BRIBER INDICTED BY GRAND JURY

Two indictments were returned by the Federal Grand Jury this morning, one of the true bills being found against a Hindoo named Bhogarnan, who according to the records, is the first man of that nativity who has been indicted in Hawaii. Bhogarnan is charged with having attempted to bribe Immigration Inspector Raymond C. Brown in an effort to secure a landing in Hawaii when the Chiyo Maru was last in port. The Hindoo was so fascinated by the delights of Honolulu, as much as he could see from the deck of the Japanese liner, that he offered Brown twenty pounds in good English money to permit him to find an asylum in Hawaii. The man from India probably did not know that he was committing an offense punishable by five years' imprisonment and he was accordingly surprised when he was taken into custody. United States District Attorney Breckons expects that the Hindoo will plead guilty, be fined and then deported.

The Federal Grand Jury also returned an indictment against a Japanese, Okichi Okana, charged with a violation of the Edmunds Act.

The local Japanese will participate in a lantern procession to be given tonight in honor of the visiting officers and men of the Japanese cruiser Iwamo. They will form at Aala Park at 8 o'clock, whence they march down to the Channel wharf.

The old wooden curbing around the Hawaiian hotel central garden has been removed, and is being replaced with a Kaimuki stone one. Other improvements are being carried out under the supervision of Manager Brown.

A statuette of the late Joseph Nawahi has been modeled by Mr. Usbourne, the sculptor and is on exhibition in the office of W. A. Bowen. It represents the late Hawaiian orator as he appeared when making a temperance speech at Hilo while the lava was advancing on the town. There is a plan on foot to have a monument erected that shall commemorate the great work this man did for temperance among the Hawaiian people.

IT IS SAID to the credit of the oil tanker Santa Rita that the vessel sailed from the port of Honolulu without befouling the waters of the harbor by pumping out her oily bilge to float on the surface of the water and cause damage to all smaller craft riding at anchor.

WATERFRONT NOTES

STEAMING at an approximate speed of nearly fourteen knots each hour, the Matson Navigation liner Lurline, bearing Governor Frear and other well known Honolulu passengers towards San Francisco, has been heard from.
