

The CLEMSON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

SOUTH CAROLINA'S SCHOOL of ENGINEERING and AGRICULTURE

Location and Environment
The College is located in Oconee County at the foot of the Blue Ridge Mountains, on the homestead of John C. Calhoun and later of his son-in-law, Thos. G. Clemson. The College is over 800 feet above the sea level and the climate is healthful and invigorating. Temptations to dissipate or to spend money foolishly are reduced to a minimum.

The students are under military government and every effort is made to train up manly young men who will reflect credit on the College and on the State.

Religious Influences
The College contributes to the salary of four resident ministers who conduct divine services and do pastoral work among the cadets in barracks. There is a flourishing Sunday School and Y. M. C. A. with a salaried Secretary, who lives in the barracks. A $75,000 Y. M. C. A. building will be completed January, 1916.

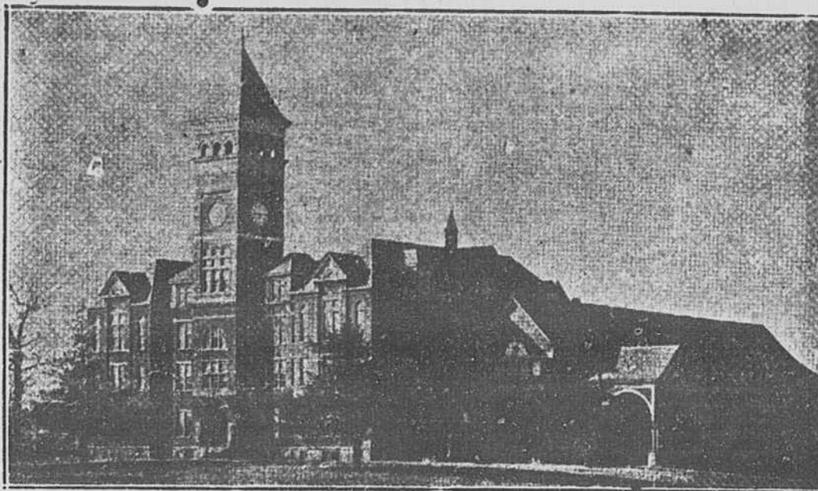

Requirements of Admission
No student will be admitted who is not at least 16 years old at the time of entrance.

An honorable discharge from the last school or college attended is required.

No student will be admitted who is not reasonably healthy and free from contagious diseases, including tuberculosis.

Applicants for the Freshman Class must stand examinations, either in their counties on July 9 or at the College in September, unless they can fill out a prescribed certificate, furnished by the College.

A preparatory department is no longer maintained by the College.

Equip Every Desk With a Telephone

To handle your fall and winter work in the most economical and effective way, you will need COMPLETE TELEPHONE EQUIPMENT—facilities that will assure the smooth running and efficient execution of work.

Every man who has a desk should have a telephone on it, and should use his telephone to save wasteful walking between desks and departments, to help him to complete his work in an orderly fashion, and to keep him in close working touch with all other parts of the organization.

Extension Telephones, connected with your Private Branch Exchange and additional lines are furnished at most reasonable rates.

Don't isolate any part of your organization. Equip EVERY DESK with a TELEPHONE and increase the productiveness of your whole organization by providing adequate telephone facilities.
