RICHMOND EDITION.

(Ready Sept. 10.)

TEN THOUSAND ORDERED BEFORE PUBLICATION.

THE GREAT GENERAL OF THE SOUTH.

AN AUTHENTIC LIFE OF STONEWALL JACKSON.

THE LIFE, SERVICES, and CAMPAIGNS OF

STONEWALL JACKSON,

FROM OFFICIAL PAPERS, COTEMPORARY NARRATIVES, AND PERSONAL ACQUAINTANCE,

BY A VIRGINIAN.

1 Volume. 12mo. 325 pp. Portrait on Steel. $1 25.

Reprinted from Advanced Sheets of the Richmond Edition.

STONEWALL JACKSON has made too profound an impression for the public not to devour with avidity an authentic life. Compilations may be got up by authors without access to authentic documents, but this is a life written by a Confederate Officer (Hon. John M. Daniels), who knew him well, served under him in his brilliant career, was assisted in the work by Mrs. Jackson, and had access to all his papers. It gives minutely all the details of his campaigns, filled with thrilling incidents and narratives. It is written with great ability, and forms a volume of intense and absorbing interest, unequaled by any other yet offered to the public.

It contains the only authentic Portrait of JACKSON, taken from life, shortly before the battle of Chancellorsville, for Mrs. JACKSON.

YOUMANS'S NEW CLASS-BOOK OF CHEMISTRY.

D. APPLETON & Co.,
Nos. 443 AND 445 BROADWAY,
PUBLISH ON SATURDAY

THE NEW CLASS-BOOK OF CHEMISTRY.

BY EDWARD L. YOUMANS, M. D.
450 pages, 12mo., with 310 Illustrations. Price $1 25.

This is not so much a new edition as an entirely new work, rewritten and reillustrated throughout. It brings up the general subject to the latest moment, and contains a large amount of new and interesting matter not found in existing Chemical text-books.

The new views of Heat and the great principle of the Conservation and Correlation of Forces, which may now be regarded as established in the scientific world, are first presented in Prof. Youmans's new work in a form suitable for class room study.

It also embraces many other results of recent investigation, as Spectrum Analysis and the new elements discovered by it; Prof. Graham's interesting views on Dyalysis and the colloid conditions of matter; Berthelot's remarkable researches in Organic Synthesis; Prof. Tyndall's brilliant discoveries concerning the offices of Aqueous Vapor in nature, together with many other new facts and new explanations of old ones. The volume will also be found to embrace several of the interesting views advanced by the author in his lectures on the "Chemistry of the Sunbeam."

The work is not intended as a technical book for chemists, but is written in a style suitable for popular reading and study. It is designed to convey that kind and amount of information upon the subject of chemistry and its application to the arts of daily life and the phenomena of nature which are now indispensable to a good general education.

HEAT CONSIDERED AS A MODE OF MOTION.

Being a course of Twelve Lectures, delivered at the Royal Institution of Great Britain. By JOHN TYNDALL, F. R. S., author of "The Glaciers of the Alps." One volume, 12mo., with 101 illustrations; cloth, $2.

"No one can read Dr. Tyndall's book without being impressed with the intensity of the author's conviction of the truth of the theory which it is his object to illustrate, or with the boldness with which he confronts the difficulties which he encounters. * * * Dr. Tyndall's is the first work in which the undulatory or mechanical theory of heat had been placed in a popular light; but we are sure that no one, however profound his knowledge upon the subject of which it treats, will rise from its perusal without a feeling that he has been both gratified and instructed in a high degree while reading its pages."—[London Reader.

D. APPLETON & Co. will send to any address, post-paid, either of the above books on receipt of the price.

BOOKS FOR THE TIMES.—JAMES REDPATH, Boston, has just issued:

I. HOSPITAL SKETCHES. By Miss L. M. ALCOTT. 12mo. 50c. Some of these sketches were published in The Boston Commonwealth, and had a great run. Enlarged and improved, the volume is selling rapidly. "They are received with universal favor."—[Commonwealth. "Productions of uncommon merit * * * Fluent and sparkling in style, with touches of quiet humor and lively wit, relieving what would otherwise be a topic too somber and sad, they are graphic in description and exhibit the healthful sentiments and sympathies of the cheerful heroism that would minister to the sick and suffering. The contrast between the comic incidents and the tragic experience of a single night given in No. 2 of the series, is portrayed with singular power and effectiveness. 'The death of John' is a noble and touching feature."—[Boston Transcript. "Graphically drawn. * * * Exceedingly well written, and the graver portions of thrilling interest. There is a quiet vein of humor, too, running all through them, so that the reader is alternately moved to laughter and tears."—[Waterbury American. "It would be tedious to you to hear how much pleasure an old man like me has taken in your charming pictures of hospital service, in The Commonwealth, and how refreshing he found the personal revelation there incidentally made of so much that is dearest and most worshipful in woman; so I will not dwell on those particulars, but say all I have to say in this summary form, to wit: that I am so delighted with your beautiful papers, and the evidence they afford of your exquisite humanity, that I have the greatest desire to enroll myself among your friends. * * With the liveliest respect and affection, yours, HENRY JAMES.—Newport, 10th June."

IMPORTANT TO SOLDIERS AND OTHERS.—Editors of The Tribune:—I send you the following information for the benefit of your readers, should you consider it of sufficient importance to give it publicly through the columns of your widely circulated journal to our soldiers in the field and citizens generally. During a residence of about a year in San Francisco, Cal., I contracted the afflicting disease, viz. Diarrhœa, so common at this time in our armies, and difficult to cure. Having exhausted the usual remedies given in such cases without any relief whatever, and getting worse daily, I was induced to try a powder, recommended to me as a sure and easy cure for all acute and chronic cases of Diarrhœa, and children's Bowel Complaints generally, caused by Teething or otherwise. Its success in my case was so rapid and effective, that I feel it to be a duty as well as a pleasure to impart this information to the public that all may have the benefit of its efficacy. I notice by the New-York papers the mortality among children has been very great, and also understand our Army is suffering greatly with Bowel Complaints.

Yours, very respectfully, S. PARKER.
