New Star for Our Flag.

Another star, the forty-fifth, is to be added to the flag. The new star will represent Utah, and the order for its addition to the national colors was issued by Secretary Lamont. The star will be placed to the right of the fourth row from the top. The order for the addition of the star is accompanied by one changing the size of the colors. Heretofore the standard has been 6 feet by 5. The new order makes the regulation size 5 feet 6 inches by 4 feet 4 inches. The order provides for the new colors to be issued to all infantry, artillery and the battalions of engineers, and also for new standards for all cavalry. The new flags will be very handsome. They are to be made of the finest American silk. Utah will not attain statehood until July 4 next, but all the flags hereafter contracted for and issued will contain the star heralding the admission of that territory into the Union.

Antitoxin in Diphtheria.

In consequence of a decree of the German Chancellor, statistics have been collected regarding the effects of the anti-diphtheritic serum. These statistics cover the first three months of 1895, and they are supplied by 232 physicians practicing in 191 hospitals. The percentage of deaths in 2,228 cases was found to be only 17.3, whereas by the older methods it averaged about 50. Prof. Richet publishes figures of mortality from diphtheria in Paris, which show that either the disease has this year taken a milder form or that Dr. Bouz's serum treatment is effective. The deaths in 1884 in Paris hospitals were 1,400; from 1887 to 1891 they were from 900 to 960 a year; from 1892 to 1894 they averaged 733; in 1895 they were 239.—Information.

In this Work-a-Day World

Brains and nervous systems often give way under the pressure and anxieties of business. Parents, wasting of the nervous tissues, a sudden and unforeward collapse of the mental and physical faculties are daily occurrences, as the columns of the daily press show. Fortify the system when exhausted against such untoward events with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, that most helpful medicine of the week, worn out and infirm. Use it in rheumatism, dyspepsia, constipation and malaria.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

FLORIDA BRIEFS.

ITEMS OF INTEREST GATHERED AT RANDOM.

News from all Parts of the State Summarized.

Orlando is in the strange condition of being a city without a city council. The council consists of seven members of whom four constitute a quorum. Of these, two have left the state, but no successors have been elected, nor have they resigned, and two others are away on business, so that for perhaps three weeks there will be no city council.

The long continued litigation over what is, from every point of view, by long odds the most desirable property in Tampa, has at last worn itself out. The interminable red-tape with which the national government adorns everything with which it comes in contact has finally disentangled itself, and the title to the big stretch of valuable land popularly known as "the Garrison," has at last been cleared up. The claims of the original homesteaders have at last been sustained by the department of the interior.

A Jacksonville man proposes to go into the salt crushing industry, and in the course of a few weeks will establish works. The salt will be brought to Jacksonville by the new Bahama-Jacksonville line of steamships, from Turk's island, in the Bahamas. After the crushing process, the salt will be packed into sacks and sold at wholesale. It is said that with the proper amount of enterprise the whole south can be secured as a patron of the Jacksonville salt works. Turk's island salt is almost entirely free from foreign matter. It is pure sea salt, made by letting sea water into great natural coral basins, and then allowing the water to evaporate and the salt to crystalize on the walls of the basins. This kind of salt is much sought after by the beef-curers.

Arrested for Libel.

H. H. McCreary, editor of the Gainesville Sun, was arrested at Palatka a few days ago on a warrant secured by Dr. Stein, of that place, charging him with criminal libel.

Recently there appeared in the Sun a small item in regard to the game of baseball played at Palatka, of which Dr. Stein was umpire, and Dr. Stein claims that in this item he was libeled. Mr. McCreary was not in the city at the time of its appearance, and says he does not know Dr. Stein. At the request of Mr. McCreary, he was taken before a justice and the time of the preliminary hearing fixed. He was placed under a bond of $100 for his appearance. The affair has occasioned considerable talk and its progress will be watched with interest.

A Half Million Yearly Revenue.

Florida's internal revenue contributions to Uncle Sam's exchequer amount to a half million dollars a year. The biggest item is that derived from cigars. For the fiscal year ending June 31, the tax collections on cigars from Tampa were $232,000; from Key West, $149,000, and from the remainder of the state, $65,000. Tampa averages $19,000 a month, Key West $12,000 a month and the remainder of the state $5,000 a month.

Internal Revenue Collector Wilson says that the months of July and August of this year showed a large increase over the corresponding months of last year. Besides cigars, a considerable revenue is derived from oleomargarine, whisky and tobacco not manufactured into cigars.

