Special Record.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—SENATE—Tuesday was devoted by the senate to the eulogies of Hewitt, and that body was thereby visited by the mourners (methodists). Nothing more serious of the senate has been said outside eulogy was said on the house Tuesday. Mr. Sherman made a personal address to the democrats to unpopularity, and among other things said: "If you can't do anything yourselves, in God's name let our friends in on and we will act." Mr. Sherman declared that the republicans have always acted while in the majority, boldly, harmoniously, patriotically, and now the democrats in the majority, can not agree with one another nor with their president, nor he with them.

HOUSE—A bill dispensing with proof of legality in the cases of persons who before the war were entitled to pensions or to bounty lands, was passed by Mr. Burrows (rep., Mich.) as far as the pension clause was concerned. Thereupon Mr. Oates, who had charge of the measure, courteously withdrew the pension clause, and the bill was passed. Then came up the Cox banking bill for the better control of national banks, and, after a cordial exchange of views between its supporters and opponents, it was agreed to without discussion.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19—SENATE—The senate resumed its session at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning at the expiration of the recess taken Tuesday evening. Mr. Morgan (D., Ala.) took the floor on the motion of Mr. Dolph to amend the journal so as to show the presence of Mr. Allen when the roll was called at 6.30 o'clock Monday evening, that senator having failed to answer when his name was called. At the conclusion of Mr. Morgan's speech, Mr. Voorhees moved to lay on the table the motion of Mr. Dolph to amend the journal. Agreed to—yeas, 35; nays, 2. Mr. Teller (R., Colo.) moved to amend the journal so that it would show his presence on a certain roll-call when he did not respond to his name and he addressed the senate. At 5:15 p. m. Mr. Voorhees moved that the senate take a recess until 10 o'clock Thursday morning, which was agreed to.

HOUSE—Mr. Wolverton, from the committee on judiciary, called up the bill to reduce and regulate the fees of clerks of U. S. district and circuit courts and the returns made by district attorneys, marshals and commissioners, and it was passed. Mr. Geary then called up the New York and New Jersey bridge bill. Dewitt Warner, of New York, and Geary almost came to blows in a dispute over an amendment to the bill, after which it was passed. The house then resumed consideration of the printing bill. A proposition to publish 50,000 additional copies of the "House book" evoked a good deal of discussion. They cost fifty cents per volume. A compromise providing for 10,000 copies was agreed upon. At 5 o'clock, without completing the consideration of the bill, the house adjourned.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—SENATE—When the senate Thursday entered upon the third division of the legislative day of Tuesday, at the expiration of the recess at 10 o'clock Thursday less than a dozen senators were present. Exactly half an hour was consumed in securing a quorum. The New York and New Jersey bridge bill was laid before the senate and referred to the committee on commerce. A report from the finance committee was presented, showing the probability of a deficiency in the revenues of the government. The committee shows a deficit for the first three months of the present fiscal year to be over $21,000,000, at the rate of $67,000,000 for the year.

HOUSE—Mr. Outhwaite, from the committee on rules, reported a special order for the consideration of the bankruptcy bill, beginning next Monday at 2 o'clock, and continuing every day until disposed of. The rule does not provide for the closure. The consideration of the printing bill was then resumed, but was suspended at 5 o'clock by a previous order. The house then proceeded to pay its tribute to the memory of the late Representative Mutchler, of Pennsylvania. At the conclusion of the memorial services, the house, at 5:45 p. m., as a further mark of respect to the memory of the deceased, adjourned.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—SENATE—No business of importance transacted Friday.

HOUSE—Chairman Sayres presented an emergency deficiency bill, appropriating $127,500 for pensioners and janitors of public buildings. Passed for clerks to members. Passed. Consideration of the bill to compel railroads to maintain stations at town sites in the Cherokee strip established by the interior department, was then resumed. The bill passed. In the evening hour, Mr. Bynum called up the bill to remit fifty per cent of the duties due on exhibits at the World's fair. After further debate, Mr. Cantwell offered an amendment, which was adopted, extending the provisions of the act to such exhibits as may be transferred to the Midwinter exposition at San Francisco. Mr. Aldrich offered an additional amendment to release entirely from duty such portions of the exhibits as are purchased for or donated to the Columbian Museum at Chicago. The amendments of Mr. Aldrich and Mr. Byram were adopted. As amended the resolution was then passed without division.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22—SENATE—Twenty minutes were consumed Saturday morning when the senate reassembled after its recess in securing a quorum. During much of this wait Senators Gorman, Hill and Voorhees were in whispered consultation. When the forty-third senator was secured, Mr. Peffer (pop., Kan.) resumed his speech against the repeal bill, and finished at fifty o'clock, when Mr. Jones (rep., Nev.) resumed his argument against the bill. After addressing the senate for some time, Mr. Voorhees asked whether it would be agreeable to Mr. Jones to yield to his argument, saying he understood that the senator did not expect to conclude Saturday evening. Mr. Jones replied that he could not continue for two or three days, and would be very glad to yield at this time. Mr. Voorhees then moved an executive session, after which the senate, at 3:45 p. m., took a recess until Monday at 12 m.

