LITERARY NOTES.

Mr. Ruskin was asked the other day what pay he expected for his paper in the current number of the "Magazine of Art?" He replied "a penny a line."

Mr. Lowell will describe in his Landors article in the February "Century" a visit which he paid to Landor at Bath in 1852. He will also present a hitherto unpublished poem by himself.

Lord Archibald Campbell won't let Mr. Stevenson's "Ticonderoga" alone. Its historical motive is so incorrect that it makes him unhappy. "One enthusiastic admirer of Mr. Stevenson's poem," he says, "asserted it will now live forever in the English language! I hope not, for it is all wrong."

The unpublished letters which Mendelssohn began to write to Moscheles when he was his pupil will appear in the next "Scribner." It is said that Mr. Stevenson in the paper, "The Lantern Bearers," which he has contributed to the same number, will plead for idealism in life and art.

Mrs. Green, the widow of the historian, writes in reference to her revision of her husband's "Short History of the English People:" "I know of no excuse which I could give for attempting any revision of the 'Short History,' save that this was my husband's last charge to me. Nor can I give any other safeguard for the way in which I have performed the work than the sincere and laborious effort I have made to carry out that charge faithfully. I have been very careful not to interfere in any way with the plan or structure of the book, and save in a few exceptional cases, in which I knew Mr. Green's wishes, or where a change of chronology made some slight change in arrangement necessary, I have not altered its order. My work has been rather that of correcting mistakes of detail which must of a certainty occur in a story which covers so vast a field; and in this I have been mainly guided throughout by the work of revision done by Mr. Green himself in his larger 'History.' In this 'History' he had at first proposed merely to prepare a library edition of the 'Short History' revised and corrected. In his hands, however, it became a wholly different book, the chief part of it having been rewritten at greater length and on an altered plan. I have therefore only used its corrections within very definite limits so far as they could be adapted to a book of different scope and arrangement." The sale of the work now exceeds 126,000 copies. The new edition will soon be ready for publication by Messrs. Macmillan & Co.

An unpublished "Schoolboys Sentimental Rhyming Essay" by the First Napoleon is to appear in a new French review called "Le Semeur."

The author of "The New Antigone," a striking novel lately reviewed in these columns, is Dr. Barry, a Roman Catholic priest.

Muntz's "Raphael" is to be succeeded by his "Leonardo da Vinci: His Times and Tasks."

In the December number of "Le Livre," M. Robert du Pontavice de Heussey has a paper in vindication of Bulwer, apropos of the extraordinary book published last year by Miss Louise Devey. The position taken by M. de Heussey is that Lady Lytton was mad, and that the charges she made against her husband were simply hallucinations. In support of this theory a synoptized account of Lady Lytton's career is given. The writer criticises Miss Devey severely for accepting as matter of fact allegations which any qualified alienist would have ascribed to cerebral disease without hesitation. Apart from the argument, this article furnishes some curious illustrations of the notorious tendency of Frenchmen to blunder whenever they have to do with foreign facts and people. His countrymen might be pardoned for failing to recognize the author of "The Scarlet Letter" and "The Marble Faun" in "Nathaniel Harnetow," the more especially since he is bracketed with Edgar Poe, as "that other American demoniac." Poor Mr. Weare, the victim of Thurtell, suffers a Gallic change and becomes "Mr. Veace," and tout Paris is gravely informed that English highwaymen, "les Chevaliers du Carrefour," called themselves "Knights of the Cross." This last is really a delightful muddle, though it is easy to see how it came about. What the highwaymen acutually called themselves, or were called, was "Knights of the Road." Now "carrefour" is "cross-road," and M. de Heussey has clearly taken the "cross" and left out the "road"—with characteristic national perversity. It is, perhaps, hardly surprising that he has not even got Bulwer's own name correctly, calling him George Edward, instead of Edward George, and omitting the baptismal name, Earle, which he also bore. These mistakes do not, of course, at all affect the argument of M. de Heussey, but they are indicative of French limitations.

PUBLISH THIS DAY:

I.
ANIMAL MAGNETISM.
From the French of ALFRED BINET and CHARLES FERE. "International Scientific Series." 12mo, cloth. Price, $1 50.
"It would at present be premature to write a didactic treatise on animal magnetism and hypnotism. This work only aims at giving an account of special researches which, notwithstanding their number and variety, will not justify general conclusions on the question. After receiving this warning, the reader will not be surprised to meet with occasional breaches of continuity, which are, however, more apparent than real, and which are due to our resolution not to speak of experiments which we have not verified for ourselves."—[From the Preface.

II.
RECOLLECTIONS OF FORTY YEARS.
By FERDINAND DE LESSEPS. Translated from the French. 8vo, two volumes in one. Price, $5.
Contents: The Mission to Rome; Episodes of 1840 at Paris and Madrid; Rome, Suez, Panama; The Origin of the Suez Canal; A Question of the Day; After the War of 1870-'71; The Interoceanic Canal and the Congress of 1879; Steam; Algeria and Tunis; Abd-el-Kader; Abyssinia; The Origin and Duties of Consuls; The French Academy.

III.
NATURAL RESOURCES OF THE UNITED STATES.
By JACOB HARRIS PATTON, M. A., Ph. D. 8vo, cloth, 16 + 523 pages. Price, $3.
The purpose of the volume is to give the American people a concise narration of the natural resources of their own country in all their numerous forms. The work is far more complete and thorough than anything litherto attempted, having been compiled from information placed at the disposition of the author by the Governors of the various States, and from material derived from other authentic sources.

