Postal Telegraphy.

This is a special to the St. Louis Republican:

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 27.—From present indications there will be a hotly contested fight in Congress during the approaching session between the advocates of the several postal telegraph schemes. The Postmaster General will bend every effort to secure the adoption of his proposition, that the government own the lines, and that they be under the charge of the postoffice department, to be operated by government officials. The subject of postal telegraphy was last winter referred to the House Committee of Appropriations, and considered at great length.

At the closing hours of the session, by unanimous vote of the committee, Representative Palmer, of Iowa, was directed to report a bill to the House, with the approval of the committee. No opportunity was then offered, and the measure was not made public. Mr. Palmer still has the bill, and he will present it in the House during the first week of the session. It provides that the Postmaster General shall establish telegraph offices, as soon as practicable, at all postoffices or telegraphic circuits and at all postoffices within ten miles of any circuit, the gross receipts of which for postage are not less than $500.

The offices to be increased from time to time, and all to be divided into classes, according to importance. The rate at which messages are sent is fixed at one cent a word for each circuit through which it shall be transmitted, to be computed as follows: For distances not exceeding 500 miles, 250 miles shall be decreed a circuit. For greater distances 500 miles shall be deemed a circuit. For night dispatches, 1000 miles or less shall be deemed a circuit. All words to be counted, and no message sent for a less sum than twenty-five cents for each circuit. Messages of government officers, on official business, shall have priority in the transmission, without prepayment and at advantageous terms. The charges on telegrams shall be prepaid by stamps, except government dispatches. The stamps to be sold as postage stamps are sold. The originals and all copies to be destroyed at the end of a month, unless previously withdrawn by the sender. The money order system, by which money may be deposited at one office and drawn at another, is provided for in a similar manner to the mail system now in use. Section five of the bill fixes the rate for special dispatches to newspapers at not exceeding seventy-five cents for the first hundred words for each circuit of 500 miles, if sent by night; but if sent by day, $1 25. When copies of the same dispatch are dropped at one or more offices, the rate for each office shall not exceed fifty cents by night and seventy five cents by day, and at the same rate for each word in excess. The rates for press associations shall not exceed those now paid by the Associated or American Press. Contracts may be made with any company operating lines of telegraph for the interchange of dispatches, and with any company organized for laying and maintaining cables between the United States and foreign countries. To carry the law into execution the appointment of a fourth assistant postmaster-general is provided for. Section seven authorizes the Postmaster General to contract with the Postal Telegraph Company for the transmission of correspondence by telegraph, as his agent; for the company to have the right to construct lines on all post roads, and shall provide lines of telegraph to every postal telegraph office established by the Postmaster General. The operators, instruments, lines and equipment, to be furnished at the expense of the company. Any person or company transmitting a telegram contrary to the provisions of this act, for the first offense shall be fined $100. The telegrams in all cases shall be regarded as privileged communications to the extent letters are now. The rates on messages shall be reduced from time to time, within the discretion of the Postmaster General. The names of about thirty gentlemen are inserted as composing, with other stockholders, the body politic, under the name of the name of the Postal Telegraph Company. The capital stock to be 10,000 shares of the par value of $100.

This is a special to the Chicago Tribune:

WINONA, November 26.—New Ulm advices of to-day report a fearful snow-tempest of unparalleled violence prevailing, surpassing in violence any preceding storm of the season this far. It promises to complete the embargo on railroad operations. Happily there is no existing peril to operators, as the relief has been timely and effectual, and the line is practically in winter quarters.

In a letter from Polynesia to a resident of New York the fact is mentioned, which we do not remember to have seen stated before, that in some of the Polynesian islands the rite of circumcision has been practiced from time immemorial. This might be a clue to antiquarians who are interested in ascertaining what became of the lost tribes of Israel.

AMUSEMENTS.

Academy of Music.

This evening the popular sensational drama of the "Streets of New York," with Mr. Frank Mayo in his inimitable character of Tom Badger, will be produced for the last time. To-morrow evening the late Frank Murdock's play of "Davy Crockett" will be produced, with Mr. Mayo in the title role. This play was written especially for Mr. Mayo by the author, who was last season an especial favorite at the Varieties Theatre. In the cast of "Davy Crockett" are the names of Frank Mayo, Charles P. DeGrout, George Morton, Will J. Ferguson, John T. Craven, Frank G. Cotter, J. Redmond Ryan, John F. Pike, L. M. McCormack, L. F. White, Master Charles Robinson, Miss Louise Hawthorne, Miss Nellie Taylor, Little Sadie, Little Willie.

St. Charles Theatre.