HOUSE—A bill to divide the eastern judicial district of Michigan into northern and southern divisions was passed. An interesting discussion of the financial condition of the treasury and the country followed. Mr. McMillin said it was no longer possible to ignore the financial straits in which the treasury was. The treasury was running behind every month. No money had been paid on the sinking fund for some time, and it was notorious that the treasury had been driven to the use of a portion of the $100,000,000 gold reserve maintained to redeem outstanding greenbacks to meet current expenses.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—SENATE—The session of the senate Monday was remarkable for the lack of interest displayed in and the apparent dullness which characterized the proceedings. Frequent conferences constituted the noticeable feature on the democratic side of the chamber, and at one time Vice-President Stevenson took a seat on that side and engaged in what was obviously an earnest conversation with Senators Voorhees and Faulkner. The time Monday was occupied by three of the leading advocates of silver coinage, Messrs. Jones and Stewart, of Nevada, and Teller, of Colorado, and but little attention was paid to either.

HOUSE—The debate on the bankruptcy bill began Monday in the house. There is a great deal of determined opposition to the measure, led by some of the ablest lawyers in the house, like Culberson (Tex.), Stone (Pa.) and Breckinridge (La.). It is directed generally against the policy of national bankruptcy law in view of past experience with such laws, and particularly of the involuntary clause at this time, when so many business firms in close straits might suffer its operation be forced to the wall. Mr. Oates, who has charge of the measure, opened the debate in advocacy of it.

Fee Reduction in Land Cases.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Mr. Bell of Colorado has introduced a bill to reduce the fee in transcribing testimony in land cases in the states west of the Missouri river. Many years ago the officer in the West found it necessary to have the fees doubled, because of the unusual expense attending such business. Now that has been obviated and the members of congress from the west have been asked to have the fees reduced.

Archbishop of Milan Dead.

MILAN, Oct. 24.—Mons. Calabiana, Archbishop of Milan, is dead.

Conductor Killed by a Bridge.

NEW CONCORD, O., Oct. 22.—Edward Elliott, a Baltimore & Ohio freight conductor, was instantly killed by being struck by a bridge east of here. The unfortunate man was found Sunday morning by Night Operator J. A. Clark, with his skull crushed and one hand off.

Struck Oil at Cayuga.

CAYUGA, Ill., October 23.—At a depth of 418 feet a vein of petroleum was struck by well diggers on the farm of Pierre Coons. The well will be deepened in hope of finding a paying flow of oil.

A PHILADELPHIA school teacher, who has returned from an enjoyable month spent in study at the Edinburgh summer school, declares that the entire cost of her trip, including ocean voyage, with living and study in Edinburgh from July 27 to August 26, was between $125 to $150.

THE South Dakota weather bureau makes the yield of wheat in that state 10.4 bushels per acre, instead of 8.6, as estimated by Washington authorities. [illegible] Dakota and Minnesota will make big yields to the three spring wheat states, the one and bushels instead of 12 [illegible] bushels.

FOREIGN GOSSIP.

—The directors of the Tirnan, according to John Abercrombie, of Kilmarnock, Scotland, went in for magic extensively. They lived originally in Silesia. The first historical mention of the Finns which the present day peasants belong dates about nineteen hundred years ago in living in Poland.

—Influenza is believed to be dying out in London, after being more or less prevalent since the first outbreak over the world several years ago. For a considerable time the number of deaths from the malady have been about twenty a week. During the second week of June only six such deaths occurred.

—The city of London has no park within its borders, and yet the largest recreation ground open to Londoners is under the control of the city corporation—namely, Epping Forest, with its 5,000 acres, or nearly nine square miles of almost unbroken woodland, forming one of the most extensive and beautiful pleasure grounds in Europe.

—In 1784, on the birthday of King George III., a watchmaker of London named Arnold presented himself before the king to exhibit a curious repeating watch of his manufacture. This watch was in diameter somewhat less than a silver two-pence, contained one hundred and twenty distinct parts and weighed altogether less than six pennyweights.

