Italian Chief of Staff and Son

General Luigi Cadorna and Son.

This is the last photograph taken of General Cadorna, chief of staff of the Italian army. It was made since the declaration of war, and shows him and his son leaving the office of the war minister on their way to take a train north to the scene of operations which the Italians have so far successfully conducted against the Austrians. It is the first photograph of him to arrive in the United States since Italy entered the war.

Star Pitcher and Manager of the Phillies.

PAT MORAN GROVER CLEVELAND ALEXANDER

When Pat Moran, former catcher of the Chicago Cubs, took the management of the Phillies of the National League from Charley Doolin, there were predictions that he would be able to accomplish little. Then when his star players began to melt away to the Federal League, fans who didn't like the change were certain he would do nothing this season. But Moran has surprised them. He kept his club in the lead of the league for several weeks and is now neck and neck with the Cubs.

But he wouldn't have done that without the help of "Alexander the Great." Grover Cleveland Alexander, believed to be the first pitcher in baseball today. Alexander is a Democrat, as his name implies, and a Nebraskan. He is six feet tall, 175 pounds in weight and twenty-seven years old.

REVIEW OF COTTON MARKET FOR WEEK

Elimination of Longs and Addition to Shorts Results in Advance

New Orleans, June 7.—Cotton took on an improved tone last week and the net results of the week's trading were an advance of 10 to 12 points. It was generally considered that the market was steady chiefly because of the better technical position it was in, owing to the elimination of the long interest and the recent addition to the short interest.

The heavier trading on the spot in the Liverpool market toward the end of the week, the announcement that seized cotton was no longer pressing against the English market, the large mill takings for the week and the optimistic tone in the stock market were the chief bullish influences of the week. Against them was the controversy between this country and Germany and the improvement in crop and weather reports from the cotton region. The several days of sunshine last week in most sections of the belt, it was considered, gave planters a chance to clean and cultivate their crops.

During this week the market can hardly escape giving much consideration to the note to Germany from this country and the probable reply it will bring. As far as can be seen this is the most unsettling influence the market will have to contend with in the near future. Should Germany show a disposition to make concessions it probably would cause sharp bulges in the market. Any unfavorable turn in diplomatic exchanges would cause a quick depression.

Weather and crop news will increase in importance this week as the new season is now well under way and the question of the acreage must soon be settled. Heavy rains would be a strong bullish influence, while fair weather, interrupted by occasional light showers, would give the bears the greatest encouragement. It can hardly be a weather market, however, as is usual at this time of the year, because of the situation in Europe.