Mr. F. S. Chanfrau in his specialty of Kit Redding is playing to very fine houses at the St. Charles Theatre, and the popular demand for that play is so great that it will be produced again this evening for the last time. Mr. Chanfrau will appear in a new role to-morrow evening.

Varieties Theatre.

The engagement of Miss Clara Morris, highly successful and very agreeable to her, closed last evening, and New Orleans will long cherish the remembrance of her impersonations as Annie Sylvester, in "Man and Wife," and Cora in "Article 47." To-morrow evening we are to have Mr. John T. Raymond, a John Owens style of actor, only he is the superior of Owens, who will make his debut as Joe Barker, the retired farmer, in the comedy of "Forbidden Fruit." In active preparation "Only a Jew" and "Pygmalion and Galatea." The performance will close each evening at half-past ten o'clock, and thus the patrons of the Varieties Theatre will have leisure to enjoy a pleasant walk home.

Opera House.

The audience at the matinee and the evening representation of the French drama at the Opera House yesterday was comparatively large, for the patrons of this drama reside so near the Opera House that the withdrawal of street cars does not subject them to any material inconvenience. This evening a drama in five acts will be produced, entitled "La Tour de Nesle," together with the comedy of "Une Tasse de The."

Exposition Hall.

On the night of the sixteenth instant the first of the series of concerts under the management of Max Strakosch, will be given at Exposition Hall. The artists embraced in this concert company include Mlle. Carlotta Patti, Miss Annie Louise Carey, Mlle. Teresa Carreno, Signor E. Scolara, Mons. E. Sauret, Signor Mario and Signor Marino. The concerts will be the most pleasing and attractive and of the highest artistic excellence ever given in New Orleans.

Southern Pacific Railroad.

The Claiborne Advocate of last Saturday says:

We have had an interview this week with Colonel W. R. Kirkpatrick, who was on his way to Fort Worth, Texas, to take charge of his contract for completing the Southern Pacific railroad from Dallas to Fort Worth, a distance of thirty-two miles, which he informs us will be completed by July 1, 1873. He also informs us that the contractors were pushing forward their work at a rapid rate on said road from Longview to Dallas, a distance of one hundred and twenty miles, which will also be completed by May, 1873.

Allen, the contractor on the Transcontinental road, from Little Rock, to connect with the Southern Pacific at Texarkana, and thence to Marshall and Fort Worth, will be finished very soon. This done, it will place Northern and Eastern Texas in direct communication with St. Louis and Memphis.

The great centre of all these roads will be at Fort Worth. The machine shops and the whole of the railroad buildings will be erected there.

Fort Worth is destined to be the city of the West. Immigration will flow in with a perfect torrent, and the place will rise like magic.

We also learned from Colonel Kirkpatrick that it is Colonel Scott's intention to fill up the gap from Monroe, or Vicksburg to Shreveport by next fall. If he can not purchase the interest of the present stockholders of that road he will run a road parallel with theirs. He is determined to put it through, because he has promised that it shall be done.

With the completion of this road it will place us within sixteen miles of a road that will give us communication with all the leading cities of the East and West.

Claiborne parish can then easily tap this road at the nearest point, and then Homer will be a place. Colonel Kirkpatrick says he is willing to take the contract for building a road from Homer to tap the road from Vicksburg to Shreveport, and subscribe a heavy stock in it. Certainly with these advantages to our people, at the proper time they will not be found wanting.

The Liberals in Congress.

A Washington special to the St. Louis Republican says:

It is given out that the Liberal Republicans will be gently dealt with in the ensuing session of Congress, provided they have no factious opposition to the present administration. This, of course, relates entirely to the house. Speaker Blaine has written a letter to the effect that conciliation is the watchword of the second term, and that the Republican party has nothing to gain by persecuting recalcitrants. This is understood here to mean that the resignation of Banks, Blair and Farnsworth will not be forced, so far as the speaker is concerned. The Senate being so strongly partisan, will reorganize its committees entirely on this narrow basis. As has been heretofore stated, such Liberals as Senators Schurz, Trumbull, Fenton, Rice, West and Tipton will have their designations for future labors entirely at the disposition of the Republican caucus.

A Gallant Tar's Reward.

The Treasury Department, a few days since, issued a warrant for $500 in favor of James Gibb, a mate of the ship Three Bells, of Glasgow, as a reward for his efforts in aiding to rescue the officers and crew and passengers from the wreck of the steamship San Francisco in 1855. Congress, in July, 1856, made appropriation for the reward of officers and crews of the three ships who rescued the passengers from the San Francisco, but when the act was passed Gibb was in Australia, and never heard of it until September last, when he returned to Scotland.

