MACKAYE DEAD.

The Famous Playwright Dies in Colorado,

While on the Train Near La Junta.

MISTAKE OF DOCTORS.

Treated for One Disease and Had Another.

LA JUNTA, Col., Feb. 26.—The actor and playwright Steele Mackaye arrived in La Junta over the Santa Fe road Saturday morning at 9:30 in the special car of George R. Peck, general counsel for the Santa Fe company. Mr. Mackaye was accompanied by his wife, a nurse and Dr. H. N. D. Parker. They came West from Chicago. Mr. Mackaye was supposed to be suffering from nervous exhaustion, caused by overwork, and was on his way to San Diego, Cal.

He was feeling quite badly when he arrived here, and until 7:20 yesterday morning, when the car was detached and left here the party started to go south, as Mr. Mackaye seemed to be resting easier. He rapidly grew worse, and died before the train reached the next station. He was conscious to the last, bade all those around him goodby, and said they had done all they could for him.

Dr. Parker and Dr. Finney, the Santa Fe surgeon at this point, held an autopsy and found the cause of death to be a cancer in the stomach.

Some of the best physicians in Chicago had examined him and all decided his ailment was nervous exhaustion, except one who declared it to be a cancer.

The deceased weighed about 230 pounds and was 51 years old. He leaves a wife and six children—five boys and one girl, all grown.

Biographical.

Steele Mackaye was born at Fort Porter now a portion of the city of Buffalo, about fifty-six years ago. His father was the processor of the celebrated Mackaye family of express companies of America. At the age of 16 the over-exertion to which Steele's intellectual precocity had urged him, resulted in a general physical collapse and a trip abroad followed. While slowly convalescing in France he occupied himself with painting and modeling. At the breaking out of the rebellion he returned to his native country and enlisted as a common soldier, and before the war was over was gazetted major. Returning to France at the close of the war he resumed his artistic studies, resolved to apply himself to dramatic work. Returning to America by way of England, he was persuaded by Tom Taylor, in London, to assume the title role of Hamlet in a grand revival of that play. The success of Mackaye's interpretation of Hamlet was so great that the engagement was prolonged far beyond the intended duration.

Probably nothing but another of the serious illnesses which have marked crises in Mr. Mackaye's career diverted him from a lifetime of Shakespearean interpretations. Recovering, he produced in connection with Tom Taylor two plays in London with marked success, "Arkwright's Wife" and "Clancarty." With Charles Reade he collaborated a play entitled "Jealousy." In 1873, while at work with George Eliot upon a dramatization of "Silas Marner," he was recalled to America upon important business, where he has lived ever since, working for the stage as a teacher, lecturer, inventor, manager, playwright and actor. Following is a list of his productions in America:

In 1872 "Marriage," 1875 "Rose Michel," 1876 "Queen and Woman," 1877 "Won at Last," 1879 "Through the Dark," 1879 "An Iron Will," 1881 "Hazel Kirke," 1881 "A Fool's Errand," 1884 "Dakolar," 1885 "In Spite of All," 1888 "The Drama of Civilization," 1889 "Ricard," reconstructed and rewritten for Lawrence Barrett 1887, "Anarchy," produced again the same year as "Paul Revere," 1889 "A Noble Rogue," 1889, "Arrah Arrah Kanah," 1890, "Colonel Tom," 1890, "Money Mad."

The successful operation of the double stage with which the Madison Square theater was equipped, was Mackaye's first recommendation as an inventor. He also invented the orchestra curtain and the folding chair, his experiments in which he carried out Mackaye's on a new system of scenic representation. This system is that now exhibited at the Scenitorium in Chicago, and the unfinished Spectatorium was designed to accommodate it.

FATAL BLUNDER OF DOCTORS.

Publisher Munro Dies from the Effects of an Unnecessary Operation.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Norman L. Munro, the publisher of the Family Story Paper, Fireside Companion and other story papers, died Saturday night. Mr. Munro had undergone an operation for appendicitis, but it was afterwards found that the patient was not suffering from the disease, and that the operation was not necessary. Heart failure is given as the immediate cause of death.

