Automotives

Reports that General Motors was intending to absorb the holdings of Henry Ford in the Ford Motor Company may be based on an earlier rumor from Detroit that G. M. C. intended to buy the Highland Park plant of the Ford company. This is the plant built up by Henry Ford, in which the parts for separate assembly, as well as completed Ford cars, have been turned out. Mr. Ford, it is understood, plans some day to bring all his properties together at Dearborn, where the tractor plant is, and to turn out there all the Henry Ford & Son product.

If G. M. C. does buy out Henry Ford it will explain Mr. Ford's recent announcement that he intended to get out of the Ford Motor Company and build a $250 car under the Fordson name. At that time it was not clear how he would be able to quit, as there was no disposition on the part of the other stockholders, it seemed, to acquire Mr. Ford's holdings.

Report has also connected General Motors with Maxwell and Chalmers. If G. M. C. buys out all the companies that rumor says it will the main part of the industry will eventually be in few hands. This is possibly the underlying idea of the big combination which W. C. Durant, president of General Motors, started years ago.

Automobile thieves would be balked if the suggestion of H. W. Hyser, of Grand Rapids, Mich., is enacted. Here's his plan: Authorize the Secretary of State to issue exclusive permits to owners of automobiles to use certain numbers, names or devices to brand certain parts of their cars, and the brands to be placed in certain designated spots.

Require these marks to be cut, stamped or stained into the material of the part in such a manner that they would not be removed or obliterated without defacing or mutilating the parts. Make it a crime to drive a car with such markings defaced.

Make the permit from the Secretary of State evidence of ownership when issued, and transferrable with the car by being duly acknowledged before a notary, these acknowledgements to be written on the permit, thus forming a chain of title like an abstract. This plan was suggested to Mr. Hyser by the B. F. Goodrich company's advice to all motorists to cheat the tire thief by branding the inside of a tire casing.