Colonel Haynes Resigns.

The following notice has been issued by the Plant System of southern railroads from the New York office:

"Colonel H. S. Haynes has tendered his resignation of the offices held by him with the companies of the Plant System, to take effect from this date, and the same has been accepted.

"H. B. PLANT, President."

Colonel Haynes is prominently identified with railroad affairs in the south, and his retirement from the Plant System was expected by some on account of developments attending the reorganization of the Southern Railway and Steamship Association. Rumor has scheduled Colonel Haynes as the commissioner for the reorganized association, which will probably begin operations on October 1. His retirement from the Plant System strengthens the belief in his probable selection as commissioner.

Consumption in Florida.

Florida Health Notes, for July, gives the number of deaths, and their cause, in the different counties, for May. There were only 355 deaths in the entire state. Considering May as an average month, it would indicate for the year 4,260 deaths, or 115 more than for the census year 1890.

Among the causes of death consumption takes the lead, with 44 victims. Pneumonia comes next, with 20. In 1890 there were only 33 per cent more deaths in the United States from consumption than from pneumonia. If this ratio holds out among natives, or permanent residents of the state, it would be an indication that 40 per cent of those dying of consumption in Florida were non-residents, and though the data from which the inference is drawn is not extensive, the ratio indicated is probably approximately correct.

The fact that during the month only twelve people died in the state of fevers of all kinds, is worthy of note. In the estimation of outsiders, fever is the great Florida bugaboo. The death reports for May indicate that even in Florida, the refuge of consumptives, consumption claims nearly four times as many victims, and pneumonia nearly twice as many. This shows how much more to be dreaded are diseases incident to cold climates than those incident to warm countries.

The number of deaths from consumption for May, 1895, is about 50 per cent greater than the monthly average for 1890. This is an indication, though obtained from limited data, that the disease is increasing in our state.

It is also a fact worthy of note that twenty-four counties, little visited by tourists, show only ten deaths out of a population of 216,927, or only one out of 21,693, while the balance of the state, with a population of only 174,495, shows thirty-four deaths, or one in 5,132. Thus south and east Florida, the tourists' paradise, in spite of its milder climate, shows four times the ratio of deaths from consumption than is shown by Middle and West Florida, and the city of Jacksonville, the gateway to Florida, shows fourteen deaths from consumption out of a population that was, in 1890, only 17,201. Making allowance for the increase of population, the ratio of deaths from consumption is more than ten times as great as in Middle or West Florida.

We cannot account for this disparity on the idea that the deaths of non-residents make up the difference. It is largely due to the fact that consumption is a contagious disease, and that our people catch it from the invalids who come to the state seeking a restoration of health. They will always come, and we are glad of it, but there is no doubt of the fact that the strictest precautions should be adopted to prevent a further spread of the disease in our state.—Times-Union.

MAYOR TAKES A HAND.

Issues a Proclamation Regarding Affairs in Fernandina.

The following proclamation by the mayor of Fernandina has been brought out by the shooting at the negro camp, reported a few days ago:

"It has been reported to me that persons, supposed to be co-operating with labor organizations in this city, have recently attempted to intimidate laborers employed, or desiring to accept employment, on the docks of this city.

"I, therefore, consider it my duty, as mayor of the city of Fernandina, to warn all whom it may concern that any attempt, by force or intimidation, through organization or otherwise, to interfere with the liberty or control the action of any person or persons employed, or desiring to accept employment in this city, on the docks or elsewhere, will be promptly dealt with, as by law in such case provided. And I call upon all law-abiding citizens to discourage and discountenance all attempts, by individuals or through organizations, to interfere with, disturb or control the freedom or employment of labor in this city, and to co-operate with the authorities in maintaining the peace and good order of the community.

"Made under my hand and seal, at Fernandina, this 9th day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five.

"(Seal.) H. J. BAKER, Mayor.

TEACHERS ARE SCARCE.

A Number of County Schools Without Teachers.

Several of the schools in the country will be short of teachers this term. This is on account of there being a number of teachers failing to pass at the examinations held recently. The white schools will not suffer so much as the colored schools, the vacancies being pretty will filled.

Had it not been for the opinion of the attorney general in regard to the new school law, the board would have had little or no trouble in taking care of all the schools. Article 4331, passed at the last session of the legislature, so amends Article 4192 as to extend all certificates one year from what they were under the old law. The attorney general, however, takes a different view of the law, and says that it means to extend the certificates of those who shall pass the examinations since the passage of the law.

