The Cotton Market.

The tone of the cotton market for the week ending yesterday continued very firm, and quotations for the week have kept up very nearly to the previously established figures. The transactions of the week have been quite large, and the receipts have been very light, the weather being very unfavorable for the gathering of the cotton. We give some details of the sales of the week, and also the receipts and exports for the week, and the stock on hand at the close of the week, in the following table:

[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

The total receipts for the week show a very large falling off, the receipts for the range of the market from 10th to 16th inst. being only as held at from 120 to 125, [illegible]

We have received the journals of the Legislature especially those of the Senate and Assembly, of the banks, to the 15th inst., inclusive, and find nothing of interest. It will be seen that the Legislature has adjourned, and that the banks, or most of them, have resumed specie payments. The Legislature has contented itself with an amnesty, which has passed the Senate, and which, we understand, will be signed by the Governor. The Senate has also passed a bill for the relief of the banks,
