ALBERT S. JOHNSTONE REPORTS CONDITIONS

WAS FAVORABLY IMPRESSED WITH THINGS IN THIS COUNTY

SUGGESTIONS

Are Made as to How Conditions in Jails, Chaingangs and County Home Can Be Bettered.

Albert S. Johnstone, secretary of the State Board of Charities and Corrections, recently inspected the city and county jails, the two chaingangs and the county home as a part of the work the board is trying to do in the way of a preliminary survey of the penal, charitable and correctional institutions of the state for the consideration of the 1916 legislature.

"I found," said Mr. Johnstone, "that those officials with whom I came in contact were desirous of improving the conditions of their plants. This is typical of the responses we are getting all over the state."

Chief Sammons and Capt. Bell showed Mr. Johnstone through the city jail where he was told that the average number of prisoners is only three, the maximum twenty-eight, and the normal capacity sixteen to twenty. In the white cells, steel bunks attached to the walls are provided; in the negro straw ticks are used as pallets.

Under present conditions the jail is very hard to keep clean," said Mr. Johnstone. "Apparently there is not provided sufficient janitor service as I was told the rooms had not been cleaned since Saturday—I visited them on Thursday—and that they were swept only when the janitor was available from his other duties. Three of the four rooms occupied by the negroes have only one window each, the sun rarely gets into these cells, especially those corners where the pallets are; none of the windows or doors are screened, despite the fact that the stable used by the horses of the fire department is only a few feet from the negro cell house. The white quarters are especially well ventilated; keeping them clean would be much easier if the steel portions were raised about an inch from the floor so that the hose could be turned on and the water be drained off instead of mopped out as is necessary now."

Accompanied by Sheriff Ashley the secretary visited the county jail. The sheriff stated that because his jail had been out of town several days and court had just ended conditions at the jail were not normal. Mr. Johnstone said that though small this jail is one of the better jails of the state. The women's quarters are entirely separate from the men's, and the negro men occupy one pier of cells, while the white men occupy another, in large room some thirty feet long, twenty-five feet wide and twenty-five feet high. The sheriff's quarters are crowded; his jailer sleeps in the jail office; and the stove that would ordinarily be put in a pantry, are kept out on the back porch with no protection from beating rains except such as is afforded by screened lattice work. There is no pantry.

"There seems to be a real need for a padded cell and for a hospital room for pellagrins. Certainly there ought to be a detention room of some sort to isolate contagious cases, to comply with the state law. Better bathing facilities are needed. A shower bath here would be much better, especially as the tub looks into the jailer's office below. The white and the negro women now have to use the same tub. The south corridor in the men's section has a drain pipe over which a shower could be built. This would be much cleaner than the tubs can possibly be."

The chaingangs both use tents with dirt floors. Under these conditions it is practically impossible to keep the bedding clean. The unusual quality of the supervision, however, is indicated by the fact that in Capt. McConnell's gang are 45 prisoners, of whom 19 are trustees; in Capt. Cook's gang are 49 prisoners, of whom 21 are trustees. Each gang has a foreman and but two days guards. "In my experience thus far," said Mr. Johnstone, "I recall no gangs that have such a large percentage of trustees and so few guards. This would indicate good management above the ordinary. End; camp reported one escape in 1915. The trustees wear solid suits, not convict stripes. In McConnell's gang, he told me, the men do not sleep in their day clothes, but remove them and sleep in undershirts provided for that purpose. This is one of the few gangs I have found where this is done."

To the Public. "I feel that I owe the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy a word of gratitude," writes Mrs. E. N. Withersall, Gowanda, N. Y. "When I began taking this medicine I was in great pain and feeling terribly sick, due to an attack of summer complaint. After taking a dose of it I had not long to wait for relief as it benefited me almost immediately." For sale by all dealers.

Billousness and Constipation. It is certainly surprising that a woman will endure the miserable feelings caused by billousness and constipation, when relief is so easily had at so little expense. Mrs. Chas. Peck, Gates, N. Y., writes: "About a year ago I used two bottles of Chamberlain's Tablets and they cured me of billousness and constipation." For sale by all dealers.

Uric Acid in Meat Clogs The Kidneys

Take a Glass of Salts If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates thus ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

WISHED SHE COULD DIE

And Be Free From Her Troubles, but Finds Better Way.

Columbia, Tenn.—"Many a time," says Mrs. Jessie Sharp, of this place, "I wished I would die and be relieved of my suffering, from womanly troubles. I could not get up, without pulling at something to ease me, and stayed in bed most of the time. I could not do my housework."

The least amount of work tired me out. My head would swim, and I would tremble for an hour or more. Finally took Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I am not bothered with pains any more, and I don't have to go to bed. In fact, I am sound and well of all my troubles."

Cardui goes to all the weak spots and helps to make them strong. It acts with nature—not against her. It is for the tired, nervous, irritable women, who feel as if everything were wrong, and need something to quiet their nerves and strengthen the worn-out system.

If you are a woman, suffering from any of the numerous symptoms of womanly trouble, take Cardui. It will help you. At all druggists.
