

NEGRO PORTERS HAD BATTLE WITH BRICKS

PAVING COMMISSION IS "SHY" PERFECTLY GOOD BRICK

WOMEN ALSO FIGHT

Bessie White Tried to Carve Initials on Goodwin Woman's Face.

Yesterday morning about nine-thirty the negro porters of the Chiquola and the St. James engaged in a quarrel and fistfight, in which Will Hall, the Chiquola hotel porter bounced an "Alley Apple" (brick) off the head of...

There were two negro boys, Louis Smith and Baxter Davis arrested yesterday for loud swearing and boisterous conduct at or near Tex Williams' Hall on Wednesday. They will also face the stern but just judge today, and one or both will probably miss the circus.

Possibly, to help carry out the idea of "Woman Suffrage" two dusky dames of ebony hue, named Bessie White, (slightly colored) and Estelle Goodwin engaged in a scrap in...

DRUG STORE SOLD!
There is a persistent rumor circulating around the square last evening that Evans Pharmacy No. 3 had been sold to Dr. J. C. Harris and others but at this late hour it could not be verified.

Meeting Hickory Camp.
All members belonging to Hickory Camp No. 436 are urged to be present Saturday night, October 20th, 1915. There will be special degree work to do. Meeting opens at 7:30.

"Did anybody out this way make any money out of fruit last year?" "Yes," replied Farmer Coontassel. "The man that runs the store. He bought a lot of it already canned and sold it to us agriculturists."—Washington Star.

The Blue Ridge railroad yards immediately back of the Dexter Grocery company's store yesterday afternoon about four o'clock, and Bessie carried her initials or something that resembled "B. W." on Estelle's face with a pocket knife. None of these calling cards which Bessie presented Estelle with will prove fatal, except to her style and beauty. Both will probably tell their tales of trouble and how and why it happened today, and they will probably miss Barnum & Bailey's circus? It's lots better not to fight the day before or the day of the circus if you care to see the show.

FORMER ANDERSON MAN DIED AT RICHMOND, VA.

FRANK C. WHITNER HAD MANY FRIENDS AND RELATIVES HERE

EXTENSIVE FARMER

Had Been in Bad Health About Year—Buried at Rock Hill Yesterday.

The following notice in the Columbia State of the death of Mr. Frank C. Whitner will be read with deepest regret by his host of friends in this his old home:

Frank C. Whitner.
Rock Hill, Oct. 20.—Coming as a shock to his many friends throughout the city and county, the news of the death of Frank C. Whitner in Richmond, Va., was received this morning. Corcoran spinal meningitis is given as the cause of his death, the disease having attacked his system Monday night. Death occurred early this morning. Mr. Whitner had been in ill health for more than a year, but was able to attend to his business. His friends finally prevailed upon him to enter Memorial hospital in Richmond for treatment, hoping that a stay at this hospital would afford a needed rest and restore him to his usual vigor. He went to Richmond on Wednesday of last week, though none but intimate friends knew that he had gone. Frank C. Whitner was born in Anderson county, October 11, 1859, and had just completed his 56th year. With his brother, W. C. Whitner, he came to Rock Hill in 1899, since which time he has made his home here. Mr. Whitner was graduated from the law department of the University of Virginia, but never actively entered his profession. Mr. Whitner was an extensive farmer and spent much of his time on his farm near the city, which he constantly strove to develop. Although he cultivated many acres of cotton he grew his corn and grain crops and was gradually seeding to hay and cover crops. For many years Mr. Whitner was a member of the public works commission, until that body was dissolved by the establishment of commission government, and by his cooperation and counsel rendered invaluable service to the citizens of the city in the development and perfection of a first class waterworks system. He gave freely of his time and study in the interest of the work handled by the commission and was never too busy with personal affairs to neglect his public service. Mr. Whitner was a close student of affairs and spent much of his leisure-time reading and applying newly gained knowledge to his business affairs. He was ever ready to lend his counsel or assistance to his friends and was held in the highest esteem by all. His service as a commissioner made him well known throughout the city, a his success as a farmer gained for him prominence in the agricultural community about the city. Surviving are his father, Maj. B. P. Whitner of Rock Hill; two brothers, W. C. Whitner of Rock Hill and Harry Whitner of Virginia, and one sister, Mrs. L. W. Law of this city. His brothers and a nephew, Church Whitner, were with him in Richmond and will bring the remains here for burial. The remains will arrive Thursday morning and the funeral will be held some time later in the day, the arrangements not being perfected at this time.

