Stock Prices Up in Spite of Profit Taking

Steel Common at New High; Unfilled Tonnage Figures as Market Factor; Union Pacific Leads Rails

Speculation continued on a broad scale yesterday and despite considerable profit taking sales especially in the morning, the balance of sentiment was of the opinion that future conditions of trade justified higher speculative prices. Accordingly, many individual issues climbed to the highest level of the year and, of course, since 1920, and The Tribune's averages of representative railroad and industrial shares reached the highest level attained since the present upward movement began.

The figures on unfilled tonnage which the United States Steel Corporation made public on Saturday were more favorable than expected and this development gave a pretext for heightened speculative buying. Steel common, the traditional leader was at the van of yesterday's fluctuations, touching a new high mark.

While speculative issues were soaring investment bonds likewise jumped to the highest reaches of the year. The quick response of the investing public to an offering of $200,000,000 of new one-year 3¾ per cent certificates of indebtedness not only helped the market position of Liberty bonds but was regarded as tantamount to a declaration by Secretary Mellon that credit was bountiful. Last June when certificates were brought out at this rate commercial paper rates were easier. Since there has been a slight stiffening. The ability of the government to finance its short term needs at this low rate, however, is an indication of the plentifulness of money, and upon this recognition speculation for the rise in the stock market has been to a large extent based.

As Steel common led the industrials Union Pacific was at the forefront of the railroad issues. The equipment shares were likewise firm.

After strength in the morning cotton quotations slumped 26 to 33 points net. Wheat prices were ⅜ to 1 cent lower at the close of an unsettled market.

The European exchanges were for the most part easier, due largely to the inability of Belgium to get satisfactory guaranties from Germany regarding the new basis for reparation payments. The uncertainty of the Greek drachma, because of war conditions, also has had an unsettling effect on sentiment.

Money and Credit

Call money opened and renewed yesterday at 4 per cent on the Stock Exchange. Loans were arranged on this basis until shortly before the close, when the rate was marked up to 4½ per cent. The Federal Reserve Bank announced that the government would withdraw to-day $7,750,000 of the funds it has on deposit with banks here. Time money was quiet, loans up to three months being arranged at 4¼ and 4½ per cent. For the longer periods bidders were generally unwilling to pay the asked rate of 4¾ per cent.

The Dollar in Foreign Exchange

Unfavorable developments in the Near East and the inability of Belgium to get satisfactory guaranties from Germany resulted in increased offerings on European exchanges yesterday and quotations ruled generally easier at the close. Rates on Greece were nominal here, drachmas being quoted at 3.25, but in London the rate was equivalent to 2.55.
