemplation. The czar shows plainly that he is suffering from fatigue, being pale and abstracted. The czarina, however, bears up well under the strain of travel and sight-seeing, and acknowledges the plaudits of the throngs along the streets by gracious smiles.

After luncheon at the Russian embassy, at which many prominent French and Russian officials and ladies were present, their majesties drove out to inaugurate the new bridge to be named the Alexander II. bridge, and were met at the site of the bridge by President Faure, the usual immense crowds cheering and bright sunshine prevailing. The imperial standard of Russia was hoisted, the Russian anthem was played, and the ceremonies were carried out without a hitch.

President Faure stood beside the czar and czarina. Grouped around them were the presidents of the senate and chamber of deputies, ministers and cabinet officers, and further back were the members of the diplomatic corps. The stands erected for the senators, members of the chamber of deputies and mayors of the different towns, etc., were heavily loaded and the entire vicinity was densely packed with people. Paul Mounet read the stanza composed for the occasion by Jose Heredia, to whom the czar asked to be presented, warmly shaking hands with the poet. The czarina also extended her hand, which Heredia kissed. M. Bouchere, the minister of commerce, then delivered a short address, begging his majesty, in the name of the government of the republic, to lay the first stone of the bridge and thus accord to a great work of civilization and peace his high appreciation and gracious patronage of the empress.

After the czar and czarina had signed the formal document prepared for the occasion, the czar was handed a trowel by President Faure with which his majesty spread a small portion of mortar and tapped the corner stone with a mallet. At the same moment a boat in which were a group of maidens dressed in white left the right bank of the river and crossed the stream to the place of the ceremony, where they presented the czarina with a silver vase containing splendid flowers. The czarina accepting the gift, extended her hands to the maidens, each of whom bowed deeply and kissed it.

Their majestys and President Faure then drove to the mint and from there to the French institute. At the latter place M. Le Gouve made a speech of welcome, recalling the visit of Peter the Great, and M. Coppe read an ode to the imperial visitors. The latter afterwards signed the minutes of the meeting and proceeded to visit the Hotel de Ville.

The place de L'hotel de Ville was profusely decorated with flags, and the tapers were already lighted as the imperial party arrived. Their appearance was the signal for cheers and orchestras stationed in stands to burst into a hymn of welcome, which was followed by the "Marseillaise" and the Russian hymn. President Faure, with the czar and czarina on either side of him ascended the steps amid the cheers of the crowds, the troops presenting arms, the drums rolling and the bugles sounding. In reply to an address by the president of the municipal council, the czar simply expressed his thanks. He traversed the provost's hall while the choirs of the opera and of the conservatorie sang the Russian hymn, accompanied by the band of the Garde Republicaine, and entered the Cour d'Honeur, which was transformed into a magnificent winter garden, marble statues being placed here and there among flower beds, which were surrounded by a rockery over well cascades, while illuminated fountains played amidst the flower beds. At the further end of the garden a crimson staircase rose from the banks of flowers.

The imperial Russian pair, escorted by M. Baudin, ascended the staircase, and half-way up turned and admired the fairy-like scene, the spectators from the balconies overlooking the court cheering wildly in the meantime. The czar and czarina then continued their ascent till they reached the hall of charities, where they stopped and gazed upon the onyx vase given to Paris by the czar, Alexander III., father of the present czar. Then they entered the hall of fetes, where 4,000 persons were awaiting them, standing, the sombre evening dress of the men being relieved by the bright costumes of the ladies. The hall was ablaze with light.

The Russian sovereigns were then seated with President Faure between them, on a sort of throne, the dignitaries of their suite and of the French government, who were designated to attend upon them, being grouped around while they listened to a concert. The imperial party left the Hotel de Ville at 6 o'clock and returned to the Russian embassy.

The vast throng of people and the irresistible rush in the vicinity of the Russian embassy were so great tonight that it was feared that there must be many accidents. The frantic enthusiasm in every part of the city tonight is greater even than it was yesterday.

IT WAS A MUTUAL VICTORY.

Strikers at Winnipeg Again Go Back to Work.

Special to the Globe.

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 7.—The hitch that occurred today in the arrangements to call off the Canadian Pacific railroad telegraphers' strike, was satisfactorily adjusted this afternoon and at 5 o'clock all the men were ordered to report for work. Every striker will be taken back except those guilty of grave misconduct. Both sides gained their point. The operators that of being recognized by the management as an organized body, and the company that of compelling the men to observe the rules of discipline by first submitting their grievances to divisional superintendents before approaching the management. The settlement was brought about by the intervention of the trainmen.

BURGLARS LOOTED A STORE.

They Carry Off Their Plunder in a Wagon.

Special to the Globe.

MITCHELL, S. D., Oct. 7.—One of the most daring robberies ever committed in this vicinity occurred at an early hour this evening. The Mitchell Dry Goods company, one of the largest retail firms in the city, was the victim. The store was entered and completely ransacked. The burglars relieved the till of a small amount of change. They then backed their wagon up to the back door and loaded it with $500 worth of fine dress goods, mostly silks and other articles of value. Two arrests have been made, but no clue to the guilty parties has been found.
