For Boys and Young Men—City.

AS WE BEFORE REMARKED

Packard's Business College, of No. 805 Broadway, is the safest and best place for those who want to become proficient accountants or educated business men. It ought not to be necessary to say anything on the subject, but there are possibly a few persons in the city who have been so busy about other matters that they have not looked into school affairs. It would do such persons good to make a brief study of the educational facilities of this big town, and they really ought to do it at once. One thing is sure, however, that they will find no business school in this city or elsewhere to be compared with Packard's. The owner and proprietor of this school has been steadily at his post for the past twenty-five years, and has got something to show for it. There is no mistake about it Packard's College is a vigorous, effective, popular institution. The only drawback about it is, that judging from the way students are applying for seats, there will be no room for new applicants after a few weeks. Now is a good time to see about it.

Media has seven churches and a temperance charter which prohibits the sale of all intoxicating drinks.

Media is a leading journal says: "The accommodations which surround so many towns do not reach this. The charter of Media, which prohibits the sale of intoxicating drinks within the borough, has driven away from us the evil influences which follow in its wake. Our boys can go about without coming in contact with taverns or saloons. The beauty of our location and healthful surroundings have won for Media the admiration of all who have visited it."

Bayard Taylor said: "I take great pleasure in recommending to parents the Academy of Mr. Swithin C. Shortlidge."

Judge George M. Van Hoesen, of New-York, says: "Swithin C. Shortlidge's Media Academy affords the best instruction."

Colonel Richard J. Hinton says: "Parents will find it not only a good school, but a home-like, cheerful establishment, in which rational plans of training combine to make that wholesome mental, moral and physical atmosphere which is so necessary to the growth of healthy youth."

The Rev. John Long says: "Your attention to the duties of your position must insure your school the serious and intelligent confidence of parents and guardians."

The Hon. Thomas V. Cooper, Pennsylvania Senate, says: "I regard it as one of the finest in the State, and one in every way suited to fit a boy for any college. The principal and his assistants are well-known educators."

The New-York Graphic says: "Particular care is taken of young boys, a home is being provided for them not usually found in boarding-schools."

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 1, 1879.

S. C. SHORTLIDGE, Esq., Media, Penn.

DEAR SIR: I take great pleasure in expressing my satisfaction with the care bestowed upon my boy at your school, and am glad to be able to commend the institution to all parents and guardians who desire a comfortable home for their sons, where their education, health and morals are so admirably provided for.

Very truly yours,

CHARLES H. T. COLLIS.

The Rev. J. A. Clifft, D. D., of Philadelphia, had a son at the Academy and "is glad to recommend it."

The Philadelphia Times says: "Mr. S. C. Shortlidge has been long and favorably known as a successful teacher."

The Media Record says: "Mr. S. C. Shortlidge's Boarding-School must command public attention."

The Media American says: "Although the past year was the most successful Mr. Shortlidge has had, the class of graduates was unusually excellent. The students won the respect of our citizens by their uniformly gentlemanly demeanor; i. e. always showed a dignified self-respect, not generally characteristic of schoolboys, which speaks well for the discipline and influence of the academy. We gladly make record of this as it was noticed by our people and favorably commented upon by all. But it is not surprising that Mr. Shortlidge has built up a first-class institution in our borough. He is unwearied in his work, scarcely ever leaving the Academy for even an hour at a time during school sessions. Every department thus feels at all times the master's presence. We predict for the Media Academy increased popularity and usefulness."

We heartily endorse the above well-merited notice from The Media American, and commend Mr. S. C. Shortlidge's Academy to public favor.
