Consul Schmidt Bankrupt

H. W. Schmidt, the Consul of Sweden and Norway, who at one time was one of Honolulu's most prominent business men, today filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy, showing liabilities at $37,837 37 and virtually no assets. The liabilities, which are all due to creditors whose claims are unsecured, are shown to be as follows:

Lunalilo Estate, judgment	$ 15,227 91
Bishop & Co.	11,154 26
W. R. Castle and E. H. Paris	3,000 00
Bank of Hawaii	765 20

E. E. Conant	1,500 00
J. F. Hackfeld	2,200 00
F. A. Schaefer	1,100 00
A. Dreier	1,000 00
A. G. M. Robertson, services	50 00
Dr. Day, services	40 00
Dr. Taylor, services	20 00
W. Wolters	500 00
Total	$ 37,537 37

The only asset shown is $300, represented by household goods, furniture, household stores, wearing apparel and personal ornament, which is claimed to be exempt.

SUPERVISORS WON'T IMPEACH TONIGHT

Oahu Supervisors meet at 7:30 tonight for the transaction of regular month-end business. It is not likely that the Board will resolve itself into a board of impeachment for the trial of Deputy Sheriff Kekauoha of Koolau, for the detailed charges being prepared by County Attorney Douthitt are not yet ready. The preparation of these charges involves a great deal of protracted labor.

K. Ota feels that he is a lucky man, for he was able to prove to Judge Whitney this morning that he was innocent of having intentionally done wrong. He had been arrested for having in his possession a stolen bicycle, but he made it evident that he was not aware that the man from whom he obtained it had not gotten it honestly. Thus there was no prosecution of his case, but it is believed he will be careful in the future in dealing with strangers.

LITTLE JAP HAS CURIOUS TROUBLE

By Obeying His Mother He Finds Himself In Court

Masakichi is a poor little Japanese boy who found himself in serious trouble by being obedient to the authority of his mother. He knew that the law required him to go to school, and he knew also that he was required by law to obey his parents. So when his mother, owing to the trouble of moving, told him to stay at home for a few days, he was at a loss to know what to do. The instinct to obey his parent, however, proved to be the stronger, and so he did not show up in the class room for a few days.

Yesterday the police hunted little Masakichi up and brought him to the station. The big policemen with their uniforms and glittering stars rather scared the poor little Jap. It might have gone hard with him had not his mother come to his aid this morning when his case was called in court, and earnestly pleaded for his release. She told how she had been at fault, and assured the Court that her boy would go to school promptly if he were given a chance. After considering the case for a little while, Judge Whitney said the boy could go home and sentence would be suspended for two weeks in order to allow reform. Masakichi is free again, but he feels that he is a very much abused little Jap and that this is a very unjust world where a fellow must be obedient to opposing authorities.
