FOREIGN.

The Paris correspondent of The London Morning Post, quoting from the Königsberg Gazette, informs us that the Governor of Kazan has just licensed a theater in that semi-Tartar city, on the express condition that "at least once a week" the manager shall give a performance of such a nature that it shall be "possible" for a mother to take her daughter to see it.

In Paris this Winter sledges have been more numerous than formerly; some of them are fantastic and even artistic in their decorations. The demi-monde, as usual, take the lead in this locomotive novelty; their sledges are sometimes adorned with a carefully-modeled swan, flying cupids, grotesque dragons, and such conceits as appear to have their origin in Russian models. The fair drivers adopt coquettish hats and expensive furs, and certainly obtain the main object in view, namely, conspicuous notoriety. The carriages of the aristocracy drive round the frozen waters, and in elegant toilettes the ladies walk down to the borders of the lake and watch the animated scene. The Emperor and the court visit the Bois de Boulogne daily. The Seine continues to present the same snowy-white aspect, and the thickness of the ice has considerably increased.

A letter from Tauris, of the 12th November, in the Moniteur, gives some details of the marriage of Mosaffer Eddin Mirza, heir to the throne of Persia. The prince is only 16 years old, and the princess of the same age. The princess occupied 23 days in her journey from Teheran to Tauris. The cortège was preceded by about a hundred beasts of burden, horses, mules, or camels, carrying servants, carpets, tents, and the outfit of the bride; then followed a number of led horses covered with magnificent housings, and next the carriage containing the princess, who was invisible to all eyes behind the mahogany binds. The procession was accompanied by violins, trumpets, and tambourines, mingling their sounds with the military band sent from Teheran. Then came mules carrying palanquins closed with curtains and containing the women of the princess's suite.

During the past year the ruling families of Europe have been increased by eleven births (four boys and seven girls) and three marriages—those of King George of Greece with the Grand Duchess Olga of Russia; of Count Philip of Flanders, brother to the King of Belgium, with the Princess Mary of Hohenzollern-Sigmaringen; and of Don Carlos, infante of Spain, with the Princess Margaret of Parma. The number of the sovereigns of Europe is 38—viz. three emperors, the Sultan, the Pope, ten kings, two queens, six grand-dukes, five dukes, and ten princes. The oldest of these is the Pope, who is 75. After him come the King of Prussia and the Duke of Anhalt, both of whom are over 70. The average age of the European sovereigns is 44 years, and 22 of them have already exceeded that age. During the past year two sovereigns, the Princes of Reuss (younger line) and Schwarzburg-Rudolstadt, ascended the throne. Four sovereigns are unmarried beside the Pope, namely, the King of Bavaria, the Duke of Brunswick, and the two Princes of Lichtenstein and Reuss (senior line).

The case of the notorious Mrs. Jagger, who farmed out babies in London, as Madame Parselle does in New-York, is still attracting attention, and Mr. Benson Baker, one of the Poor-law medical officers of Marylebone, has under his present charge one of the children who survived the care of Mrs. Jagger, and who, he says, is something over three years old. This child, three years old, was employed by the proprietress as a gaffer or ganger over the younger babies. His duties were to sit up in the bed with eight other babies with him, and the moment any one of them awoke to put the bottle to their mouth; he was also to keep them quiet, and generally to superintend them. This baby ganger has quite the appearance of an "old hand;" he is intelligent beyond his years—quite grave and thoughtful. He knows all about "Mother Jagger" and her doings; also about the "old babies" being put in the box, and "new babies" being brought by "Mother Jagger." When the baby ganger was not officially employed, he was tied in a little chair (he cannot walk) and placed beside the fire. One day "Mother Jagger" had a "drop of gin," so his baby informant tells Mr. Baker, and the baby-ganger fell into the fire, and as he was tied into the chair he could not crawl away, and "Mother Jagger" was powerless to help him. His pinafore caught fire, burned the ends of four of his fingers off one hand, and partially destroyed the muscles on the inner side of the other arm. This baby will thus be more or less incapacitated from ever earning a living.

TO POLITICIANS AND LIBRARIES.

AN IMPORTANT STATISTICAL WORK.

REPRODUCTION, BY THE AMERICAN PHOTO-LITHOGRAPHIC COMPANY, OF

THE TRIBUNE ALMANAC,

IN TWO VOLUMES.

VOLUME I. contains from 1838 to 1844—both years included.
VOLUME II. contains from 1845 to 1868—both years included.

SUN-LIGHT, THE CAMERA, AND THE LITHOGRAPHIC STONE AND PRESSES USED TO REPRODUCE A BOOK IN FACSIMILE AT A CHEAPER RATE THAN IT COULD HAVE BEEN DONE BY TYPES IN THE ORDINARY WAY.

TWO VOLUMES OF
[About 1,800 pages of closely printed matter.]
IMPORTANT STATISTICS FOR $10.

