HOFFSCHLAEGER NEW BUILDING

King street is soon to have another business architectural improvement, this to be a store and office building of two stories for Hoffschlaeger Company, Ltd., general merchants, who have store fronts on Bethel and King streets, another building occupying the corner between. The new structure will substitute the corrugated iron warehouse now used by the firm, which is advertised for sale by the City Auction Co.

The new building will be of reinforced concrete, 58 feet long by 21 feet 2 inches deep. It will be simple in design, the treatment being what is called "straightforward" in architect's parlance. The ground floor will be fitted up for a store, and the upper floor for the company's offices. T. Gill is the architect.

ALMOST EVERY FIRE.

Almost every fire could be extinguished with a bucket of water, if discovered at a sufficiently early stage. Why so many disastrous fires—resulting in enormous damage to life and property—take place is, that warning is not given to the fire department at the time when, by a ready and handy means, it is possible to effectually grapple with the danger. An installation of the Denio fire alarm system on your premises will make it posible for you or your employes to effectually protect you.—Advertisement.
