Day's Dealings in Bonds

The Market

A sharp contrast between foreign government issues and the general list featured yesterday's trading in the bond market. The British note on international indebtedness and the absence of apparent progress toward a European adjustment, emphasized by a further break in the mark, caused uneasiness in this section, and declines ranging up to almost a point were frequent. French issues were particularly affected, but the greatest decline occurred in City of Greater Prague 7½s, which dropped more than 4 points. United Kingdom issues, in contrast, held firm. Both railroad and industrial bonds tended upward on fair buying, while most of the Liberty loans improved their position fractionally.
