THE SANS-CULOTTES OF PARIS.

Foreshadowing of Another Reign of Terror —The Women Knitting and Bringing Babes to the Revolutionary Tribunal.

Correspondence of the London Daily News.

In the evening I went to the Club Rue D'Arras, which is presided over by the "venerable" Blanqui in person, and where the ultras of the Ultras congregate. The club is a large square room, with a gallery at one end and a long tribune at the other. On entering through a baize door one is called upon to contribute a few sous to the fund for making cartridges. When I got there it was about 8:30. The venerable Blanqui was seated at a table on the tribune; before him were two assessors. One an unwholesome citizen, with long blond hair hanging down his back, the other a most truculent-looking ruffian.

The hall was nearly full; many were in blouses, the rest in uniform; about one-fifth of the audience was composed of women, who either knitted or nourished the infants which they held in their arms. A citizen was speaking. He held a list in his hand of a new Government. As he read out the names some were applauded, others rejected. I had found a place on a bench by the side of a lady with a baby, who was occupied, like most of the other ladies, in taking its supper. Its food, however, apparently did not agree with it, for it commenced to squall lustily.

"Silence" roared a hundred voices; but the baby only yelled the louder. "Sit upon it," observed some energetic citizens, looking at me.

The mother became frightened lest a coup d'état should be made upon her offspring, and after turning it up and solemnly smacking it, took it away from the Club. By this time orator No. 1 had been succeeded by orator No. 2. This gentleman, a Belgian in the National Guard, thus continued:

"Citizens, I am better than any of you. (Indignant inquiries.) Yes! In the Hôtel de Ville on Monday I told Gen. Trochu that he was a coward."

Tremendous shouts of "You are a liar," and men and women shook their fists at the speaker. Up rose the venerable Blanqui. There was a dead silence.

"I am master here," he said; "when I call a speaker to order he must leave the tribune, until then he remains."

The Club listened to the words of the sage with reverential awe, and the orator was allowed to go on.

"This, perhaps, no one will deny," he continued, "I took an order from the Citizen Flourens to the public printing establishment. The order was the execution of the Government of National Defence"—great applause—and continued with his triumph the Belgian had respected into private life.

After him followed several other citizens, who proposed resolutions, which were put and carried. I only remember one of them, which was that the Jesuits in Vaugirard (a school) should at once be ejected from the territory of the Republic. At half-o'clock the venerable Blanqui announced that the sitting was over, and the public noisily withdrew.

Helmbold's Buchu.

THE KIDNEYS.

The Kidneys are two in number, situated at the upper part of the loins, surrounded by fat, and consisting of three parts, viz.: the Anterior, the Interior, and the Exterior.

The anterior absorbs. Interior consists of tissues or veins, which serves as a deposit for the urine and convey it to the exterior. The exterior is a conductor also, terminating in a single tube, and called the Ureter. The ureters are connected with the bladder.

The bladder is composed of various coverings or tissues, divided into parts, viz.: the Upper, the Lower, the Nervous, and the Mucous. The upper expels, the lower retains. Many have a desire to urinate without the ability; others urinate without the ability to retain. This frequently occurs in children.

To cure these affections, we must bring into action the muscles, which are engaged in their various functions. If they are neglected, Gravel or Dropsy may ensue.

The reader must also be made aware that however slight may be the attack, it is sure to affect the bodily health and mental powers, as our flesh and blood are supported from these sources.

GOUT, OR RHEUMATISM.—Pain occurring in the loins is indicative of the above diseases. They occur in persons disposed to acid stomach and chalky concretions.

THE GRAVEL.—The gravel ensues from neglect or improper treatment of the above organs. These organs being weak, the water is not expelled from the bladder, but allowed to remain; it becomes feverish, and sediment forms. It is from this deposit that the stone is formed, and gravel ensues.

DROPSY is a collection of water in some parts of the body, and bears different names, according to the parts affected, viz.: when generally diffused over the body, it is called Anasarca; when of the abdomen, Ascites; when of the chest, Hydrothorax.

TESTIMONY.—Helmbold's highly concentrated compound Extract Buchu is decidedly one of the best remedies for diseases of the bladder, kidneys, gravel, dropsical swellings, rheumatism, and gouty affections. Under this head we have arranged Dysuria, or difficulty and pain in passing water; scanty Secretion, or small and frequent discharges of water; Strangury, or "drop" ping of water; Hematuria, or bloody urine; Gout and Rheumatism of the kidneys, without any change in quantity, but increase in color, or dark water. It was always highly recommended by the late Dr. Physic, in these affections.

This medicine increases the power of digestion, and excites the absorbents into healthy exercise by which the watery or calcareous depositions and all unnatural enlargements, as well as pain and inflammation, are reduced, and it is taken by men, women, and children. Directions for use and diet are empty.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 25, 1867.

H. T. HELMBOLD, Druggist.

DEAR SIR: I have been a sufferer for upward of twenty years with gravel, bladder, and kidney affections, during which time I have used various medicinal preparations, and been under the treatment of the most eminent Physicians, experiencing but little relief.

Hearing seen your preparations extensively advertised I consulted with my family physician in regard to using your Extract Buchu.

I did the doubtful I had tried all kinds of advertised remedies and had found them worthless, and some quite injurious; in fact, I despaired of ever getting well, and determined to use no remedies hereafter unless I knew of the ingredients. It was this that prompted me to use your remedy. As you advertised that it was composed of buchu, cubebs, and juniper berries, I occurred to me and my physician as an excellent combination, and with his advice, after an examination of the above ingredients, which I find to be correct, I concluded to try it. I commenced its use about eight months ago, at which time I was confined to my room. From the first bottle I was astonished and gratified at the beneficial effect, and after using it three weeks was able to walk out. I felt much like writing you a full statement of my case at that time, but thought my improvement might only be temporary, and therefore concluded to defer and see if it would effect a perfect cure, knowing then it would be of greater value to you and more satisfactory to me.

I now make no report that a cure is effected after using the remedy for five months.

I have not used any now for three months, and feel as well as I ever did.

Your Buchu being devoid of any unpleasant taste and odor, a nice tonic and invigorator of the system, I do not hesitate to be without it whenever occasion may require its use in such affections.