Under the old law, the terms for the three grades were: First grade, three years; second grade, two years; third grade, one year. According to the new law, these certificates would be increased and made four, three and two years for the several grades.

Superintendent Mead, however, may be able to fill some of the vacancies. The law gives him the right to hold a special examination for applicants who were unable, by reason of illness or absence from the state, to attend the regular examination.

ADDRESS TO FRUIT GROWERS.

Advised to Get Together for Mutual Protection.

At a meeting of farmers and fruit and vegetable growers, held in Orlando recently, in pursuance to a call issued by a committee of Lake county gentlemen, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed by the chair, and authorized by this meeting to prepare an address to the growers and producers of Florida, asking them to unite in an effort to secure lower rates on farm products, fruits included, and also to the traffic managers of the transportation lines doing business here, urging them to give us a cheaper rate on our products.

Mahlon Gore, George H. Wright and J. Q. Reese were appointed as the committee and they have promulgated an address as follows:

It needs no special gift of discernment to recognize the critical condition of the farmers and fruit and vegetable growers of Florida, their orange crops gone for a term of years, compelled to rely upon the products of their farms, and no profit in farm productions under the present order of things. We can produce the crops. Prices in the northern markets are in our favor. The trouble is in high freight rates and in the system of marketing.

We can hope for no concession in freight rates unless we organize and demand them, and put ourselves in a position to force a recognition of our demands. We desire no fight with the transportation lines. Our interests are theirs. But we want them to recognize our interests and see both sides of the question. With cheaper rates of transportation we could enlarge our army of consumers, and could put food products, which we are now barred from shipping, into the hands of the masses. We would still have the advantage of the high prices early in the season, while our shipping season would be prolonged, and we would realize a fair return for thousands of dollars' worth of vegetables that now rot in our fields.

Relief can only be hoped for through organized effort. Organization has been attempted heretofore, but has been only partially successful. We recommend a state organization, with a recognized head, and with an executive committee. Such officers to perform their duties without pay. If found necessary, we recommend the employment of the best legal talent to be obtained to look after our interests in the courts when necessary. To attain this end there should be county and precinct organizations. These should be close and compact. To provide the necessary funds required for stationery, postage, legal fees, etc., we suggest a membership fee of one dollar, this money to be kept in the treasuries of the subordinate organizations, only to be called out at such times and in such amounts as the state executive committee may decide to be necessary. All state officers and members of the executive committee to be elected by the farmers who belong to the organization.

We recommend that the farmers and fruit and vegetable growers of every precinct in the state meet at convenient places on Wednesday, September 18, or as near that date as is convenient to them, and effect local organization and select their wisest and most conservative men as delegates to a state convention, for the purpose of effecting a thorough state organization and electing state officers and an executive committee.

This state convention is hereby called to meet in Orlando at 3 o'clock p. m. on Wednesday, October 2, 1895, and to continue in session until the work is completed. No ratio of representation is fixed. Let the local clubs send as many or as few delegates as they please.

This committee will secure the most favorable hotel rates to be obtained by the delegates.

To this convention we also invite the general traffic managers of all the companies doing business in this state, with such other of their representatives as they see fit to send. We invite them to present their side of the issue to the farmers and fruit and vegetable growers of Florida. We deem it but just to all parties concerned that they, in person, listen to a recital of the experiences of those who till the soil. Let us make an honest effort to secure an equitable compromise, first; resorting to more stringent measures only after the failure of such effort.

Very respectfully,

MAHLON GORE,
GEORGE H. WRIGHT,
JOHN Q. REESE.

A RACE CONVENTION.

Negroes of North Carolina Confer About Their Condition.

At a negro convention held at Raleigh, N. C., forty-nine delegates were present, representing fifteen counties. They were all conservative colored men. The resolutions which were adopted were quite long. They declared that the time has come for the negro to assert himself, to put aside prejudices and make friends with his white fellow-citizens; that sectional and party lines are being removed; that there is community of interests; the most urgent need is of good citizens; the cry is for purer politics and better leaders. The lack of organization among the negroes was deplored. The new sentiment is that every white man and every black man has an equal chance for education. The mistake of the negro for thirty years past has been reliance on outside influences, but the right thing is to look to themselves and their own southland for salvation. Progress since emancipation is not what is desired, but this is due to the failure of the negro to organize in his best interests. The choice of good leaders is recommended and also adherence to the principles of the old republican party. Accessions from any source are welcomed and people are called on to unite. Rings, cliques and party bossism are condemned. The negro vote should be thrown where it will do the greatest good, unite for purer politics, stop the negro howl and the calamity howl, let the negroes become landowners and have an interest in the soil.

