VOL. XXIV.....No. 7,351. NEW-YORK, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1864. PRICE FOUR CENTS.

STARTLING DISCLOSURE.

Democratic Fraud Upon the Soldiers.

Their Letters Opened and the Votes Changed.

Special Dispatch to The N. Y. Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, Oct. 26, 1864.

The Military Commission, Major-General DOUBLEDAY, President, was ordered to suspend the trial of the blockade-traders to-day, and proceed to Baltimore forthwith, to investigate and try a recently-discovered case of most astounding fraud and forgery connected with the New-York State soldiers' votes.

The commission will leave by the first train to-morrow morning.

The charges are in brief, substituting "McCLELLAN" for "LINCOLN" votes in the original envelopes submitted by the soldiers, and in forging names thereto.

One box, over three feet long, containing many thousands of these fraudulent votes, has been seized. Others are known to have been sent to New-York.

The developments in this case promise to be of the most startling character.

From Another Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26, 1864.

Astounding discoveries have been made by the Government of intended frauds in regard to soldiers' votes.

The grounds of the confidence of leading Democrats of being able to carry New-York are now understood.

A systematic and wide-spread conspiracy has been brought to light carried on by agents here, at Baltimore, Harper's Ferry, and in the Army of the Potomac, under the immediate supervision and direction of the party in that State. Several of these agents have been arrested, and are now in jail, and others will be arrested as fast as proof can be collected, and proper provision can be made for their trial.

Men now in custody have been actively engaged in this business for weeks, and, as one of the parties involved declares, forged ballots of this kind have been forwarded in dry-goods' boxes full to New-York and Albany.

Judge HOLT, the Judge-Advocate-General, has had the papers laid before him, and has prepared a brief report on the subject. He pronounces the crime thus committed to be one of the most serious character, and it will be dealt with as such by the Government.

A Military Commission has already been ordered, and will meet to-morrow morning in Baltimore, under the Presidency of Gen. DOUBLEDAY, for the trial of two of the leading actors in this conspiracy, who are known to have been in direct and constant communication with leading members of the party.

The testimony in their cases, which I have seen and read, is full, direct and conclusive. It will leave not the slightest room for doubt that a gigantic conspiracy has been at work for months in maturing and executing a plan for defrauding the soldiers of their votes, and for overwhelming the suffrage of citizens at home, by the forged votes of thousands and tens of thousands of soldiers who have fallen in battle or died in the hospitals, or who have never existed. In some cases sealed envelopes containing "LINCOLN" ballots have been opened and "McCLELLAN" ballots have been substituted; but the main reliance of the conspirators has been in the forgery of signatures of pretended soldiers to papers transmitting "McCLELLAN and SEYMOUR" votes.

The court-martial which meets to-morrow for the purpose of trying the parties already arrested, will make short work of the case, and the Government will not hesitate to carry into effect whatever sentence they may pronounce.

Other parties implicated will be sent before them as rapidly as possible; and all the agents in the affair are under the vigilant surveillance of the Government.

You must not be surprised if these disclosure and arrests should touch some persons high in political authority.

Among other things discovered in this city, was the headquarters of a set of gentlemen busily engaged in filling up commissions of agents, signed in blank, and some of the parties involved themselves hold commissions.

FROM SHERIDAN'S ARMY.

On the Old Position—Fifty-seven Guns Taken—Being Thirty-two from the Rebels and all Our Own—Five Thousand Prisoners—Who Planned the Flank Movement—Col. Thoburn Murdered.

From Our Special Correspondent.

MIDDLE MILITARY DIVISION, CAMP NEAR CEDAR CREEK, Sunday, Oct. 23, 1864.

The army occupies its old position, each corps, division and brigade having the same camping ground as that from which they were driven by surprise on the morning of the 19th. The enemy was driven as far as Edenburg, and the cavalry now report "none to be found." They switched off upon all side and mountain roads, and run wagons and caissons down into swamps and almost impenetrable woods in hopes to elude pursuit, but they were hunted out, and our cavalry "took everything on wheels." A train three miles long, consisting of our own wagons and ambulances recaptured, and those of the enemy were seen coming in over Fisher's Hill yesterday. The number of cannon now reported captured is fifty-seven, with mules, harness and appliances to boot—that is to say,

Guns captured	57
Our own taken back	25
Captured over and above our losses	32 Guns.