Ex-Congressman Strait Dead.

EL PASO, Tex., Feb. 26.—Just as the Mexican Central train arrived here yesterday morning at 8 o'clock a passenger, ex-Congressman Major H. B. Strait, who for twelve years represented Minnesota in the lower house at Washington, breathed his last. He was a pioneer of Minnesota.

Cleveland on a Duck Hunt.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The snow was falling thick and fast, the White house grounds were under a mantle of about six inches and the wind was driving the flakes under the umbrellas and down the necks of the few persons who were compelled to traverse the streets last evening, when the White house carriage drove up to the Executive mansion and President Cleveland and two associates started on their second pleasure trip down the Potomac river.

The president's companions are Secretary Gresham and Captain Roblay D. Evans, secretary of the lighthouse board.

Double Tragedy in Kansas.

OTTAWA, Kan., Feb. 26.—The quiet little town of Princetown, ten miles south of here, was thrown into a fever of excitement last night by a desperate attempt at a double tragedy, in which one Harry Hall, a section hand on the Southern Kansas railway, wounded Mrs. Leeds, widow of the late postmaster of that place, and immediately sent a bullet crashing through his brain and died instantly.

Washington Masonic Temple Destroyed.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The Masonic temple was totally destroyed by fire early yesterday.

PRINCESS COLONNA TALKS.

She Submits to an Interview Regarding Her Husband's Actions.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Before the Princess Colonna left New York for San Francisco she granted an interview to the editor of L'Eco d'Italia. She said she was indignant at the falsity of some of the accusations against the prince when some of the papers said the prince was one of the most dangerous gamblers and a cheat. They mistook him for Lamberta Colonna, who was expelled from the club in Rome for cheating. However, she said, the prince is a man of terribly violent character.

"One night in Paris," said she, "because I refused to ask my step-father, Mr. Mackay, for more money for him, he threw a bottle of wine at me, and it was only by miracle that I escaped being struck. It is not true that Mr. Mackay sent us $1,000,000 to pay the prince's debts, but it is true Mr. Mackay often sent us large sums to pay various debts of the prince. It is also untrue that I was obliged to sell my wedding presents to pay his debts, but I was forced to pawn my jewels several times. Like all professional gamblers, my husband had his good and bad days at the gaming table, but when he won he wasted large sums of money. That is not all I have against him. His behavior toward me was unbearably insulting. I remained with him eight years in the hope there would be some change, as I wanted to repay the many kindly acts of my uncle, the Prince Stigliani. Finally I could bear it no longer. I shall start at once for San Francisco, where I shall begin proceedings to obtain the annulment of my marriage."

MISSOURI CROP REPORT.

Conditions Favorable for a Fair Wheat Crop—Peaches Have Been Killed.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Feb. 26.—J. R. Riley, secretary of the Missouri board of agriculture, in a report on the crop condition of the state, says: While conditions have not been the most favorable for seeding or germination, and the protection afforded by snow has been insufficient, yet the plant is in fairly good condition, and under favorable circumstances should make a fair crop of wheat.

Reports of fruit prospects would indicate that the apple and berry crop is in fairly good condition. Practically all the peaches are killed, except in the southeast section, where there may be half a crop.

Stock is reported in good, healthy condition, wintering in fine shape, and but few cases of contagious or infectious diseases are reported.

A VERY SICK MAN.

Chairman Wilson Down With Typhoid Fever in Mexico.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The following telegram has been received at the department of state:

CITY OF MEXICO, Feb. 24.—Secretary of State, Washington: Mr. Wilson has developed a marked typhoid fever. General condition grave, though fever is yet of a mild type. Dr. Mallet Prevots, whom I sent from here to Aguas Calintes to see him, has had him removed to Guadalajara, which he considers the location which will give him the best sanitary surroundings in Mexico. To bring him to this city would be most dangerous. He will have the best attention.

CRITTENDEN,
U. S. Consul General.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Feb. 26.—Twenty-five Republican editors, who were here attending the League convention, perfected a temporary organization of a Republican editorial association of Missouri. Search for the murderers was conducted quietly and news comes of the arrest of the Smith woman near Rocky Mountain and Pace on an adjoining farm.