The following is the Advertisement as printed in the First Volume, with the type-print Photo-Lithographically reproduced. Mr. Greeley's manuscript copy of the same is also reproduced in like manner, in facsimile:

In the Fall of 1837—years before the establishment of THE TRIBUNE—the October Elections having developed a popular uprising against the Jackson-Van Buren dynasty which had for ten years seemed invincible—I was moved to issue a POLITICAL REGISTER for 1838, intended mainly to embody the Election Returns of that year, and compare them with those of some preceding year. The reception of that little annual was such as to justify its reproduction for each succeeding year—that of 1842 only excepted—until the issue for 1868 will complete a series of thirty Annual Registers of Election Returns, with other useful political and statistical matter, afforded for a trifle to each reader, though the preparation of each issue now involves a total cost of more than $1,000. This annual has been known successively as THE POLITICIAN'S REGISTER, WHIG ALMANAC, and TRIBUNE ALMANAC, under which last name it has been issued for several years past. The stereotype plates of the earlier issues having been consumed in the fire which destroyed The Tribune Building in 1845, it has for some years past been impossible to procure full sets of the work at any rate, and the imperfect sets from time to time thrown upon the market have commanded fabulous prices.

At last the new art of PHOTO-LITHOGRAPHY—as yet in its infancy, but giving promise of great results in the future by no means distant—has rendered it possible to reproduce the old issues at a moderate cost; and it was resolved that a limited number of full sets of the work—at least, so far as its contents were not ephemeral—should be photo-lithographed and offered to the public. Of that resolve, the work herewith presented is the fruit. As it will be wholly unique, and of great interest to historians and politicians, I trust that most of the sets may be promptly secured for Public Libraries, where they may be preserved and remain generally accessible. Those who fail to obtain a set directly will probably miss their only opportunity. HORACE GREELEY.

The complete sets of The Register and Almanac are comprised in two neatly bound volumes, and are now ready. Price, for the two volumes, $10.

Those wishing to secure these interesting Political Statistics should send in their orders immediately, as only 1,000 copies are printed.

Each order must be accompanied with the cash. Address THE TRIBUNE, New-York.

Fine Arts.

FINE ARTS.
SAMUEL P. AVERY,
(Late Agent for the American Art Department at the Paris Exposition)
Having returned from Europe, informs his friends and the Art public that he has resumed his business as an ART AGENT. He has taken the commodious Gallery at No. 52 Fifth-ave., corner of Fourteenth-st., where he will exhibit, and offer at private sale, the various works of art selected by him during his recent residence abroad. Several of the most valuable were purchased out of the "Universal Exposition." Many others were bought at the Artists' Annual Exhibition—the Salon of 1867—while some were painted expressly on commission. Among them will be found choice examples of the artists whose works are favorite with our collectors, as well as productions by others who are now, for the first time, introduced here. The importance of these selections will be made manifest by the following list:
"The Death of Cæsar," by Gerome, (the celebrated Painting from the Paris Exposition.)
"The Reader," by Meissonier, (a portrait of the Artist, from the Paris Exposition.)
"A Nymph in a Fountain," by Paul Delaroche, (from the Fourtales Collection.)
"New-England Pilgrims Going to Church in Winter," by G. H. Boughton, (from Royal Academy Exhibition, 1867.)
Other Paintings in Oil by Breton, Merle, Jalabert, Bouguereau, Piasson, Rousseau, Hamon, Landelle, Buzz, Brion, Dubigny, Troyon, Chavet, Beranger, Kock-Kock, Toulmouche, Schreyer, Achenbach, Brillouin, Richomme, Aubert, Calame, Van Schendel, Bakhuizenoff, Hanemann, Zamacois, Girardet, Carund, Gus. Proposals.

NAVY PAYMASTER'S OFFICE, No. 29 Broadway, NEW-YORK, Jan. 27, 1868.

FRESH BEEF AND VEGETABLES.—Sealed proposals indorsed "Proposals for Fresh Beef and Vegetables," will be received at this Office until 2 o'clock p. m., on the seventh day of February, 1868, for the supply of 200,000 pounds of Fresh Beef, and 200,000 pounds of Fresh Vegetables at the Brooklyn Navy-Yard and Station as required. The Beef and Vegetables must be of good quality, and the best the market affords, and each article must be offered for by the pound. The Beef to be in equal proportions, fore and hind quarters.
Bonds with approved security will be required in one-half the estimated amount of the contract, and twenty per cent in addition will be held from the amount of each payment to be made, as collateral security for the due performance of the contract, which will, on no account, be paid, until it is fully complied with.
Every offer must be accompanied by a written guaranty, signed by one or more responsible persons, that the bidder or bidders will, if his or their bid be accepted, enter into an obligation within five days, with good and sufficient sureties, to furnish the articles proposed.
No proposal will be considered unless accompanied by such guaranty, and by satisfactory evidence that the bidder is a regular dealer in the articles proposed, and has the license required by act of Congress.
The Department reserves the right to reject any proposal not considered advantageous to the Government.
It is to be understood that in case the stipulated quantity of either article shall be delivered, leaving a balance due on the other article, the contract may be considered as completed in full at the option of the Department.
J. C. ELDRIDGE, Paymaster U. S. Navy.