Five thousand prisoners were taken—in round numbers. One thousand have gone forward; the rest will follow soon. Small arms captured about five thousand. We took all their medical wagons and ambulances.

WHO PLANNED THE FLANK MOVEMENT?

The Rebels among the wounded and others, assert that the credit of conceiving and urging the flank movement upon our left through Suray Valley, is due to Gen. GORDON. Both EARLY and GORDON accompanied the troops over the mountain. The cause of their sad reverse is attributed to lack of discipline in the Rebel Army. As soon as they had carried the position and found themselves in possession of our abandoned camps, they threw down their guns and began to plunder and quarrel over the spoils. Gen. GORDON, seeing the prevailing demoralization, another difficulty of keeping the troops in line on account of the large number of stragglers, it is said advised EARLY to take what plunder he had secured and fall back at once. Disregarding this advice, gave our army time to recover from the first surprise—more, it gave us SHERIDAN, and turned a disgraceful disaster into one of the completest victories of the war. No one now believes it possible for such a surprise and skedaddle to occur again.

It is dearly-purchased experience; but, while lamenting the loss of brave men, we now see that it was a deserved chastisement for undue confidence, and will be a valuable lesson. Those familiar with all the circumstances assert that there was no lack of vigilance. A court of inquiry will no doubt settle all these disputed points. Good judges assert that had SHERIDAN been at home he could not have prevented what occurred. It was fortunate for his well-earned reputation that he was not here. His timely arrival; the arresting of a general and disorderly retreat on Hallitown, or some other place, and hurling back his scattered forces in reunited ranks upon the enemy, driving them in panic, rout and disorder far beyond their original starting point, and the capture of so much of their material of war, adds a crowning wreath to his fame as a commander, as there has not been during this war—perhaps in no other—an instance where the power of one man was so strikingly exhibited over an army.

The troops are pleased with themselves, and each man now believes he can whip a stack of wild cats.

Gen. RAMSEUR, who died at Gen. SHERIDAN's headquarters, stated that there were twenty-three thousand infantry in the attacking party. Of these, two divisions passed the Massanutten Mountain, marching all night, so as to come in on our left flank. They marched in single file. The remainder, eleven thousand, attacked in front and along the right, after the first shock had been felt on the left. Besides these, a considerable body of cavalry come over the mountain, and pushed rapidly up the pike after our works had been carried, for the purpose of capturing our wagon trains. It was here that Col. THOBURN, commanding the First Division of CROOK'S Army of West Virginia, was treacherously surprised and murdered. The act was nothing less. He was rallying his men, when a man in our own uniform approached him, of course without suspicion, and when getting close to his side, remarked, "That is a fine horse you are riding, Colonel, you had better give him to me," and immediately presented his revolver and shot him. The Colonel seldom carried any weapons on his person, and had no means of defending himself. He was robbed of money, watch, and clothing—everything. The bastard, a Rebel Lieutenant, who committed this act, did not get the horse. It was recovered. The Colonel died at midnight.

In Col. THOBURN the country has lost the services of one of the bravest and most able, yet most unassuming officers in its long list of good men. All our wounded and dead who fell during the first attack, and while falling back over the field, were stripped of clothing, shoes and valuables. Many who lay all day unable to move while the fight was progressing, with the bullets from both armies in turn flying over and around them, were shot when the Rebels finally fell back at night. Several wounded men, lying in hospital at Newton, stated these facts to me. We have removed all the Rebel wounded to hospitals within our lines, and treated them with the same care and tenderness as our own soldiers. For the sake of humanity I am willing to regard the monsters in the Rebel army as exceptional cases. Some of our wounded state that Rebel soldiers stopped, pitied and gave them water.

Our wounded have all been sent to Winchester, with the exception of a very few of the worst cases, and some thirty Confederate wounded. Many of these cases are mortal. Several Union officers remain, three of whom are in the care of Dr. McCLELLAN, of the 67th Connecticut; they are endorsed in the list sent herewith. There should be added the name of Lieut. KORBEN, of the 114th New-York, reported to be mortally wounded.

Col. WM. CURTIS, of the 13th West Virginia, is in command of the post at Newtown. Dr. Kleine, Asst. Surgeon of the 20th New-York Volunteers, has gone to Winchester in charge of the last wounded from Newtown.

All quiet at the front as I close my letter. E. S.
