State offices this year. It was also decided to draw up an eight hour law for all classes of laboring men, women and children, and to present it to every candidate for office this fall for an explicit answer as to whether he will support it.

The sense of the meeting was that instead of making independent nominations the party could use the balance of power, which it claims to hold, for the election of such men only as are favorable to its principles.

The Bible in the School.

TOLEDO, June 18.—The indications are that the question of reading the Bible in public schools is to be agitated here. In the board of education last night the following resolution was offered:

That the reading from any version of the book commonly known as the Bible, singing hymns commonly known as religious hymns, and religious action commonly known as prayer, shall not hereafter be any part of the exercises in any of the schools under the control of this board, and the same is hereby prohibited.

No action was taken on the resolution.

Boiler Explosion.

The boiler of Stevens & Co.'s wheelbarrow factory, at Cold Water, Michigan, exploded to-day, killing Isaac Stevens, the father of the proprietor, and John Hudson, a boy sixteen years old; injuring William Voorhies internally, N. Voorhies in the chest, Samuel M. Williams in the head and shoulders, William Marble in the head and back, and Wallace Culver badly bruised. All but William Voorhies will probably recover. Cause, defective boiler. The firm has been burned out three times within a few years, the last time on the first of April, and had just begun business again.

To be Hanged.

LITTLE ROCK, June 18.—Cass Matlack, the murderer of the Missouri Movers at Rock Creek last November, will be hanged to-morrow.

Election of a Bishop.

MILWAUKEE, June 18.—The Episcopal Church convention last night elected Dr. Edward R. Wells, of Minnesota, bishop of this diocese.

Cremation.

[Professor Fraser in the Penn Monthly for June.]

By burial we do not immediately, and probably never in the most desirable way, restore to the earth the material we have taken from her, as was the opinion of Thales; or if we did it is hardly to be denied that it is just as wise to restore these elements to the atmosphere, whence they are taken by our intermediators with the earth, the plants. There are three ways of accomplishing the purpose of disposing of the dead with care to avoid injury to the living. One is burial under proper restrictions, one is decomposition by chemical agents, and the last is by burning. The second of these may be dismissed as at once revolting and impracticable, and we are left to consider the advantages of burial and burning. If we rigidly adhere to the plan of choosing that method which shall be: First, safest; second, shall prevent all horrible and ghastly scenes and the desecration of the dead; third, which shall restore to nature most expeditiously the little store of her materials held in trust for a few years, we must unhesitatingly give the preference to burning. Here nothing is left to chance—not even resuscitation. There are no horrid exhumations and mangling of remains; no poisoning of wells; no generation of low fevers and disgusting insects. The body, if not the soul, flies heavenward and leaves a trifling residue of white bone-earth behind.

A Touching Romance.

"There is a touching romance in connection with Ellsworth's death, which became public for the first time on the day of the dedication of his monument. The beautiful little incident illustrates woman's devotion. When Ellsworth died he was affianced to a beautiful young lady, and she vowed to ever after lead a life of celibacy. Years have passed over her young head, and she has not been mercifully called to rejoin that other self whom she loved better than life, without whom life is death.

One who knew her attended the dedication of the monument, and inquired first and eagerly for the beautiful bride of Ellsworth's hovering spirit. She was not there. Surely she must be dead; nothing else could keep her from such a tribute to her spirit love. He ascertained it was not death that detained her. It was not convenient for her to leave her husband and children. She had "weakened" on her vow several years since. Oh, woman, in our hours of ease how you "stick;" but after we are planted how you don't stick!

Donn Piatt says: "Humor is to a newspaper what a tail is to a kite—very absurd, but very necessary to its ascension."

MONETARY.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY REPUBLICAN,
THURSDAY EVENING, June 18, 1874.

We have no new feature to notice in the money market. The offerings are of moderate extent at the banks and limited on the street. Commercial paper is without quotable variation. We continue to quote selected signatures, with or without collaterals, at 8@9 cent per annum; first class at 9@10; A1 at 11@12, and second grade at 12@14 ⅌ cent per month. First class mortgages rule at 10 ⅌ cent per annum, while nothing is reported in second grade.

The following suggestive foreign telegrams were posted at the Cotton Exchange:

LONDON, June 18, 12:30 P. M.—Rate of discount at Bank of England is 2½ ⅌ cent.

