NOTICES OF THE PRESS.
From The Presbyterian.
"This work is an interesting one, and will bring before the reader's mind much to reflect on, and not a little which may be safely treasured up."
From the Literary Correspondent of The Boston Post.
"A curious medley, but interesting and useful withal, is Welby's 'Mysteries of Life, Death, and Futurity,' just republished by Bradburn from the English edition. It is one of those books from which a man can easily gather the material for thought, conversation, and composition, and in fact its contents would furnish some men an entire capital of erudition on subjects generally hide-bound. Notwithstanding the dismal suggestiveness of its title, the book is full of anecdotes, personal sketches, odd themes of thought and their treatment by various authors, extracts from the best English writers on the supernatural, and an admixture and interweaving of editorial comment, theory, and argument, which takes together, make the volume a rare specimen of nondescript but entertaining literature. As a compilation merely, Mr. Welby's book is valuable in the concise and orderly presentation of many men's thoughts, feelings, and fancies upon the mysteries referred to."
From The Evangelist.
"This is a curious, entertaining, and instructive compendium of information and criticism of some of the most interesting themes in science, morals, and religion. Incidentally it gives the opinions of Hugh Miller, Darwin, Brodie, Abernethy, Pritchard, Sir Thomas Brown, Plato, Isaac Taylor, and scores of others whose names are familiar in the history of literature, science, and theology."
From The Boston Transcript.
"The work before us by Horace Welby gives in brief the opinions, belief and superstitions which history and literature afford in say minutes pertaining to what may be called the mysteries of human life. Life and time, the nature of the soul, spiritual life, mental phenomena, belief and skepticism, death, the resurrection, &c., are discussed and illustrated from the highest authorities, from tradition and scripture, Egyptian legends, and Christian facts, Greek fable, and Pilgrim's Progress. A truly religious spirit pervades the book; it is the result of patient research, and to the philosopher, the psychologist, the physiologist—to the curious, the pious, the humane, it appeals with full and frequent knowledge, suggestion, and exploration."
From The London Review.
"This book is the result of extensive reading, and careful sorting gathering together a vast variety of opinions and speculations bearing on psychology, the phenomena of life, and the nature and future existence of the soul. With these are blended facts, anecdotes, personal traits of character, and well-grounded arguments, with the one guiding intention of strengthening the Christian faith, with the thoughts and conclusions of the great and good of the earth. Mr. Horace Welby has brought together a mass of matter which might be sought in vain through the most extensive library; and we know of no work which so strongly compels reflection, and so well assists it."

THE NEW NOVEL,
ST. OLAVE'S,
AND
MISS MULOCK'S FAIRY BOOK.
HARPER & BROTHERS, NEW-YORK.
Publish This day:
I.
ST. OLAVE'S.
A Novel. 8vo, Paper, 50 cents.
A good novel. It is written with unflagging ability, and it is as even as it is clever. The author has determined to do nothing short of the best, and has succeeded.—[London Post.
This charming novel is the work of one who possesses a great talent for writing, as well as some experience and knowledge of the world. St. Olave's is the work of an artist. The whole book is worth reading, and the finale is brought about in a happy and unexpected manner.—[London Athenæum.
II.
THE FAIRY BOOK.
The Best Popular Fairy Stories selected and rendered anew.
By the Author of
"JOHN HALIFAX, GENTLEMAN."
Illustrations. 16mo. Cloth, $1.
A delightful selection, in a delightful external form; full of the physical splendor and vast opulence of proper fairy tales, where the hens not only freely lay golden eggs, but eggs, not golden, hatch gold and silver dresses; abounding, too, in the charming little rhyming spells which wring responses from magic mirrors, and weave a charm round the child's understanding, to the scrupulous minister-effect details which realize to children's minds the orbit of wonder in which the tale moves, and finally in the quaint the aforemotions which touch springs of subtle association in every child's memory.—[Spectator (London.)
For our last collection of Fairy Tales we are indebted to one to whom we already owe much, as a bringer of pure and happy thoughts. Adjuring all idea of giving information, and leaving her readers to find their own moral, she has given us the loves of our childhood, some of them in their own old dress and speech, and others—if we are not mistaken—embroidered with many a light and telling touch. A book of gold and green, to take away by one's self among the long grass in the quiet orchard, with the bees scattering the white and red apple blossoms on our heads! A book to dream over—from the lovely lady who lies with her eyes trembling to open at the waking kiss which is to awaken her to life and love, to the story of Clever Susan, which they tell to this day among the wild gray rocks and silver lakes of Assyat! A book of dainty little pictures, to be pored over by bright little eyes, and just the size to be held between the fat little dimpled fingers, without fatigue, for a long and happy hour.—[The Reader (London).
The name of "John Halifax" is enough to assure us that the fairy tales of our youth will be found to be "selected and rendered anew," with the taste and judgment which such a task requires. We find in "The Fairy Book" all the old favorites, and most of those pretty stories of Madame D'Aulnoy which have proved such an inexhaustible fund to our dramatic writers in the present age of burlesque and extravaganza. Besides these there are a few tales of German or Scandinavian origin. The author tells us that where originals could not be obtained, the various versions have been "carefully collated," and the old English stories of "Jack the Giant Killer," "Tom Thumb," &c., have been left unaltered in their "charming, Saxon simplicity of style, and intense realism of the action."—[Parthenon (London).