—Not very long ago a London newspaper announced that a jeweler of Turin had made a tug-boat formed of a single pearl. The sail is of beaten gold, studded with diamonds, and the pinnacle light at the prow is a perfect ruby. An emerald serves as its rudder, and the stand on which it is mounted is a slab of whitest ivory. The entire weight of this marvelous specimen of the jeweler's craft is less than half an ounce, but the maker values it at £1,000.

—Baron Nathaniel de Rothschild, who about two months ago made over a castle and park near Reichenau to the trustees of the hospital for consumption, has been obliged to withdraw his generous gift in consequence of objections raised against it by the burgomaster, the townspeople and the visitors of Reichenau. The baron has therefore agreed to a lottery, with the castle and park as the one great prize. The proceeds will be given to the trustees of the hospital.

—An epidemic of suicide has prevailed in Buda-Pesth and other Hungarian towns lately. In Buda-Pesth alone seven suicides occurred in one day several weeks ago. The number of cases of insanity is also increasing so rapidly that the hospitals and asylums are crowded. Physicians ascribe both phenomena to the scarcity of pure wine since the phylloxera, in consequence of which the people drink a made-up liquid composed of substances pernicious to the brain.

—When the French took possession of Acadia they rifled the trading house of Penobscot belonging to Plymouth. This was in 1653. Word soon came that the French had bought Alexander's plantation in Nova Scotia, that Cardinal Richelieu had sent over soldiers and Jesuits and the preparations were making in the east by the French to take possession of all New England. The authorities at Boston and Plymouth were alarmed, and took measures to meet the supposed danger. The alarm was groundless, however. The French, intent only upon trade, did not mean to harm the English.

—The boomerang, the Australian native's weapon of offense and defense, referred to in all reference works as an instrument unknown until after the discovery of Australia, was doubtless known before the time of Christ. Pliny, the elder, a contemporary of our Saviour, writes as follows in his "Natural History" respecting an instrument made of the wood of the aquifolia: "If a staff made of this wood, when thrown at an animal, from want of strength in the person throwing it, it falls short of the mark it will come back toward the thrower of its own accord, so remarkable are the properties of that tree." It is altogether probable that the learned Pliny did not consider the shape of the "staff," and referred its peculiarities to the nature of the wood of which it was made.

—In some villages in Japan robbers are tried and convicted by ballot. Whenever a robbery is committed the ruler of the hamlet requests the entire male population, and requires them to write on a slip of paper the name of the person they suspect of having committed the crime. The one receiving the largest number of ballots is declared duly convicted, and is accordingly punished. This system, like all others, has its peculiarities. It incites the punishment of somebody for every robbery committed, whereas under the system in vogue in most civilized countries in nine cases out of ten no punishment is inflicted on anybody for the crime. Of course, they may not "select" the guilty person, but dispose of some other character equally as bad. There is much in the system to commend it to other nations.

IT is stated at Newport that Mrs. Grossman, daughter of the late Edwin Booth, as a memorial to her father, will place a mural tablet in Berkeley Memorial chapel, Middletown, which stands close by "Boothden."

MARGARET BIGLER, of Asbury, N. J., has just died at the age of 93. Her father died at the same age. Her mother lived to be 91. Margaret had three sisters; one died at 100, another at 97 and the third at 94.

A Very Level Head.

Georgetown Times: It is stated that Senator Lindsay's speech, before it was delivered, was submitted to President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle and received their unqualified approval, neither gentleman suggesting that anything be added to it or taken from it. This is a high compliment to Kentucky's junior Senator, and only emphasizes a general impression that he has a very level head.

The First Meerschaum.

A shoemaker, Karol Kowates, who in 1823, lived at Pesth, the capital of Hungary, smoked the first meerschaum pipe. Besides being a shoemaker, however, he was a Natural Sandicraftsman, endowed with an intuitive genius for turning in wood and other materials. This brought him into contact with Count Andrassy, with whom he became a great favorite. The Count, on his return from a mission to Turkey, brought with him a piece of whitish clay, which had been presented to him as a curiosity, on account of its extraordinary light specific gravity. It struck the shoemaker that, being porous, it must be well adapted for pipes, as it would absorb the nicotine. The experiment was tried, and Kavol cut a pipe for the Count and one for himself. This first meerschaum pipe, made and smoked by Karol Kowates, has been preserved in the Museum at Pesth.

"During my term of service in the army I contracted chronic diarrhea," says A. E. Bending, of Halsey, Oregon. "Since then I have used a great amount of medicine, but when I found any that would give me relief they would injure my stomach, until Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy was brought to my notice. I need it and will say it is the only remedy that gave me permanent relief and no bad results follow." For sale by A. M. Hughes, Louisa, Ky.