Man and Wife Foully Slain.

STROUDSBURG, Pa., Feb. 26.—Richard Prior, a negro employed on the Wilkesbarre and Eastern railroad, last night shot and instantly killed Christian Ebler, a merchant, in his home at White Oak Run, this county, and also fatally wounded his wife. Their son, aged about 12 years, escaped by jumping from a window.

Earthquakes in Nebraska.

ARCADIA, Neb., Feb. 26.—An earthquake shock was felt here yesterday morning about 5:30, lasting over one minute. It passed from north to south, jarring the windows like heavy thunder and shaking plastering from ceilings.

NEWS NOTES.

Ex-County Clerk J. R. Bradley of Shannon county, Missouri, is under arrest on the charge of forging county warrants and making false entries.

Corbett and Mitchell sparred four friendly rounds at Madison Square Garden, New York, for the benefit of the destitute of that city. An immense crowd was present.

Judge Tuthill severely reprimanded Judge Wing for saying in his argument for Dan Coughlin that the courts had murdered Burke and O'Sullivan.

Attorney General Ellis, State Secretary Joachim, State Treasurer Bunbitxer, Land Commissioner Berry and three clerks of the canvassing board have been indicted as a result of an investigation of the Michigan salary grab frauds.

SEVEN CREMATED.

Whole Family Burned to Death in Arkansas.

Spark from Fireplace Started the Fire.

NOTHING BUT ASHES

Remained of the Parents and Children.

GURDON, Ark., Feb. 26.—News has reached here of the burning of a farm house and its occupants ten miles west of Murfreesboro, in Pike county, on Wednesday night. John Wert, a farmer, his wife and five children occupied the house, and all perished in the flames. The building was constructed of logs, with a large fireplace built at each end. While the family were asleep fire flew upon the floor and in that manner the dry timbers and other inflammable material soon became ignited. When discovered the next day the entire building was reduced to ashes and only the charred bodies of the occupants remained.

AN ASYLUM BURNED.

All the Inmates Saved but Two—The Building a Total Loss.

VINELAND, N. J., Feb. 26.—Two lives were lost and a score placed in imminent peril by a fire which consumed a portion of the Home for Feeble-Minded Children of this place yesterday. The victims were J. H. Sage, the engineer of the institution, and his wife, who acted as laundress.

MOUND CITY, Kan., Feb. 26.—Mrs. Jane Fulton, an elderly lady living alone in this city, met with a terrible death by fire yesterday about 11 o'clock. Her house was burned to the ground and her charred remains found in the ruins.

DYNAMITE PROOF SAFES.

Wells-Fargo Express Company Will Head Off Train Robbers Hereafter.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—The Wells-Fargo express company, profiting from its recent experiences with train robbers, has about decided to adopt the plan now in operation on the Santa Fe system in order to discourage the holding up of trains and looting of express boxes. Heavy burglar proof safes will be placed in each express car for the safe keeping of all valuables and money in transit and to protect express messengers and keep robbers out of the safes. The combination will be known only to the company's agents at stations along the road. It will be the duty of agents to put their packages into the safes on trains and to take therefrom such packages as the express managers notify them are in the safes to be delivered to them. The safes will be dynamite proof.

THE SEIGNIORAGE FIGHT.

Bland Will Keep It Up in the House if It Takes All Winter.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The battle over the Bland seigniorage bill will go merrily on in the house this week. Despite the many reverses Mr. Bland has met in his attempts to procure a quorum he is as determined as ever to fight it out on this line if it takes all winter. If he does not succeed, however, in the course of a few days it is not probable the speaker and his associates on the rules committee will permit his bill to longer block the path of business. As the opponents of the measure have now adopted an open filibustering policy, a rule will be formulated by the committee on rules to prevent this, and bring the vote down directly to Mr. Bland's motion.

AN ARCTIC EXPEDITION.