5:30 P. M.—Specie in Bank of England increased £329,000. Proportion bank reserve to liability 48⅛ ⅌ cent.

4 P. M.—Amount of bullion gone into Bank of England on balance to day £29,000.

PARIS, June 18, 5:30 P. M.—Specie in Bank of France increased 11,492,000f.

Gold opened at 111@111¼, against 111⅛ at New York, and after a moderate business closed at 110¾@111, against 111 in that market. The sales summed up $40,000, embracing $1000 at 110¾; $2000, $8000 and $10,000 at 111; $1000 and $4000 at 111⅛, and $14,000 at 111¼@111¾.

Nothing transpired in silver. American half dollars were still quoted at 105@106, but Mexican dollars were at par with gold, being quoted at 110¾@111.

Under the course of gold and bills at New York sterling exchange ruled about 2-10 ⅌ cent lower for commercial, and 1-10 for bank. The demand was fair, but, with limited offerings, the the movement was of moderate extent. The sales amounted to £19,200, embracing £2000 A1 clear at $5 39, £1200 do. and £1000 and £10,000 bill of lading at $5 40, £1000 A1 clear at $5 41, £2000 bank at $5 45, £1000 do. sight, at $5 50, and £1000 bank, for gold, at $5 90¾.

France responded to the decline in gold and foreign exchange at New York, closing lower than yesterday. They continued very scarce, and the only sale reported was 50,000 bank at—.

At the close sterling bills were quoted at $5 39@5 40 for bill of lading and A1 clear, and $5 43@— for bank, and francs at 5.67½@4.66¼ for private and entirely nominal for bank.

The offerings of domestic exchange were of moderate extent and with a fair demand rates were without quotable variation. The sales of New York sight covered over $100,000, embracing $15,000 commercial at ¼ ⅌ cent premium; $10,000 private bankers' at 9-32, and $8000 and $20,000 commercial and $50,000 private bankers' at 5-16.

The banks continued to check on New York at ¼ ⅌ cent premium, and commercial sight was still quoted at 5-16.

No sales of stocks were reported.

In bonds we noticed sales of $200 new city seven per cents at 44; $2000 city gold bearing seven per cents at 52, and some sales of State six per cents, of which the particulars were withheld. City gold bearing seven per cents were quoted at the close at about 51½@51¾. This decline was unexpected, in face of the assurance that the fiscal agency is in funds to meet the accruing interest.

Nothing transpired in city scrip worthy of notice on which to base quotations.

Stock warrants were dull, and no sales were reported. Quotations continued nominal at 40@42 for large, 43@46 for medium, and 50@55 for small.

COMMERCIAL.

THURSDAY EVENING, June 18, 1874.

COTTON—The sales to-day (not including 100 bales additional yesterday) embraced 1000 bales at irregular prices, requiring no change in our quotations. We give also the Exchange figures, and report as below:

The market opened under somewhat conflicting influences. Liverpool was reported firmer at previous quotations, and 1-16d higher for arrivals, with sales of 15,000 bales. On the other hand, spots at New York were dull and weak at yesterday's quotations, and futures irregular, but showing a pretty general falling off of 1-32@3-32c. The movement during the morning was consequently confined to about 500 bales at prices showing no quotable variation, after which parties came together more freely, and the entire business summed up the amount noted above. Upon the street there appeared to be a more cheerful feeling among factors, but those who were instructed to realize found it difficult, if not impossible, to force sales unless by additional concessions, which they were unwilling to make. The lower grades were offered freely, but without stimulating the demand. A high style of good ordinary sold at 15¾c, which is ⅛c above our quoted figures; strict good ordinary at 15½c; strict good ordinary to low middling, approximating the latter, at 15¾c; Liverpool low middling at the same, and low middling, good style, at 15¾c. Strict low middling was offered at 16½c.

The amount on shipboard not cleared, going on board and engaged for shipment was set down at the opening this morning at 13,000 bales, embracing 10,000 bales for Liverpool, 1000 for Spain and 2000 for the North, which, when deducted from the stock on hand by our running statement yesterday evening, leaves 42,400 bales to represent the quantity at the landing and in presses unsold or awaiting orders.

The Exchange reports: "Sales 1700 bales, including 100 bales after 3 P. M. yesterday; market irregular."
