DEPARTMENT COLUMNS.

New Orleans Money Market.

CRESCENT OFFICE, No. 76 Camp street, Saturday Night, June 1, 1861.

No changes of importance have taken place in commercial and financial circles for the week now closing. Politically, a movement is on the part of several different United States (for some time expected) has taken place. Our port is now essentially blockaded—no egress nor ingress without permission of the authorities of the old Confederacy. Our country and a vessel to do the trade of the Mississippi valley under surveillance. It will not last long, and by the end of the shortest fifteen days all the cotton and tobacco to be forwarded to market for this season will be on shipboard. It will be something of an advantage at this time for the blockade, the shipments of breadstuffs and provisions are indirectly prohibited. We have three months time to prepare for the next season's business. By the 1st of September it will be fully determined what course England and France will adopt about the paper blockade. We can very well submit to the infraction of international law with the Gulf of Mexico for the space of time. The blockading vessel has, however, interfered with some inward bound vessels, making prizes of two valuable cargoes, and placing a complete interdiction all communication with Texas ports.

Some fair sales of dry goods and concentrated merchandise have been made during the week. The stocks of merchandise in general appear to be ample for the demand. We think from the appearance of several stocks of merchandise it will take about two years for the buyers to clear them all out. As for crinoline, millinery and silks, as well as gen ralls in general, very moderate supplies will meet the wants of the consuming community, nor will there be much inquiry for fine broadcloths and cassimeres the coming season, and until Virginia and England determine shall break up the paper blockade there will be no demand for the manufactures of those countries. It is not improbable that our importers will now or will be sending out orders for the fall trade. As for our clothing, shoe and other dealers, who have for years been receiving their supplies from New Jersey, Connecticut and New York, they cannot move; their principals and agents North are completely embargoed. Requisitions and agents cannot help them out; all they have to do, is just to maintain sure here. Our own citizens and mechanics will now have an opportunity of handle work and good remuneration. A beginning ought at once to be formed for the manufacture of both cotton and woollen fabrics. As capitalists cannot employ their money in paper securities just at this time, it is suggested that they take into consideration the establishing of mills and factories for all branches. The iron foundries and machine shops in the South are doing wonders; they are going in all hours, and results cannot be other than most satisfactorily.

The money market special offers very little for review this evening. There is more unemployed money here at this time than there has been for years, with no exception. The following figures denote the line of deposits proper with our banks at the dates named, say for seven years past on the first Saturday of June:

1855	$11,811,172
1856	13,983,503
1857	11,637,291
1858	14,625,613
1859	$13,707,403
1860	16,985,905
1861	17,105,701
1858	14,625,613

The weekly return of the banks to the Board of Currency exhibits increasing strength, with a curtailment of loans and discounts, and a running down in exchanges of nearly half a million (the five millions of exchange, fifty four and three quarter millions specie, and five banks have closed their New York business, and do not evince the least desire to resume). The specie line has increased—$70,000 in silver have accompanied to Mobile during the week.

The following are the changes for this week—

A decrease in specie of	$218,884
A decrease in circulation of	183,500
A decrease in deposits proper of	3,0,118
A decrease in short loans of	$71,265
A decrease in Exchange of	470,987
An increase in distant balances of	97,5,9
The variation in Loans and Short Loans is a decrease for the week of	$128,105

The following were the changes for the corresponding week last year—

A decrease in specie of	$42,695
A decrease in circulation of	149,045
A decrease in deposits proper of	23,209
A decrease in short loans of	309,665
A decrease in exchanges of	113,831
A decrease in distant balances of	137,125
The variation in loans and short loans for the week was an increase of	$378,173

It will be observed that several of our banks have more than the amount of their deposits on hand to specie. The circulation is now so reduced as not to command a passing notice, though any bank can keep out as much as it desires. The evils of war cannot affect as much during the coming six months. Our late friends away up in Missouri, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio will feel the effects of the suspension of intercourse more than we shall, when they have to pay 25c per lb for coffee and 12½@15c per lb for sugar, and sell their corn, flour and pork for just what Northern speculators (New York jobbers) choose to give, they will realize the effects of Lincoln, Seward & Co.'s measures. The great city of St. Louis is financially and commercially bankrupted, broken up under full command of Lincoln & Blair. Major Anderson's sentiments Blair & Blair, Jr. As for the financial position of Louisville, if Kentucky does not move before long, Louisville will be blotted out as an independent locality. Already are they submitting to all the behests of Abraham the First. Business relations with Missouri and Kentucky are not yet mutually interdicted by the rules of war, but if readers congress, as the lying telegraph asserts, it will not be long before Kentucky will be in the same position as Maryland.

There was a large crowd convened to-day at the Merchants' and Auctioneers' Exchange. Several properties were advertised to be sold for account of successions. The appraisements were rather high, as but made to meet the present exigencies—the real sales were light.

The Exchange market during the week has fluctuated in some respects. Good and fair sight drafts on New York have ranged from 2½@3½ discount down to 4@6 Pct. discount. The counter rate at the banks (which have hardly anything to draw for) has ranged from ⅝@¾ discount until yesterday, when ⅞@1 discount were the rates. To day a further advance was realized, two banks selling what little they had to draw for at par to ⅛ discount, the market closing at par to ¼ prem. Outside there were sales at 2@2½ discount. But this exchange business must be brought to a close—blocked before many days. Texas cotton has any more fed furnished to our enemies, as it were. True, parties desiring to remit to New York can purchase sterling from our banks and transmit it to New York, as our banks have good balances in London to draw for, and they are as good as good as be. The bank rate for sixty days on London is 11@11½ (outside 10@10½) down to 8½@9 Nothing doing in francs—5.50@5.45 on Paris direct for 5f, running down to 5.75 @5.60.

The movements in cotton for the week reach 2500 bales. The sales for the corresponding week last year were 16,000 bales. The receipts for the week have been 2905 bales, against 5189 bales for the same week last year. The total receipts at all the ports now footed up 3,626,000 bales. There are 100,000 bales in the city, which cannot be counted up till the close of the season.

The advices from Europe, received during the week, are up to the 18th full, brought by the America, arrived at Halifax. The Liverpool market had a downward tendency, Middling Orleans being quoted at 12½d. by the Brokers' circular, but 8d was nearer the mark. The money market in London was undergoing a hardening. The shipments of gold hither were large, reaching $1,500,000 by the previous steamer, the Etna. The next steamer due is one of the mails, the Arabia, at Quebec, of the 23d May, or possibly one of the Galway line of the 21st will anticipate her.