A Voyage to the North Pole Will Again Soon Be Started.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—An Arctic expedition with the North pole as its objective point, has been discussed here this week and will start on its journey soon. Walter Wellman, who for some years has been a prominent newspaper correspondent here, is the projector and leader of the enterprise. In the party are three other Americans—Professor Fremon, of the coast and geodetic survey, who goes as the scientific observer; Dr. Thomas B. Mohund, of this city, as medical officer, and Charles C. Dodge, of the navy department, as artist and photographer.

Big Strike in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—At a labor meeting yesterday it was decided to call out all the men of the allied building trades now employed on the new Stock Exchange building in support of the carpenters, who have been on a strike for some time. Tariff Bill is About Ready.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—It is the intention of the senate finance committee to report the tariff bill to the senate to-day unless the Republicans offer some strenuous objections. Following this it is expected that Senator Voorhees will give notice he will call up the bill on the following Monday and ask that it be kept before the senate until disposed of.

Rev. John McAllister Killed at Wichita.

WICHITA, Kan., Feb. 26.—Rev. John McAllister, father of the county coroner, was run over on Main street yesterday by the carriage of Ex-Commander Dr. Furley of the G. A. R. and killed. The latter's sight is not good, and he is wholly blameless.

SOVEREIGN IS DEFIANT.

He Will Violate the Injunction Issued by Judge Jenkins.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Feb. 26.—George W. Howard, vice president of the American Railway Union, organized a branch with 175 members yesterday afternoon. The general executive board of the Knights of Labor and General J. B. Weaver were present. After the organization Weaver and General Master Workman Sovereign made speeches.

In reference to the injunction against him by Judge Jenkins, Sovereign said: "I am going to Winona, Minn., to-night and will speak there Monday. On Tuesday and Wednesday I shall be in St. Paul and Minneapolis to talk to the Northern Pacific employes, and as sure as there is a God in heaven, I will violate that injunction of Judge Jenkins'. It is infamous and an outrage on all working men.

"Who is Judge Jenkins, anyhow? Simply a man with a soul to damn. I fear no courts. If there is a United States marshal here let him serve his process."

The speech caused a sensation in the meeting, but was received with great applause.

SATOLLI'S MISSION.

Caustic Comments of Rev. Madison C. Peters on the School Question.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Rev. Madison C. Peters, in his sermon last night at the Bloomingdale Reformed church, said: "Satolli's cautious concessions on the school question, made when he first arrived here, won him the good will of the American people. But he has shown himself to be a man of many masks. If Americans need any outside aid in settling her educational system they would prefer to dismiss ador from a land, if it can be found, where the standard of education is higher than it is in the United States. It is an insult to American intelligence to have a man sent here to dictate in reference to our schools who can not speak our language and who comes from a nation where at least seventy out of 100 persons cannot neither read nor write. If Americans still cherish the spirit of 1776, Satolli would be placed in a pneumatic gun of solid American sentiment and fired to Italy forthwith."

BAYARD TO RESIGN.

He Doesn't Like British Weather or British Society.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—Hon. Thomas F. Bayard, United States ambassador to the court of St. James, has tired of his exalted position and is anxious to return to his mother country. This can be stated upon undisputable authority.

His feelings and views in the matter were communicated in a private letter to President Cleveland some six weeks ago. His desire to return to the states is based upon several grounds. For one thing, the climate does not agree with him, and since the beginning of the winter he has been compelled to exercise unusual care to avoid the consequences of the raw, damp atmosphere, the injurious influences of which hundreds and thousands of visiting Americans have had reason to remember.

The number of functions which he is called upon to attend in a social and semi-official capacity also furnishes a reason for the incongruity of the position. The ex-senator has never taken kindly to the functions of society, and even during his residence in Washington as a member of the senate and of Mr. Cleveland's first cabinet, he always preferred the quiet and retirement of his home in Wilmington, Delaware.

This trait of his character was even more strongly marked after the untimely death of his son-in-law, which occurred very soon after his daughter had become a bride. There are other reasons why he would prefer to return to the United States, but these are the principal ones.

REBEL TRANSPORT BURNED.