IV.
HOME AGAIN.
A NOVEL. By GEORGE MACDONALD, author of "Annals of a Quiet Neighborhood," &c. 12mo. Paper, 50 cents; half bound, 75 cents.
"'Home Again' is a more compact and complete story than some of his later works. It is, of course, full of good things, pithy sayings, and deep thought. . . . A master's hand shows itself in every page."—[Literary World.

V.

THE PETROLEUM MARKET.

NEWS FROM THE FIELD AND RANGE OF PRICES.

The report of the Government Statistical Bureau of the exports of mineral oils and their products for December shows a decided increase in the volume and, what is more gratifying to the trade, a moderate value over 1886. For the year a small increase is shown in the volume of exports, but the ruinous prices which ruled earlier in the year result in producing a shrinkage in the value as compared with 1886. The two periods of 1886 and 1887 contrast as follows:

	—Month of December.— 1886.	1887.	Increase.
Gallons	44,368,049	49,891,451	5,505,402
Value	$3,591,881	$3,985,709	$393,821
	—For the year— 1886.	1887.	Changes.
Gallons	579,678,486	580,468,229	Inc. 789,743
Value	$47,016,605	$45,231,898	Dec. $1,784,707

The bears had their innings yesterday in the certificate market and smashed prices over 3 cents. They were highly elated by their success and have probably gained fresh courage. The reaction was not an important one compared with the extent of the advance of the last few weeks, but it received much comment because it came suddenly and in the face of a great deal of street talk about dollar oil this week. Perhaps it is probable that that mark would have been reached except for the improvement at an inside well in the Reibold District, which was reported as flowing at the rate of twenty barrels an hour and later at thirty barrels. The market opened heavy, and highest figures were reached in the first dealings, a sagging tendency giving evidence of some one's early information from the field. But not until the late afternoon was there any serious break; but on the circulation of the reports referred to the bears made a rush at prices, captured a number of stop orders and had the market down to 93¼ cents before they were checked. There was a quick recovery in the last few minutes of ⅜ cent, but the net loss from Thursday night is 2⅞ cents. Pending further definite news from the oil country it may be remarked that the Reibold gusher will probably show a decided falling off in the next few days; that it does not open a new extent of territory, although, of course, it may stimulate more operations in the neighborhood and reduce the monthly curtailment of stocks some thousands of barrels below the recent average of 1,200,000 barrels. The market closed fully steady at the decline, with 94 cents bid and 94⅛ cents asked.

The range of prices and the total dealings at the Consolidated Exchange were as follows:

Opening ..... 93¾ Lowest 93¼
Highest ..... 96⅞ Final 94
Sales, barrels 2,960,000

Refined oil was fairly active and prices were held unchanged at 7¾ cents per gallon, Abel test, at all ports.

OIL CITY, Penn., Jan. 13.—National Transit Certificates opened at 96⅞; highest, 96⅞; lowest, 93¼; closed, 93¾. Sales, 1,001,000 barrels; clearances, 2,290,000 barrels; charters, 36,587 barrels; shipments, 75,998 barrels; runs, 31,822 barrels.

PITTSBURG, Penn., Jan. 13.—Petroleum fairly active and firm. National Transit Certificates opened at 96⅞; closed at 94; highest, 96⅞; lowest, 93¼.

BRADFORD, Penn., Jan. 13.—National Transit Certificates opened at 96⅞; closed at 94; highest, 96⅞; lowest, 93¼. Clearances, 1,764,000 barrels.

TITUSVILLE, Penn., Jan. 13.—National Transit Certificates opened at 96⅞; highest, 96⅞; lowest, 93¼; closed, 93⅝.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKETS.

FEATURES OF NEW-YORK DEALINGS.

There was no feature to the cereal markets yesterday and speculation seems disposed to lag under the comparatively light business done recently in the export line. Shippers held back, although the cash market for wheat and corn was firm. The trading in wheat options ran up to 2,800,000 bushels, an increase upon Friday's business, but nevertheless the interruption of telegraph communication by the storm reduced the volume of transactions. Prices were alternately firm and easy within narrow limits, but final figures were a shade higher in some instances, and the close was steady. Option corn was relatively stronger than the leading cereal and the market closed firm at gains of ⅝@⅞ cent. Oats were dull, but again a shade better for spot and options both. Shippers bought 250 tierces of lard and the options were a trifle higher.

The final quotations were as follows:

Wheat—January 91, February 91⅝, March 92¾, April 93¾, May 94¾, June 95, December 97⅞ cents.
Corn—January 51¾, February 52, March 52½, May 52⅝ cents.
Oats—January 38⅛, February 38⅜, March 39⅜, May 40½ cents.
Lard—February $7 68, March $7 76, April $7 83, May $7 88, June $7 94, July $8.

The receipts of grain and flour reported yesterday at New-York, Baltimore, Philadelphia and Boston were as follows: Wheat, 19,000 bushels; corn, 28,328 bushels; oats, 62,191 bushels; total grain, 107,357 bushels; flour, 42,264 packages. At Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Louis the arrivals were: Wheat, 46,044 bushels; corn, 104,283 bushels; oats, 118,718 bushels; total grain, 329,045 bushels; flour, 27,844 barrels.