The late legislature is condemned for its folly in abolishing county superintendents of schools. A board of twenty-two members, two from each district and four at large, is to be created, to be known as the North Carolina advisory board, in the interest of the negro race, politically, industrially and socially. Its members are to serve one and two years each.

DAVIS MONUMENT ASSOCIATION.

Statement of the Fund Made by the President.

At a meeting of the Jefferson Davis Monument Association, held at Richmond, Va., Friday afternoon, the president stated that a collection for the monument fund was taken in that city on June 3d resulting in subscriptions to the amount of $1,000 or $1,200, in addition to what had heretofore been raised. On motion of Judge Christian, the president was authorized to take steps to collect such of these subscriptions as have not yet been paid in.

On motion of General Wise the president was requested to apply to the city council for permission to erect the monument in Monroe park. It is desired that the foundation shall be removed to another site in the park, and the monument erected on that spot.

The president was authorized to appoint a committee to report at the next meeting how the board should proceed in the matter of inviting proposals for a monument plan. Messrs. Chesterman and Richardson were appointed as the committee, which is not to recommend a monument plan, but to suggest to the board how to proceed in that direction.

Big Blaze at San Antonio.

Fire broke out Monday morning in the four-story furniture store of L. P. Peck & Co., at San Antonio, Texas. The entire stock was destroyed. Estimated loss $75,000 with $50,000 insurance. Damage to building about $20,000, covered by insurance. The Alamo trunk factory adjoining was damaged to the extent of $5,000 and the Texas Millinery Emporium Company suffered a loss of $2,000.

Belligerency of the Cubans.

The cubans are extremely anxious to obtain from the United States a recognition of their belligerent rights, believing, and possibly correctly, that under this recognition their independence would be secured. Under it they could buy arms and munitions of war in the United States, or their friends could ship these to them. They would have liberty of trade, and while they would not have liberty to enlist men for their armies, they would have the next thing to it. The barrier against recruiting would be practically broken down. It would be an easy matter to send recruits to Cuba as nominally the crews of merchant ships. Under a grant of belligerent rights there is no doubt that this would be winked at. More that that could not be permitted without laying ourselves open to the charge of furnishing men to fight a nation with whom we are at peace. But that would be enough. In the event of it, adventurers would flock to Cuba in hope of gold and glory. With such assistance to the rebels it might be a question if the Spaniards could hold their own in the island long.

The grant of belligerency is always a delicate matter, for it is always regarded as an evidence of hostility. In the event of it Spain would be convinced that when the moment came we would go farther in the interest of her rebels. That is one reason why the grant is refused. Another is that it might serve merely to encourage rebellion; that is, the Cubans might be conquered in spite of it. No nation likes to take the risk of recognizing a rebellion which does not give satifactory proof that it will end in independence, for every nation which does that expects when independence is established, a return of the favor in the shape of trade or other privileges. This is not the first rebellion in Cuba. There have been others which gave more promise of success than this one does.

Add that the authorities at Washington have their doubts of the ability of the Cubans to carry on an independent government if they had one, or least such a government as would be worth helping to create. If the Cuban people had had different training, or if they were of one blood, it is safe to say that the authorities at Washington would be more disposed to stretch a point in their favor. The parallel between France at the outbreak of the American Revolution and the United States now, as drawn by a representative of the Cubans, is greatly misleading, for France then had her revenge to wreak upon England through her revolted colonies, while we have none to wreak upon Spain, and as to the comparative fitness of the Americans for self-rule then and the Cubans now, the less said the kindlier. It is a mistake to suppose that this country is opposed to liberty in refusing to grant them beligerent rights. It is opposed to involving itself in complications with Spain without reasonable certainty that the resulting good will justify it.—Pittsburg Times.

FARMER BAILEY'S ESCAPE.

AND THE RARE EXPERIENCE OF JOHN H. LOFTIN.

A Happy Release After Both Had Almost Given Up.

From the Caucasian, Clinton, N. C.

We had been reliably informed that J. F. Bailey, of Warsaw, Dublin Co., N. C., had been cured of consumption, and sent a reporter to see him and make a report, believing that the facts would be welcome to many readers of this paper. We found Mr. Bailey strong in the belief that he had had consumption, though his physician, Dr. W. P. Kennedy, stated the case in a little different way. The doctor said:

"Mr. Bailey was suffering from overwork and chronic malarial poisoning, with some of the symptoms of chronic rheumatism and a general run-down condition of his system.

