From the St. Louis (Mo.) Republican

Drifting Down the River.

Drifting down the shining river,
Where the embowers glance and quiver
On the rippling waves, so swiftly
Dancing downward to the sea!
As they glide in ceaseless motion
To the broad, unfathomed ocean,
What a lesson in their journey
Do they whisper unto me!

Down a broader, deeper river—
One whose wavelets we can never
Sail but once, for never backward
O'er its surface may we go—
Do we float, perhaps unthinking
Often heedless and unthinking
Where the boundless, endless ocean
Of Eternity doth flow

With our hopeful eyes turned onward,
We are looking onward, onward
For a glimpse of that bright Eden
Lost while yet the world was young;
For we fancy that it glimmers
Where the shining water shimmers
Like a gate of pearl before us
By the hand of distance hung.

Mong its fairest purple shadows
Do we picture flowery meadows—
Bright elysian fields of beauty
Where we hope to pause and rest
But how oft we find them cheating
Empty visions, false and fleeting
As the magic cities rising
From the waters misty breast.

When at last our haven nearing,
All its beauty disappearing,
We but find a barren desert
On the sea's rough, stormy verge
All its fruits to ashes turning,
All its valleys bare and burning,
And the white wings of its angels
But the foam wrecths on the surge.

Nought is real, nought is lasting
Save that world to which we're hasting
Over Time's swift flowing river,
And for rest we seek in vain
Till we reach the golden portal
Never crossed by foot of mortal,
And our life bark's wrecked and shattered
Ne'er to breast the waves again!

The Fort Pillow Affair---A Card from Gen. N. B. Forrest.

To the Editor New York Times:

A correspondent of the Times, whose letter was published on the 25th inst., says:

"At the time of the capture of Fort Pillow by the rebel Gen. Forrest, and the massacre of its entire garrison, Gen. (then Colonel) Lawrence was in command of Fort Columbus, a point on the Mississippi river above Fort Pillow. Gen. Forrest, flushed with his victory and his murders, marched from Fort Pillow directly on Fort Columbus, notified Col. Lawrence that the commander and garrison of Fort Pillow had been massacred, informed him that he commanded 10,000 troops, and knew that he (Lawrence) had only 1,000, and ordered him to surrender in one hour; time, or he and his command should share the fate which had been visited on the garrison at Fort Pillow.

I have hitherto borne in silence these outrageous assaults upon my character as a man and a soldier; but a decent regard for my own reputation, and a sense of duty to the brave gentlemen who fought under me during the late war, will not permit me to remain silent any longer. I must therefore ask you to be pleased to allow me to say, through the columns of the Times, that the charges made against me by your correspondent are utterly false, and that their falsity can be easily demonstrated by proof which is within easy reach.

The official report of the United States officer commanding at Fort Pillow, and the testimony reported by the Congressional Investigating Committee, of which Vice President Wade was chairman, show that the garrison consisted of only about 580 officers and men. Other proofs, which I can produce at any time, show that I captured and can account for more than 390 of these—sixty-five of them, who were badly wounded, having been delivered by me to the officer commanding a United States gunboat in the vicinity of the fort, and about 250, (an official descriptive list of whom is now in this city in the possession of General Thomas Jordan,) having been turned over by me to General Polk, at Demopolis, Ala. Of these captures men ninety were negro soldiers. Nor were the rest of the garrison all killed, for many of them effected their escape, while others were drowned in the attempt. It will thus be seen that the proportion of killed was not greater than is usual in the case of so severe a fight, accompanied by a desperate assault and defence.

ROMAN QUESTION SETTLED.—The Italian people are about to succeed in making Rome the Capital of their Kingdom, against the influence of Napoleon and the unwilling policy of their own Government. The dispatches inform us that Napoleon has agreed that Italy shall take possession of Rome, the Pope is to remain until his death, whence the temporal power of the Papacy is to cease altogether.

We have in our editorial life for the last dozen years and more been satisfied that to this complexion it must come at last. Ever since the movement for Italian national unity began, the completion of it by the possession of Rome has been "manifest destiny." It is the solution of a question which has interested the whole world. Rome we presume, will still be the central rest of the Catholic Church, and will increase in prosperity in consequence of the change.

The Catholics themselves, in various parts of the world, have been divided on the question of the temporal sovereignty of the Pope. That question is now settled. Rome still being the Spiritual Capital of the Church, the Pope's authority will be as great as ever, without insurrection at home again. The Roman and Italian people will become better Catholics now. The Italian Government will show the Pope all favor and reverence. Rome, as the Capital of States and of the Church, will become once more a grandly flourishing city.—Houston Telegraph.

The following are the returns from the Southern States in which registration has been completed:

	White.	Black.
Alabama	72,737	88,248
Georgia	95,808	98,617
Louisiana	44,723	82,805
Mississippi	52,154	76,019
Virginia	115,157	101,490

The total white vote in the above States is 380,074; total black, 436,639; black majority 55,965. The States remaining to be heard from will reduce the aggregate negro majority by a few thousand.—Houston Telegraph.

A negro man among the vice presidents at the Massachusetts Republican convention was loudly cheered as he announced the fact.

For Sale, THE large elegant Brick Livery Stable, connected with the Capitol Hotel, Marshall, Texas. The Stable is about 30 feet wide, and 240 deep, and is one of the most complete, conveniently arranged, and comfortable Stables in the State. My reason for desiring to sell it is, that I have not the time to give it the attention that it merits. Its receipts will show its value. I will sell it with the horses, mules, buggies, omnibuses,—in a word, a complete outfit for an elegant Livery Stable. Here is a chance for a bargain such as is seldom offered. G. W. L. DAWSON. SOMETHING OF INTEREST. The Common Sense Sewing Machine, Is the best in the land, I ween, No household is without it complete, And no other Machine can with it compete; It will sew from swiss to heaviest beaver Or any other cloth that's made by the weaver; It drives away sorrows, cares, and woes, And brings bright smiles wherever it goes; It brings to the cheek the roses of health, And fills the pocket with untold wealth. If you want a Machine that is simple, durable, and cheap; one that will stitch seams without basting, that will bind, braid, fell, tack, quilt, and embroider; one that guides the cloth without the aid of either hand; one that any girl ten years old can operate successfully, call and get it for $25, or send us your name and we will deliver it at your dwelling, and give instructions. MORE LIGHT! The Non-Explosive Petro Oil. Patented Oct. 16, 1866. WE call attention to this justly celebrated Non-Explosive Oil. Its Illuminating Power is as superior to Coal Oil as the Coal Oil is to the Tallow candle, it gives a more brilliant, a safer, and cleaner light than any other substance known, and will not grease any fabric—not even white cloth; and can be used in any Lamp that will burn Coal Oil, by attaching the celebrated Light House Burner. Reparator Capilli. Throw away false tresses, poor wretches, your wig— Destructive of comfort, and not worth a fig; Come aged, come youthful, come ugly and fair, And rejoice in your own luxuriant hair. REPARATOR CAPILLI. For restoring hair upon bald heads, (from whatever cause it may have fallen out) and forcing a growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of the hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousands of living witnesses (from their own experience) can bear witness. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It certainly is difficult, as nine-tenths of the different preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away large amounts in your purchase. To such we would say, try the Reparator Capilli; it will cost you nothing, unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your Druggist does not keep it, send us one dollar and we will forward it, post paid, together with a receipt, for the money, which will be returned to you on application, providing entire satisfaction is not given.
