SENATE

ties and the Boards of Education and Health. He furthermore expressed the belief that it would be extremely unwise to turn the maintenance of school houses over to the Counties.

Fairchild Champions

Senator Fairchild took the floor as champion of the bill, expressing the belief that the supervision of the Boards of Supervisors was very much needed at this time. He therefore asked that action be deferred until legal counsel could be employed, saying that he did not care to pit himself against the legal acumen of President Smith.

McCarthy wanted typewritten copies of the amended bill placed in the hands of the Senators.

Senator Knudsen took the stand that Boards of Supervisors are far more suitable authorities to have charge of the schools than the Territorial officials.

Fairchild said that Kauai can take care of its affairs better than the Territory has taken care of them.

Action was finally deferred until tomorrow, when the attorneys who went over the bill will be present.

No Purchasing Agent

There will be no Territorial Purchasing Agent appointed yet awhile. The Senate, on recommendation of the Judiciary Committee, this morning concurred in the House amendment to the law.

In making the report, Chairman Knudsen of the committee stated that, though his committee favored having a purchasing agent, the members were not satisfied that so radical a step should be taken at this time.

The report of the committee was adopted.

Senate Bill No. 113, giving the right of appeal in contempt cases, was tabled on recommendation of the Judiciary Committee.

The bill provided that any person sentenced for contempt of court by a District Magistrate could take an appeal to the Circuit Court. The Judiciary Committee reported that the bill struck at the right of District Magistrates to keep order in their courts, and therefore recommended that it be tabled. Only Coelho supported the bill, which was sent to the Senatorial boneyard in short order.

Vaccination Law Again.

House Bill No. 53, repealing the law refusing admittance to schools of children having no certificates of vaccination passed third reading without opposition, a unanimous vote being taken.

Divide the Coin.

The sum of $1670.63 will be apportioned out among the various counties. This money is the balance of the special road tax fund on hand in the Territorial treasury. Senate Bill No. 137, providing for the disposition of the money passed third reading this morning.

Special Tax Bill Side-Stepped.

Senate Bill No. 139, providing for a special tax of one-quarter of one per cent for internal improvements, was side-tracked this morning. On motion of Senator Knudsen it was left on the order of the day with the understanding that it should not come up until called for.

Relief for Tolleffson.

D. Tolleffson will receive $250 to reimburse him for his yacht, which was lost while being used by the leper settlement in a search for taro. Senate Bill No. 107 passed second reading after the insertion of the Tolleffson item and with all of the items except the claim of W. K. Keoho for damages for the desecration of his family burying ground, stricken out.

Tax Exemption Law.

There was a little opposition to Senate Bill No. 154, in re tax exemption, but on vote it passed third reading unanimously. Fairchild objected to any plan that would reduce the revenue of the Territory, but he was out of the room when the roll was called.

A wireless message from the Hilo Board of Trade, endorsing the protest of the Shippers' Wharf Committee, against placing health matters under the control of the counties, was read and ordered filed.

No Nets in Hilo Harbor.

House Bill No. 161, prohibiting fishing with nets in Hilo Harbor, passed second reading. This bill was referred to the Hawaii delegation and was favorably reported, it being claimed that the young fish are rapidly being cleared out of the harbor.

Jailors Cause of Dispute.

Action on House Bill No. 90, giving to the Sheriffs the authority to appoint the jailors of their respective counties, was deferred until tomorrow. The Judiciary Committee offered an amendment making the Sheriffs responsible for the safe-keeping of the prisoners in the county jail.

Routine.

House Bill No. 38, relating to merchandise licenses, passed second reading by the adoption of the favorable committee report.

House Bill No. 208, fixing the license for wireless telegraph companies, passed first reading.

A New Mix-Up.

A new mix-up has developed in the matter of turning fines, costs, etc., over to the counties. Senate Bill No. 30, the bill making the transfer, came up from the House, so amended that little of its original resemblance remained. The bill was handed over to the Ways and Means Committee to be figured out.

Proposed Sewer Tax.

Senate Bill No. 141, providing that property benefitted by the Honolulu sewer system may be taxed to help defray the cost of installing the system, went to the Judiciary Committee.

Coelho moved that his merchandise license bill be tabled. The motion prevailed and the bill was sent to slumberland.

Senate Bill No. 76, providing for the payment of witness and mileage fees, passed third reading without any opposition.

Semi-Annual Tenders.

House Concurrent Resolution No. 18, directing that semi-annual bids for supplies be called for by the Territory, was adopted.

House Concurrent Resolution No. 19, suggesting the scale of expenditures for the Board of Agriculture, went to the Ways and Means Committee.

GRAFT HEARINGS

vious fact, carefully overlooked by the House, that the resolution under which the Graft Committee was appointed, calls for the committee to investigate merely into the charge that certain members have received compensation other than authorized by law.

"This is a farce," said Kaleiopu. And Long kokuaed the statement. There is nothing said about the officers of the House and others. The committee should be allowed to examine into the accounts of the Printing Committee, the Accounts Committee, etc.

"Graft is graft so far as I know anything about the proposition," said Shingle, "and unless the House wants the committee to make a thorough investigation, and get a clean bill of health, I would rather be excused from serving on the committee. We want to go into this matter from garret to cellar."

Kaleiopu insisted that the resolution too closely restricts the committee in its investigations. The Speaker said that it was probable that if the committee found evidences of graft in other lines than that specified in the resolution, it might investigate.

The motion to allow the committee to sit while the House is in session was put and carried.
