The Bureau of Statistics has prepared an elaborate combination of data regarding the coffee industry in Porto Rico and Hawaii, which, taken together with the information concerning the possibilities in the Philippines, demonstrates that a duty on coffee would speedily establish the industry in all our colonial possessions on a sound commercial basis. In the meantime the revenue that would be derived from importations from Brazil and other foreign countries would settle the problem presented by the current Treasury deficit.—Washington Corres. CASES INVOLVING BIG COUNTY QUESTIONS APPEALED

The papers in no less than three big County cases were this morning filed before the Supreme Court, to which appeals have been taken from the rulings of the Circuit Judges.

The most important of these cases is that of John T. Moir vs. Henry A. Knell, the Hilo case, in which the question of with whom the power of appointment of police officers is brought up. Knell was appointed by Sheriff Keolanui and Judge Parsons rendered judgment in favor of plaintiff ousting Knell from his office as police officer, from which judgment Knell has appealed.

In the case of Norman K. Lyman vs. Chas. Maguire, the Auditor of the County of Hawaii, the petition for a writ of mandamus to compel Maguire to issue a warrant to Lyman was denied by Judge Parsons, and Lyman appeals.

In the third matters, the quo warranto proceedings instituted by C. H Willis against D. Kanealii, for the purpose of taking his place as Supervisor at Large for the County of Kauai, Kanealii appeals from Judge Hardy's decision in Willis' favor.

HONOLULU BOY IS HERO

August Santos, a Portuguese boy, a son of the late guitar maker, Jesus de Espirito Santos, of Honolulu, a steward on the transport Logan, became a hero by assisting a number of drowning persons to safety during a typhoon which passed over Manila Bay some weeks ago. The Logan was in the midst of the storm but was not damaged. Hundreds of Filipinos were rescued from the water by members of the transport's crew. Santos also assisted in rescuing a Chinese craft off the coast of Hongkong some weeks previous to the Manila disaster.

LIFE OF PROMISE WAS CUT SHORT

The passing away of Lillian Genevieve Waity on Sunday morning, Oct. 15, from heart failure, was one of the saddest events which has happened in this community for some time past. The coming womanhood of this city suffers more in the loss of this gentle and gifted girl than it could well afford. Her former school-mates of Punahou, her present class at the High School, the members of her Sunday school class and Christian Endeavorers, with their floral offerings all bore witness to the deep affection in which she was held by those who knew her best. Returning from the Coast last July, she entered the High School at the beginning of the present term, and was to have received a double promotion at Christmas. She was possessed of a voice of high culture and sweetness and music was her greatest ambition. The last sad rites were held on Monday afternoon. The floral offerings were both handsome and numerous literally covering the casket, and transforming the rooms into a veritable fairy land. The services were held at the home, the Rev. Mr. Turner officiating; music being rendered by Miss Durena, Miss Waddington, Hugo Herzer and Philip Hall. Interment was had at Nuuanu cemetery. The pallbearers being: J. F. Humburg, C. Bon, C. Musgrave, J. P. Rego, E. Campbell and Ed Towse. Her former classmates attended in a body, decorating her desk in the class room which will know her no more. Thus passed away one of the sweetest and most lovable of girls.

She was born in Whatcom, Wash., Aug. 14, 1890, so had just passed the 15th milestone. The sympathy of the whole community goes out to those left to mourn their loss.

BORN.

FAGEROOS — In this city, Oct. 23, to the wife of V. J. Fageroos, a son.

ONE CONVENTION SAYS W. W. HARRIS BUT MORE DELEGATES

Representative W. W. Harris does not favor the idea, recently advanced by Senator John Lane, of separate district and county conventions. These matters are being generally discussed in view of the proposed revision of Republican party rules, a report on which is expected from the special revision committee of the Territorial Central Committee at the meeting of the latter on the first Saturday of next month.

Representative Fred T. P. Waterhouse has expressed his ideas to the effect that the district committees, except as sub-committees of the county committee, should be done away with. Senator Lane has declared for separate conventions and a multiplicity of delegates as serving to discourage machine politics. Now Representative Harris strikes something of a medium. He said this morning:

"I think one county convention should handle the work. I do not see the necessity of district conventions. One county convention for the nomination of candidates for both Houses and for county offices is my idea.

"I would double the number of delegates—triple them if necessary, but favor but one convention outside of the Territorial convention.

"The idea of a District convention meeting and, after nominating to the Legislature, adjourning sine die, it seems to me, would not entice a lot of the more prominent men in politics merely to meet and nominate and then adjourn; they would want to carry on the work in committees.

"The best men would run for the County convention, for, under the rules, the County convention will handle the work. We might get a lot of undesirable delegates to the proposed District convention, merely for the reason that there would be little inducement in the way of working for the party in the idea of just meeting to nominate to the Legislature and then quitting work. The one County convention would bring the work together and, it seems to me, an appreciable increase in the number of delegates would meet the danger of machine politics.

Tomorrow evening the Research Club has a musical evening at the residence of Mr. W. W. Hall, Nuuanu street. The annual business meeting for the election of officers will be held at the same time.
