THE WEATHER REPORT

Forecasts and Records of the Last Twenty-four Hours.

Official Record and Forecast.—Washington, March 27—The pressure is high along the Northern border east of the Rocky Mountains and off the south Atlantic coast, and is low over the plains states, the Rocky Mountain region and the middle Mississippi and Ohio valleys. This pressure distribution has resulted in continued warm weather in the Southern states, the Ohio Valley and the middle Atlantic states, and moderately cold weather along the Northern border. The weather remains overcast over much of the country, and during the last twenty-four hours there were rains in the great central valleys, the Gulf states, the Atlantic states north of Maryland, the region of the Great Lakes and the Northwest. Heavy rains fell in the Ohio and lower Mississippi valleys. There will be rain, with lower temperature, Saturday in Southern New England, the middle Atlantic states and the Ohio Valley, followed by generally fair weather in these districts Sunday. Cloudy weather and showers are also probable Saturday and Sunday in the south Atlantic and Gulf states, the Mississippi Valley and the plains states. Over the Northern border states and the Rocky Mountain and plateau regions the weather will be generally fair Saturday and Sunday.

Winds for Saturday and Sunday: North Atlantic, moderate northeast and east; middle Atlantic, moderate variable; south Atlantic and east Gulf, moderate east and southeast; west Gulf, moderate to brisk southeast and south; Lake Michigan, moderate northeast and east.

Forecast for Special Localities.—Eastern New York, cloudy in north, rain and colder in south portion to-day; to-morrow, cloudy, moderate variable winds.

Western New York, cloudy Saturday, probably preceded by rain; Sunday cloudy; moderate northeast winds.

Southern New England, cloudy and colder Saturday, preceded by rain; Sunday cloudy; moderate north and northeast winds.

Northern New England, cloudy Saturday; Sunday unsettled; moderate northeast and east winds.

New Jersey, Eastern Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia and Virginia, rain and cooler Saturday; Sunday cloudy; moderate, variable winds.

Western Pennsylvania, rain and colder Saturday; Sunday unsettled; moderate north winds.

West Virginia, rain and colder Saturday; Sunday, colder.

Local Official Record.—The following official record from the Weather Bureau shows the changes in the temperature for the last twenty-four hours, in comparison with the corresponding date of last year:

J. A. WALLACE FALLS DEAD

Head of Independent Telephone Co. Dies at Door of Office.

John A. Wallace, president of the Independent Telephone Company, died yesterday in the corridor outside his offices on the twelfth floor of No. 130 Liberty street from heart disease. He lived with his daughter, Miss May C. Wallace, at No. 60 St. Nicholas avenue. She had urged him for the last few days to remain at home, but he refused.

Before starting his campaign for an independent telephone system Mr. Wallace was in the real estate business in St. Louis. When he came to this city, fifteen years ago, he was reputed to be worth $200,000. He died at the age of seventy-five a poor man, but without having lost hope that some day there would be a change in his favor and his fight against the established system would be rewarded.

After forming a corporation here Mr. Wallace attempted to obtain the right to use underground conduits of the Empire City Subway Company. He failed to get his wires into them, however, losing his fight in the highest courts after years of expensive litigation.

In addition to the daughter with whom he lived two sons survive him. They are F. Ernest Wallace, advertising manager of "The Elizabeth Daily Journal," in New Jersey, and John A. Wallace, of Brooklyn, a contract freight agent for the 'Frisco lines.

DINNER ENDS WIFE'S SUIT

Couple Return from Meal Together and Action Is Dismissed.

Mineola, Long Island, March 27.—Justice Benedict, of the Supreme Court, persuaded Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Fanshaw, of Mineola, in his court to-day to try and make up their differences and live together. Fanshaw is a well-to-do butcher, and his wife complained that he had treated her cruelly and asked for a separation. She said that Mrs. Charles Rogers was in the habit of talking to her husband. Mrs. Rogers is a church worker in Mineola and the mother of a boy of twenty years.

Mr. Fanshaw denied all his wife's allegations on the stand and made such a favorable impression that the court persuaded him to take his wife to dinner and try and make it up. The couple went to dinner together, and when they returned to the courthouse the case was adjourned indefinitely.

ELECTION NOTICE.

STATE OF NEW YORK
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE.
Albany, January 29, 1914.

To the Custodian of Primary Records of the County of New York:

Sir—Notice is hereby given, that, at a Special Election to be held in this State on the first Tuesday in April next (April 7th), there will be submitted to the people for approval the following question: "Shall there be a convention to revise the constitution and amend the same?"

CHAPTER 819.

AN ACT to provide for submitting to the people the question, "Shall there be a convention to revise the constitution and amend the same?" and to provide for such convention, if a majority of the electors shall decide that such convention be held. Became a law December 17, 1913, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. A special election shall be held throughout the state on the first Tuesday in April, in the year nineteen hundred and fourteen, at which there shall be submitted to the electors of the state, to be decided by them the question, "Shall there be a convention to revise the constitution and amend the same?"