Rather a neat thing in sacrilege has just cropped up in France. In that aristocratic old suburb of St. Germain, so redolent of Jacobite and other historical associations, is a church whose poor boxes have quite a reputation for being well filled, and not only coin but bank notes for a considerable amount are frequently dropped into these receptacles by the charitable faithful. When they were emptied on a recent occasion many of the notes were found to be mysteriously glued together with a sticky preparation. This excited suspicion. A strict watch was kept, which resulted in the appearance of an ingenious young man, who, with a piece of thin whalebone for a rod, and a morsel of very strong glue for bait, proceeded to angle for bank notes, much after the fashion that Paul Pry goes to work for letters down the well.

The remark of the London Standard that "the Boston fire is a scandalous outrage on civilization and evidence of a most inefficient city government," is in the highest degree impertinent and ill timed. It passes its hasty censure in total ignorance of the details of the matter of which it speaks, and wantonly libels a suffering city, to whose glory be it said that it has always had one of the most honest and efficient municipal governments in the world.—New York Evening Mail.

Roberts Brothers, publishers of Old and New, announce that owing to the burning of Rand, Avery & Co.'s printing establishment in Boston on the evening of the twentieth ultimo, the publication of the December number of that magazine was unavoidably postponed till the twenty-eighth instant, to allow time for printing the few forms not off the press.

Monetary--Commercial.

MONETARY.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY REPUBLICAN, SATURDAY EVENING, November 30, 1872.

We have no further improvement to notice in the money market, nor any variation in rates. The demand for currency to remit to the country has been a little stronger than last week, but the effect was counterbalanced by a slight improvement in the deposit lines and a more moderate application for discounts. The offerings on the street were of fair extent, and the reported transactions were at the subjoined rates. We continue to quote first class paper at 12 ⅌ cent ⅌ annum; A1 at 15, second grade at 18; first class mortgage at 10, and second do at 12.

SATURDAY EVENING, November 30, 1872.

COTTON—The sales to-day summed up a little over 8100 bales, also yesterday, an addition to the 6050 reported, 731 bales, 365 of which were purchased after 4 P. M., 264 at 4 P. M., and 102 earlier, making the total for the day 6781 bales. Prices were again irregular, but less so than yesterday, and all desirable kinds were firmer, without requiring any change in our quotations. We give also the Exchange figures, which are for average lists according with the official type, while ours present the proper range of the market for average lots, but with the outside figures for low middling given as the outside figures for strict:

NEW ORLEANS CLASSIFICATION, ASSIMILATED TO THAT OF LIVERPOOL.

	General quotations.	Exchange quotations.
Low ordinary	— @—	—
Ordinary	16⅝@16⅞	16⅝
Good ordinary	17⅝@17⅞	17⅝
Low middling	17⅞@18⅛	18
Middling	18⅝@18	18⅝
Strict middling	19⅛@19⅜	—
Good middling	19⅝@19⅞	19⅝

The market opened with a good demand, which continued active throughout the day. The supply at the same time was ample, but notwithstanding factors were free sellers, and the dispatches from New York reported a decline of ⅛c, yet all desirable kinds were steadier and firmer, factors in some cases obtaining prices which they could not realize yesterday. On the other hand, flimsy, dingy and dusty lots were difficult of sale, even at inside rates, and in more than one instance offers were accepted ⅛c under yesterday's figures. This irregularity, however, was less common than yesterday, and in the bulk of the business the advantage was on the side of the factor. Strict ordinary to good ordinary sold at 17c; good ordinary at 17⅛, 17¼ and 17⅜—the last for benders'; strict good ordinary at 17⅜, 17½ and 17⅝; strict good ordinary to low middling at 17⅝ and 17¾; low middling at 17⅞, 18 and 18⅛c, strict low middling to middling at 18⅜c, and strict middling at 19⅜c.

The amount on shipboard not cleared, going on board and engaged for shipment was set down at the opening this morning at 77,000 bales, embracing 30,000 for Liverpool, 15,000 for Havre, 4000 for Spain, 4000 for the Mediterranean, 8000 for Bremen, 12,000 for the North Sea, and 4000 for the North, which when deducted from the stock on hand by our running statement last evening, left 65,200 bales to represent the quantity at the landing and in presses unsold and awaiting orders.

The Exchange reports: "Good demand; quotations unchanged; sales 8500 bales, including 600 after 4 P. M yesterday." Futures, 100 for March at 18½c, 100 for June at 19⅛c, and 100 for February at 18⅝c."