This delightful collection of fairy stories. * * Miss Mulock says, wisely and well, that "the tender young heart is often reached as soon by the imagination as the intellect." She has here devoted herself with great care and skill to the re-editing a series of all our best old fairy tales, with the addition of several foreign ones but none of modern date. The quaint language and straightforward narratives of the English tales have been untouched, and this will greatly commend the book to the young folk, who hate to hear alterations in the words of a story that has once fascinated them.—[The Mirror (London).

2. That they are fit for garrison duty; this fact being likewise certified by the Medical Officer, as above, after personal examination.
3. That they are, in the opinion of their Commanding Officers, meritorious and deserving.
These rolls shall be certified by the Examining Surgeon and Regimental Commander and transmitted, through the regular channels of military correspondence, to the Provost-Marshal-General of the United States.
The Regimental Commander shall enter in the column of remarks opposite each officer's name on the roll a statement as to the general character of the officer for intelligence, training, subsidy, and attention to duty; and as intermediate Commanders shall indorse thereon such facts as they may possess in the case, or if they have none, they shall state how far they are willing to indorse the opinions of the officer or officers making the recommendation. Similar rolls shall be forwarded from time to time, whenever the number of men fulfilling the conditions enumerated or the exigencies of the service may render it expedient.
Second. By taking the officers and enlisted men still in service and home on the rolls, but who are absent from duty, in Hospitals or Convalescent Camps, or are otherwise under the control of Medical Officers. In these cases the Medical Officer in charge shall prepare the rolls according to Form, entering the names of officers and men from the exam Regiment on a roll by themselves, and send them, with the certificate of the surgeon, duly signed, to the proper Regiments Commander, who will forward them, as heretofore specified, subject to the same conditions and requirements. If in any case the Regimental Commander shall think an officer unfit, in point of character, to continue in the service of the Loyal Corps, though disabled and certified by the Surgeon, he will state his objection in the column of remarks, and note the exception before signing the certificate. If any officer or enlisted man now in the service, but absent and beyond the reach of a Medical Officer in charge of a Hospital of Convalescent Camp, desires to enter the Corps, he will take the course indicated below for those who have been honorably discharged the service.
Third. By accepting those officers and enlisted men who have been honorably discharged on account of wounds or disease contracted in the line of duty, and who desire to reenter the service. In the case of an officer, application for appointment must be made to the Provost-Marshal-General of the United States through the officer detailed as Acting Assistant Provost-Marshal-General of the State. No application of this kind will be considered unless the following conditions are completely fulfilled:
1. That the applicant produce the certificate of the Surgeon of the line of his enrollment for the District in which he resides, that he is unfit for active field duty on account of wounds or disease, and is not liable to draft, but is fit for garrison duty.
2. That he furnish evidence of honorable discharge on account of wounds or disability contracted in the line of duty.
3. That he produce recommendations from the Regimental, Brigade and Division Commanders under whom he formerly served, that he is worthy of being thus provided for, and capable of returning adequate service to the Government. In case it shall be impracticable to get this last evidence, he may, having established the first two points above, satisfy the Board of Enrollment that he is deserving, and present a certificate of the fact. This evidence must all be obtained by the applicant, and must be transmitted with his application for appointment.
If there be no Acting Assistant Provost-Marshal General for the state, the application may be forwarded through the Adjutant General of the State, who is desired to indorse thereon such facts in the military history of the applicant as he may know or can be offered by the records, and forward the same to the Provost Marshal General of the United States. Enlisted men, honorably discharged on account of disability, desiring to reenlist in this Corps, will present themselves to the Board of Enrollment for the district in which they reside, for examination by the Surgeon thereof, who will examine them and report the result to the Board of Enrollment.
The Board shall then consider each case and if the applicant is found to fulfill the conditions specified below, the Board shall give him a certificate to that effect, viz:
1. That he is unfit for service in the field.
2. That he is fit for garrison duty.
3. That he is meritorious and deserving.
4. That he was honorably discharged from the service.
The Provost-Marshal-General of the State shall then send the application, with this certificate of the Board to the Acting Assistant Provost-Marshal-General of the State, who shall procure such evidence of service and character as the records of the Company to which he belonged, on file at the Headquarters of the State, may show, and if satisfied that it is a meritorious case, and that the man is deserving, he will enlist him in accordance with such special rules as the Provost-Marshal-General may establish.
Medical Inspectors, Surgeons in charge of Hospitals, Military Commanders and all others having authority to discharge, under existing laws and regulations, are forbidden to grant discharges to any men under their control who may be fit for service in the Invalid Corps.
The Provost-Marshal-General is charged with the execution of this order, and the troops organized under it will be under the control of his Bureau.
By order of the Secretary of War.
E. D. TOWNSEND, Assistant Adjutant-General.