"Boils prevented him from work a part of the time. Bronchitis and spitting of blood were sources of great annoyance to him."

It is probably true that the doctor was correct, though without doubt Mr. Bailey would eventually have gone into consumption, as this disease frequently follows the symptoms and conditions above given. He was thoroughly cured, however. Mr. Bailey said to the reporter:

"In the spring of '94 I began farm work. Soon I found my health failing and a hacking cough my constant companion.

"I grew so weak that I could no longer work. My cough became so severe that I was unable to sleep, and I was constantly spitting up blood and corruption. My physician could give me no relief and I continued to grow weaker and weaker. I had well nigh given up all hope of living, much less being restored to my usual strength when a friend called my attention to testimonials as to the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I at once left off using the medicine prescribed by my physician and began to take the Pink Pills. I felt the good effects of this wonderful medicine within three days. In less than two months' time I was a well man, and three boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did the work.

"Is it any wonder," queried Mr. Bailey, "that I sing the praises of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills when they have done so much for me? But for the timely use of them I would to-day be in my grave and I want the world to know of their incalculable value as a medicine.

The reporter having heard that Mr. John H. Loftin, of Warsaw, had been cured of rheumatism by the use of three boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, interviewed him with the following result. Said Mr. Loftin: "I suffered intensely with rheumatism for ten months. I was entirely helpless for two months. I tried various remedies but none of them did me any good. Having heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and their wonderful curative powers, I procured a box and began the use of them with wonderful effect. In two weeks' time I was able to leave my bed, and in a few months' time I was able to do manual labor. From helplessness to manual labor is my experience, and I attribute this great benefit solely to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Dr. William's Pink Pills contain all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are for sale by all druggists, or may be had by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., for 50 cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

The Quakers.

The Friends, or Quakers, at first called themselves "Seekers," from their assertion that they sought the kingdom of heaven in the same manner as it was sought by Nicodemus. They were called Quakers in ridicule because Fox, their founder, frequently bade his hearers "quake and tremble at the word of the Lord."

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Our Criminal Population.

Professor Francis Wayland told the Social Science Association at Saratoga, the other day, that we have about 3,000,000 habitual criminals in our population.

This is the professor's estimate, and if we had included those persons who are always wavering on the borders of crime he might very well have raised his figures to 10,000,000. Such total, however, must include those who are guilty of small and occasional misdemeanors which frequently escape prosecution.

The professor's remedy is to lock up all these millions of criminals, but we do not see how it can be done. The prison problem has almost swamped us as it is, and if it gets any bigger it will be too much for us.

There is one way out of it—when the criminals are in the majority, as they soon will be, at the present ratio of increase, we can turn the tables on them by making them lock us up, and run the government, and tax themselves for our support. Let the majority rule is the basic idea of our government.—Atlanta Constitution.

Horticultural Note.

When a young tree does not grow and the leaves are yellowish instead of green, dig down to the roots and endeavor to discover if some insect or parasite is not working under the ground. Then dig away plenty of dirt and drench the roots with strong soapsuds, to which should be added a few pounds of unbleached wood ashes, or put the ashes in after drenching the roots. It will not injure the tree and may prove of great benefit.

The Prevailing Malady

in this country is dyspepsia. Probably more than three-fourths of the people suffer from it in some of its many forms. Many have dyspepsia and don't know it, because they have the painless kind. Such are always half sick and ascribe their ailment to any cause but the true one. Where dyspepsia is known, or suspected, Tyner's Dyspepsia Remedy ought to be used. It is a wonderful medicine, very pleasant to take, and not only corrects digestion in a few minutes, but cures the worst cases of dyspepsia. For sale by all druggists.

WOMEN'S FACES—like flowers, fade and wither with time; the bloom of the rose is only known to the healthy woman's cheeks. The nervous strain caused by the ailments and pains peculiar to the sex, and the labor and worry of rearing a family, can often be traced by the lines in the woman's face. Dull eyes, the sallow or wrinkled face and those "feelings of weakness" have their rise in the derangements and irregularities peculiar to women. The functional derangements, painful disorders, and chronic weaknesses of women, can be cured with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. For the young girl just entering womanhood, for the mother and those about to become mothers, and later in "the change of life," the "Prescription" is just what they need; it aids nature in preparing the system for these events. It's a medicine prescribed for thirty years, by Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y.
