Of course you do—If there's a maid or miss in your home today she can be just as happy as you were with her "Frock and Fixings." 'Cause in this good store we've got the prettiest, cutest and daintiest

Commencement Dresses And Party Dresses

You've seen in many a day—Some bedecked with ribbons and laces, others with embroidery and insertings. Every one a "darling for your darling." Really the more expensive ones are so daintily trimmed and prettily made that you can hardly tell them from your own patient hand-work.

The sizes range from the two year old little miss to the grown-up maid of nineteen.

The prices start at 50c, then upward to $10.00. Right now our stock is complete in sizes and styles and the variety is so great that in most cases there's only one of a kind—that's the idea with this good store, always something different and newer than you see other places. We would like for you to bring the little lady, let her help you with the selection, you know they like to do this sort of thing and you know they are better satisfied.

THE SPY.
The guard said "Sunrise." That's not long to wait!
I heard a clock chime three a while ago,
And four I'll hear, but five will be too late.
A new day then, a day I shall not know!
'Tis strange, with such a little time to spare,
To sit alone and idle in the dark,
To listen for their feet upon the stair—
Those German hunters coming for their mark!

So near our lines—to miss it by a hair!
I staked one life against a German corps.
Had I won through, then we'd have caught them there
And added twenty thousand to our score.

'Twas sporting odds, I'd take them any time,
And yet I never thought that I would die.
For something half a virtue, half a crime—
Would face a firing squad and fall a spy!
What matters it? The service—that is all!
Not always in the fight are vict'ries won,
So, steady as a soldier to you wall,
I hear their tramping feet and there's the Sun!