He Dressed Well.
Amos Whitaker, a miserly millionaire, was approached by a friend who used his most persuasive powers to have him dress more in accordance with his station of life relates Lippincott's Magazine.

"I am surprised Amos," said the friend, "that you should allow yourself to become so shabby."
"But I'm not shabby," firmly inteposed the millionaire miser.

"Oh, but you are," returned his old friend. "Remember your father. He was always neatly, even elegantly dressed. His clothes were always finely tailored and of the best material."

"Why," shouted the miser, triumphantly, "these clothes I've got on were father's!"

CIRCUS WILL SHOW ON RIVER STREET LOT

SITE FOR PERFORMANCE DEFINITELY DECIDED UPON

NEAR HAY FAMINE

Shipment Ordered for Circus Delayed But Supply Has Been Secured.

Messrs. W. J. Conway, the representative of Barnum & Bailey's circus, together with Mr. Clarence Osborne and Mr. Sanders, the city engineer went over the proposed route to haul the circus from the Blue Ridge freight depot to the Moore lot on East River street yesterday afternoon soon after Mr. Conway reached the city.

It has been definitely decided to show the circus at the Moore show grounds opposite Juena Vista park. The gentlemen mentioned above went from the Blue Ridge Freight depot down Pant street, past the Mattress Factory on out Elizabeth street and Kaufman avenue and into East River street onto the lot which is high and dry; and even should it rain very hard during the night or early morning, the show grounds will be dry enough so that no one need suffer any inconveniences from the wet grounds.

The circus is to come here from Columbia on four trains; the first one left Columbia at ten last night, and the then as rapidly as the railroad will permit until the last one leaves there at two this morning; this is the most important train of the entire circus; it contains the trained animals and performers, and should luck it will not reach here in time for the parade, however, this is all conjecture, and it is hoped that the entire circus will reach here in good shape and the parade will be held as contemplated.

The route of the parade has not yet been decided, and will not be until the circus reaches here this morning; however it will probably follow the same route as the circus does in unloading.

This circus came very near facing a hay famine locally. It happened thus: Mr. Clarence Osborne had ordered a plenty of hay for his own needs and that of the circus, but his orders were not filled on time. In fact he has never yet gotten the hay that he ordered; and rather than run the risk of having a lot of hungry animals on hand, Mr. Conway ordered hay from Greenville yesterday afternoon, also from Columbia and there will be a plenty of hay for the circus this morning when they get in here.

AT THE THEATRES

At the Anderson Today.
This morning at 10 o'clock at the Anderson theatre will open with a four-reel Charlie Chaplin, and in the afternoon 7 o'clock will show "My Official Wife." This is one of the finest pictures ever shown in Anderson and will draw a large crowd.

Wonderful Performances at the Bijou.
Crowded houses are attending the Bijou this week to see Dalvine, the wonderful hypnotist who is giving exhibitions each afternoon and night. He selects for this subjects some of his audience who volunteer, and his feats on these are the source of the greatest merriment to the crowds present. He seems to have perfect control of his subjects and makes them do all sorts of ridiculous performances that keeps his audience in an uproar. He is a man of attractive and pleasing personality and wins the interest of his audience from the very beginning.

He will be at the Bijou for the rest of the week and gives a different program each time. He is a hypnotist of unusual power and his feats are nothing short of being wonderful.

"The Winning of Barbara Worth"
Harold Bell Wright's great story, "The Winning of Barbara Worth" dramatized by Mark E. Swan and presented by a powerful New York company, with a wealth of scenery and mechanical contrivances, will be played at The Anderson theatre, matinee and night, Wednesday, November 3.

Three years ago the book was the "best seller." Time does not seem to effect its popularity. The two million mark was passed some time ago, still the demand continues. The remarkable success of the play may be but the reflected glory of the book, for wherever the play is produced, the public flock to see it. A poor house is unknown. Then there is the uniform excellence of play and company to be considered, also the fine scenic environment. All this gets abroad, news by telephone travels fast, and the reputation of a traveling company must be a lot or it doesn't travel long. Get ready to see "The Winning of Barbara Worth," with the familiar characters of "Barbara," "Jefferson Worth," "Willard Holmes," "Abe Lee," "Tex," "Pat Mconey," "Greenfield," "Fable," and treat yourself to a fine entertainment.
