And the Chairman pro tem. appointed Aldermen McKnight and McCool as a Committee of two to conduct the President elect to the chair.

The President elect assumed the chair and addressed the Board as follows:

Gentlemen of the Board of Aldermen:

For this very marked evidence of your esteem and confidence in selecting me to preside over your councils for the ensuing year I very sincerely thank you. Words of kindness and expressions of confidence not infrequently proceed from the lips alone; but, in the present instance, I feel indeed that my colleagues in the Board, in conferring upon me this great Honor unsolicited, have manifested a warmth of friendship, a faith and confidence, that cannot be doubted, however I might question the wisdom of their selection. In appreciating this distinguished honor, I may be pardoned in saying that, as this is the second time during the years I have been connected with this body that you have manifested your preference in selecting me to preside over your deliberations, I cannot plead inexperience as a contingent excuse for a want of justice and impartiality in the exercise of my future duties; on the contrary, I assure you gentlemen, that all that my previous experience may have done in instructing me in the use of those prerogatives and powers, shall be taxed to the utmost, not only in the endeavor to deserve the continuance of your esteem and confidence, but to assist in producing that harmony and unanimity of legislative action as shall conduce to the public benefit, and compel that meed of praise which I feel certain you will deserve.

Gentlemen: I do not deem it necessary at this time to enter into an elaborate statement of your great responsibilities in having committed to your care the vast and varied interests of this great city; the experience and intelligence which I know you possess are a sufficient guarantee that your legislation will evidence unusual care, prudence, and wise forethought, which will, I am proudly confident, place this body, at least, on a level with the most reputable of the past. These are stirring and changing times, requiring sagacious and oft times prompt legislation. Principles underlying the very foundation of our government, both State and National, are being tested by the tremendous events that are now pressing upon us. We, as one of the most important legislative bodies in this commonwealth, should in our individual and collective capacity, see to it that all our acts will bear an honest criticism, and prove us, if not wise counsellors, at least patriotic and honest citizens and legislators. The eyes of the people were never more positively and continually fixed upon the proceedings of this Body then at the present time. You have important trusts and immense interests committed to your charge, and by a system of insidious special legislation they have been surrounded with difficulties and deprived of rights which were imperatively necessary to the proper and just conduct of your duties as legislators, but by firmness and prudence, frank expression of your convictions, and a determination to perform every legislative act fearlessly and truthfully, conscious only of your own integrity—will contribute very effectively to right your wrongs and to disabuse the public mind of impressions and convictions that designing political demagogues, for their own selfish and unrighteous purposes, have succeeded but too well in creating.

Gentlemen, there is one fact intimately connected with the above that I feel is sufficiently important to call your attention to at this time. Against the scurrilous and more frequently insidious attacks of certain parties and organizations upon the acts and intentions of this body you are entirely helpless. With no honest avenues to the public ear but through the few who may be present at our public deliberations, our acts may with impunity be misconstrued and criticized, and the public mind abused. This evil should be remedied at once. I believe it to be imperatively necessary that this body should be able in some way to reach the public ear; that some means should be devised by which not only the Common Council, but their reasons therfor, should receive equal and large publicity.

Gentlemen, Thus briefly I commit to your charge the interests and responsibilities confided to you, hoping that the year that is just dawning upon us may be one fruitful with high resolves and great results, so that when the closing year looks upon our works, it may find those we represent saying to each one of us, "Well done thou good and faithful servant."

In conclusion, gentlemen, I again thank you for this mark of your confidence.

The Chair now awaits the pleasure of the Board.

A Committee from the Board of Councilmen, consisting of Councilmen Brandon, Webster, and Hayes, here appeared, and informed the Board that the Board of Councilmen was duly organized, and prepared for the transaction of public business.

The President congratulated the Committee on the organization of the Board, and informed them that this Board would communicate with the Board of Councilmen by Committee.

A communication was received from his Honor the Mayor, calling the attention of the Board to the death of Archbishop Hughes.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, NEW-YORK, Jan. 1, 1864.

To the Honorable the Common Council:

GENTLEMEN: A dispensation of our Heavenly Father which will plunge thousands of our fellow citizens in grief constrains me to call to your official notice the demise of the illustrious Archbishop Hughes.

It is not that an eloquent and exalted Prelate has passed away, but in his death our country has lost an eminent citizen and pure patriot; for this we may mingle our tears with those bound by the most sacred ties to the departed, and remember, in the words of another great and eloquent preacher, that "God alone is great." Death has quenched the fire of his genius, but has had no power over his virtues. Mindful of these, and the distinguished public services of the deceased, the representatives of the city will, I am sure, accord to his memory the tribute of their gratitude and respect.

C. GODFREY GUNTHER, Mayor.

Which was received.

Alderman FOX moved that the Message be referred to a Special Committee of Five. Which was carried.

The PRESIDENT appointed Aldermen Fox, McCool, Farley, Long, and Shannon as such Committee.

By Alderman LONG—

Resolved, That permission be and is hereby given to the property-owners in One-hundred-and-eighteenth street, between Third and Fourth avenues, to regulate and grade the same at their own expense, under the direction of the Street Commissioner. Which was referred to Committee on Roads, when appointed.

On motion, the Board then adjourned, and the PRESIDENT announced that the Board stood adjourned until next Monday, the 11th instant, at 2 o'clock p. m.

D. T. VALENTINE, Clerk.
