GENERAL NOTICES.

A Card
FROM THE EDITOR OF THE METROPOLITAN RECORD.
To the Editor of the New York Sun:—
The undersigned has read with the surprise in the New York Sun of December 1, statements prejudicial to the character of the METROPOLITAN RECORD, of which he is the responsible editor.
THE METROPOLITAN RECORD is simply a Catholic family paper, and studies to abstain from politics in every partisan sense. The matter referred to, and quoted in the New York Sun, appeared in the RECORD as an advertisement, which is never understood to express, necessarily, the opinion of the editor. If it was inserted as an advertisement, it was paid for as an advertisement, and if the person who took it from the METROPOLITAN RECORD had been candid, he would have acknowledged the fact.
The undersigned, as an individual, will cast his vote for the candidate who he thinks the most worthy, but there is no influence that could induce him to allow the METROPOLITAN RECORD to become a utensil for any party, or for any candidate; and, as between the two whose names are published as having appeared in the RECORD, the undersigned will not allow his paper to discriminate as to merits. It will be for the people of this city to determine that question—each voter for himself.
The undersigned has been personally applied to by a high public official, who requested that the RECORD should endorse his views by publishing them in its editorial columns. This request was promptly but politely refused, and in this state of the case it appears rather ungenerous that a paper which has not and never will have, in his opinion, anything to do with politics, should be dragged as the RECORD has been, into a column of political partisanship like that published in the New York Sun.
JOHN MULLALY,
Editor and Proprietor of the
138 METROPOLITAN RECORD.