Horrible Scenes Witnessed in the Burning of the Transport Mercurio.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Feb. 26.—The destruction of the insurgent transport Mercurio, which was sunk by the fire of the guns of the government battery at Ponto Madame, is said to have resulted in the burning to death of a considerable number of rebels. Horrible scenes were witnessed during the attempts of the insurgents to escape from the ship.

Two Lively Prize Fights.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—The entire pugilistic fraternity deserted San Francisco yesterday, going by steamer to Wildwood Glen, near Sausalito, where two lively mills were fought. Dan Hickey of Australia was knocked out in four rounds by Henry Peppers, a negro from Los Angeles, and Jerry Marshal, the negro who fought Griffo to a draw in Australia, knocked out Charlie Sweeney, also of Australia, in the first round. Sweeney did not regain his senses for several minutes.

Mistaken for Burglars and Killed.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Feb. 26.—William Farrar of St. Louis, who has been on a prolonged spree at St. Charles, Ark., and a Mr. Ballard were shot and killed by William Parker, a young merchant. Farrar in a drunken frenzy attempted to burst in the door of the store in the rear room of which Ballard and Parker were sleeping. Ballard went out to see what was going on when Parker awoke and taking Ballard and Farrar for burglars, killed them.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Feb. 26.—The men at work in the Gaylord mine, in which the thirteen unfortunate miners are entombed, made good headway yesterday. Thirty-one feet of the wall had been cleared out by midnight, but no trace has been found of the men for whom the search is being made.

Five Famous Etchings.

The passenger department of the New York Central has just issued a series of five beautiful etchings, which artistically outrank anything of the kind ever issued by a railroad company, while the absence of any advertising feature renders them suitable for hanging in your office, library or home.

A brief description of each, with a glance at their titles, is all that is necessary to obtain a fair idea of the pictures.

No. 1 is "Washington Bridge," which spans the Harlem river at 181st street—one of the finest bridges in the world, and a marvel of engineering. In the distance is Highbridge, the Croton viaduct. In the foreground a characteristic river scene, that will be recognized by any one at all familiar with the locality.

No. 2.—"Rock of Ages, Niagara Falls," from a photo by William H. Jackson & Co., Denver. A view that has been admired by every one who has seen it. The soft tones in which it is printed add greatly to the effect of the falling waters and spray.

No. 3.—"Old Spring at West Point," also from a photo by William H. Jackson & Co., Denver. A romantic scene, recalling memories of summer days at the famous military academy.

No. 4.—"999 and the DeWitt Clinton." The famous Empire State Express Engine "999" which occassioned such widespread comment at the World's fair, occupies the top half of the card, and below appears the old "DeWitt Clinton," affording a truly remarkable example of the progress of railroad science in the past fifty years.

No. 5.—"Rounding the Nose, Mohawk Valley." One of the handsomest railroad pictures ever made. The scene is just below Little Falls.

These etchings are all printed on fine plate paper, 24x32 inches, suitable for framing. Copies of either of them can be procured at the office of W. B. Jerome, 97 Clark street, Chicago, for 50 cents, or will be mailed in stiff tube, secure from injury, to any address, postpaid, for 75 cents each, or the entire set for $3.00 in currency, stamps, express or postal money order, upon application to George H. Daniels, general passenger agent, Grand Central station, New York.

Catarrh

In Its Worst Form

Life Almost a Burden

A Glorious Change Due Solely to Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Mrs. C. King
Geneva, Ohio.

Catarrh is a constitutional disease, and therefore it can only be cured by a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla. Read what it did for Mrs. King, concisely expressed in her own voluntary words:

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Gentlemen:—From a grateful heart I write what your grand medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla, has done for me. Five bottles cured me of catarrh in its worst form. I think it was only a matter of time, when it would have ended in Bronchial Consumption.

I can scarcely realize wherein a few months ago life was almost a burden, sick and discouraged, now I am well and happy, gaining flesh and a new being. And all owing to Hood's Sarsaparilla. I will never be without it. Yours gratefully. MRS. CLARK KING, Geneva, Ohio.