Every person qualified at that time to vote for members of the legislature, may vote upon such question at the special election hereby appointed to be held. Such question shall be submitted in the manner provided by law for the submission of constitutional amendments. Such election shall be conducted by the same officers and in the same manner, and ballots, booths and election supplies furnished therefor, as a special election called by the governor, except as otherwise provided herein. The ballots shall be in the form prescribed by section three hundred and thirty-two of the election law and where voting machines are in use, by article eleven of such law. All provisions of the election law regulating the taking of a vote of the people upon a constitutional amendment or other question submitted at a special election shall apply to the election to be held under this section, excepting that the board of elections may destroy all ballots not void or protested cast at this election after sixty days, unless otherwise directed by a committee of the legislature, the district attorney of the county or a competent court of record. Inspectors of election of the various election districts shall meet in their respective districts at the place designated therefor, on the second Saturday preceding such election, from eight o'clock in the forenoon to ten o'clock in the evening, for the purpose of revising and correcting the register of voters in the manner provided by the election law for ascertaining electors qualified to vote at a special election. If a majority of the electors voting on such question are shown to have voted in the affirmative upon such question, as shall appear from the returns of county boards of canvassers to the state board of canvassers and by its canvass of such returns, such convention shall be held and shall be deemed duly called thereby, and delegates therefor shall be elected as provided in section two of article fourteen of the constitution.

Sec. 2. If, at the election held pursuant to the provisions of section one of this act, such question be decided in the affirmative, delegates to such convention to revise and amend the constitution shall be elected at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November, in the year nineteen hundred and fourteen. At such general election, three delegates shall be elected from each senate district of the state, as such districts were organized at the time of such special election, and fifteen delegates-at-large.

Sec. 3. Candidates for delegates from a senatorial district shall be nominated in the manner provided in the election law for the nomination of candidates for the office of state senator, and may be designated in the same manner as candidates for the office of state senator. Candidates for delegates-at-large may be nominated by independent certificates or by parties, in the manner provided in the election law for the nomination of candidates to be voted for by all the electors of the state. A separate and additional official ballot shall be provided for voting for delegates-at-large and district delegates, which shall be in the form provided by law for voting for presidential electors, so far as practicable. Any disqualification now imposed by law upon any person holding any other office is hereby removed, so far as the right to be a delegate to such convention is concerned.

Sec. 4. All laws, not inconsistent with this act, governing the election of public officers at general elections shall be applicable to the election of delegates to such constitutional convention. Where voting machines shall be used the names of the fifteen delegates-at-large may be placed upon one ballot in each party column or row containing only the words "constitutional delegates-at-large," preceded by the party name and party emblem. A vote for such ballots shall operate as a vote for all of the candidates of such party for delegates-at-large and shall be counted as such. But suitable provision must also be made where voting machines are used, to enable the voter to cast his vote for any one or more of the fifteen delegates-at-large for whom he desires to vote.

Sec. 5. In case of a vacancy by death, resignation or any other cause, of any district delegate elected to the convention, such vacancy shall be filled by a vote of the remaining delegates representing the district in which such vacancy occurs. If such vacancy occurs in the office of a delegate-at-large, such vacancy shall be filled by a vote of the remaining delegates-at-large.

Sec. 6. It shall be the duty of the secretary of state to call the convention to order, and preside at all meetings thereof until a temporary chairman, president or other presiding officer, either temporary or permanent, shall have been elected by such convention and shall have taken his seat, but the secretary of state shall have no vote therein unless he be a duly elected delegate to such convention. All public officers, boards and commissions shall promptly furnish such convention or any committee thereof with all such information, papers, statements, books or other public documents in their possession as the convention or such committee shall order or require for use at any time during the session of the convention. It shall be the duty of the secretary of state, the attorney-general, and the comptroller, who shall be in office on the tenth day of January in the year nineteen hundred and fifteen, to cause to be prepared and ready for such convention a suitable manual, two copies of which shall be furnished to each member and officer of the convention, and the expense of which shall be paid by the treasurer upon the warrant of the comptroller.

Sec. 7. Every delegate to the convention shall be privileged from arrest on civil process during his attendance at the session of the convention except on process issued in any suit brought against him for any forfeiture, misdemeanor or breach of trust in an office or place of public trust held by him. Each delegate shall enjoy the like privilege for the space of fourteen days before and after any such session, and during adjournments thereof, or when absent with leave of the convention. No officer of the convention, while in actual attendance upon the same, shall be liable to arrest on civil process. For any speech or debate in the convention, the delegates shall not be questioned in any other place. The convention shall have the power to expel any of its members and to punish its members and officers for disorderly behavior, by imprisonment or otherwise, but no member shall be expelled until the report of a committee appointed to inquire into the facts alleged as the ground for such expulsion shall have been received by the convention. The convention shall have the power to punish as a contempt and by imprisonment or otherwise, a breach of its privileges or of the privileges of its members, but such powers shall not be exercised except against persons guilty of one or more of the following offenses:

1. The offense of arresting a member or officer of the convention in violation of his privilege from arrest, as hereinbefore declared.

2. The offense of disorderly conduct in the immediate view and presence of the convention and directly tending to interrupt and disturb its proceedings.

3. The offense of publishing any false and malicious report of the proceedings of the convention or of the conduct of an officer or delegate in his official capacity.

4. That of refusing to attend or be examined as a witness or to produce papers and documents called for by subpœna either before the convention or a committee thereof, or before any person authorized by the convention or by a committee thereof to take testimony in the proceedings of the convention.

5. That of giving or offering a bribe to any member or of attempting by menace or other corrupt means, or inducement or device directly or indirectly, to control or influence a member in his vote or other official conduct in or in relation to the convention.

In any case in which the convention shall punish any person by imprisonment, such imprisonment shall not extend beyond the session of the convention.

Sec. 8. The secretary of state shall, as soon as practicable after this act takes effect, transmit a printed copy thereof to the board of elections of each county of the state and to the board of elections of the city of New York.

Sec. 9. This act shall take effect immediately.
