Fourth. Of yachts or pleasure vessels and their value.
Fifth. Of the amount of your income for the year ending December 31, 1862.
Every species of income received between January 1st and August 31st, 1862, will be subject to tax. After August 31st, 1862, income derived from dividends of stock in any bank, insurance company, savings institution, trust company, railroad, railroad bonds, steamboat, ferryboat or bridge, which have deducted 3 per cent tax from dividends paid, will be exempt from tax, except in the cases of those whose income reaches $10,000 a year, in which instances an additional tax of 3 per cent will be rendered upon those income from dividends.
Guardians and trustees, whether such by decree of court or by virtue of their office as executors, administrators, or in any fiduciary capacity, are required to make return of the income belonging to minors or other persons, which may be held in trust, as aforesaid.
The net gains or profits of manufacturers are to be taxed under section 90 of the law. The exemption contained in the original statute was removed by the amendment of March 3, 1863.
Farmers will return the value of the products of their farms.
Telegraph and express companies and all corporations are taxed upon all income received between January 1 and Sept. 30, 1862.
Salaried men will return the full amount of the salaries they receive, whether fixed by statute or agreement, or derived from fees, &c. The salaries of Federal officers from January 1 to August 31, 1862, must also be returned. Receipts from advertisements in the year 1862 prior to September 1 must be returned.
Income derived from bonds, mortgages, notes, stock in gas companies or manufacturing companies, during the whole of the year 1862 is to be returned and taxed.
Persons are to be taxed on income at their residences. Business firms must estimate their gains for the year 1862, and make such division thereof as will enable each member of the firm to make return at his or her own residence.
A wife holding in her own right property not subject to her husband's control may make return of income from the same.
In estimating income from rents, the cost of necessary repairs, insurance, and interest on incumbrances may be deducted. The cost of extraordinary repairs, new structures, &c., cannot be deducted.
The following deductions will also be made from the aggregate income of any person, viz: State and local taxes of the calendar year, January 1, 1862, to December 31, 1862, rent actually paid for dwelling-house, and in case a person owns his house, interest on the incumbrances thereon and cost of necessary repairs, and in all cases the sum of $600, also the amount actually paid by any farmer or planter for hired labor and necessary repairs upon his farm or plantation, including the subsistence of laborers.
All persons engaged in business, whether holding licenses or not, if coming within the provisions of the law requiring them to pay a license tax to the United States, will be required on the 1st day of May, 1863, to make returns for the year ending April 30, 1864. Those holding unexpired licenses will be assessed only for the period between the expiration of said license and the 1st day of May, 1864. All persons neglecting or refusing to make returns of income will be assessed by the assessors according to their best judgment and information, and all persons neglecting or refusing to make application for licenses required by them will be subject to the fines and penalties prescribed by law.
When the annual lists are completed public notice will be given and fifteen days will be allowed for revising said lists by appeals or otherwise; after that the lists will be closed, and no hearing allowed upon petition for abatement of tax.
Any further information may be had on application to the Assessor or Assistant Assessors.
