Will Drop Bombs On City of Anderson

NOVEL STUNTS TO BE PER-FORMED BY BUD CAREY, DARING AVIATOR

BOMBS WILL MEAN
MONEY TO FINDERS

Will Be Small Sacks Flour Containing Coupons Good for Valuable Premiums.

Mr. Gullmette called on quite a number of the Anderson merchants yesterday but reports very little success in subscriptions, but as he pluckily put it: "We are going to put those two flights on here Friday and Saturday if we don't get another cent."

Messrs. Carey and Greider, aviator and mechanic will take the machine from the express office early this morning and haul it out to North Anderson to a point just beyond the Brown woods at the extreme end of the street car line, from which point the flights will take place rain or shine. The machine will be assembled today, tested out, and gotten ready so that there will be no delay or hitch of any sort when the time for the flights comes around Friday.

The tickets have been placed on sale at Fant's Book store, T. L. Cely Co., Evans Pharmacy No. 1, No. 3, The Owl Drug Co., Smith, Garrett & Barton, Orr-Gray Drug Co., Gels-berg Bros. Shoe store, and Craytons Drug store and The Anderson Intelligencer office. The prices of admission have been made 25 and 15 instead of $1.00 and 50 cents as is usually charged for sensational flying such as Bud Carey will give the people of Anderson.

The imitation bombs that Carey will drop from the clouds onto the spectators will be little sacks of flour containing coupons calling for different premiums donated by some of Anderson's most progressive merchants, among them being the following: Gelsberg Bros. Shoe company, a $1.50 pair of shoes; R. W. Tribble a $1.00 shirt; Lesser company, $1.00 worth of underwear; Austin, a $1.25 set of bread plates; Anderson D.
Goods, a $1.00 worth of Dress goods; D. J. Berg, a $1.00 pair of linenware silk hose and a $1.00 bottle of Alfred Wright's toilet water; W. H. Keese & Co., a $2.00 stick pin; Owl Drug company, a pound box of Nunnally's candy, value 80c; Marchbanks & Babb, a beautiful shirt waist set of enamel ware, value $2.50; and many others that will probably be donated today. The finders of these coupons will receive these gifts free of any expense. All that they will have to do is to call with these coupons and get them.

There is going to be one of the greatest crowds in Anderson on these two days that have been here for many a day. Get your affairs arranged so that you can see one or both of these flights, for this man Carey is "some flyer."

LEVEL LAND

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Temple and children spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. E. R. McCallister, of Due West.
Mr. Prue Young left for Hartwell, Ga., Sunday. It is said he will bring his bride back with him. Go on Prue. Bring me one too?

The McWhorter girls left Friday for their school near Columbia.
Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Temple spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Pat Waters near Antreville.

Mr. Pruitt was in Anderson Saturday on business.

Long Hair Record.

From investigations which the writer has made, it would appear that the woman who has most cause to be proud of her "crowning glory" is an American, the winner of a long hair competition in the states, whose treasures measures eight and a half feet long. The weight of this abundance of hair does not seem to cause the possessor any inconvenience, and the tresses are so thick that a certain manufacturer remarked that the hair could be woven into sufficient fabric to make a gown for the successful contestant.

The record of this ady beats by two and a half feet that of the Bristol lady who was supposed to possess the longest hair in this country.
Instances of ladies' hair measuring five feet to five and a half feet have often been recorded. But it might be mentioned that the longest hair in the world was that grown by Robert Leister of Tunbridge, Well, whose beard measured no less than 16 feet and necessitated his wearing it round his waist.

No Her Fault.

The best efforts to make a homo attractive sometimes fail, says T. H. Pitts.
Recently a district visitor in the east and of London asked the wife of a notorious drinker why she did not keep her husband from the public house.

"Well," she answered, "I have done my best, madam, but he still goes there."
"Why don't you make your home look more attractive?"

"I'm sure I've tried and to make it 'omelike, ma'am," was the reply.
"I've looked up the parlor carpet and sprinkled sawdust on the floor, and put a beer barrel on the corner. But for me, it ain't made a bit of difference."

LAYING MORE TRACKS AT C. & W. C. STATION

LARGE FORCE OF LABORERS WILL RUSH WORK TO COMPLETION

USE NEW STATION

As Soon As Tracks Are Finished and Concrete Umbrella Sheds Erected.

Work has been started laying the three side tracks for the C. & W. C. reight service on their lot just off Main street. Mr. Jim Galloway is at work with a large force of hands to rush the work through as quickly as possible.

As soon as the tracks are completed, and the umbrella sheds built, the passenger trains will come to this station instead of the West Whitner street station.

Mr. W. W. Johnson who contracted for the concrete work of the umbrella sheds has about finished the concrete piers and these are being allowed time for settling before anything else is done.

The present plans call for the hurried completion of the work now in hand and the change of stations by ingoing and outgoing trains.

"KINGDOM FOR HORSE; HORSE ON GEISBERG

RICHARD III HAD NOTHING ON ANDERSON'S POPU-LAR SHOE MAN

MAX SEIGEL WINNER

Got Perfectly Good Pair Six Dollar Shoes for shrdlu etacin Here.

"I sell the best shoes in the whole country, I guess," said Mr. Harry Gelsberg, because I swapped a pair of them for a real live horse and got cheated." That statement sounds a bit strange but it is the truth, and the horse was a real live one, capable of pulling a wagon, a very light one though it would have to be.

The facts of the transaction became known when some one let it out that Harry Gelsberg had a horse and did not know what to do with it. He couldn't sell it, and he couldn't feed it, for the thing wouldn't eat. Just how the horse became Harry's property, is told by friends on the street:

On Monday morning Max Seigel, a local dealer in cattle, drove a horse up in front of Mr. Gelsberg's store and asked him what he would give him for the horse. Mr. Gelsberg answered jokingly and said something less than one dollar. Max then asked if he would trade for a pair of shoes. Mr. Gelsberg said that he would give him the best pair of shoes in the house for his horse, and the deal was on. Max Seigel got his shoes and Harry Gelsberg got his horse. Then is where the trouble started. The shoes Mr. Gelsberg swapped were good ones, worth $6 a pair and the horse would make about one-half mile for the pair. Harry was skinned and he knew it, but one of the young men in the store, Mr.
Henry Goss got into the deal at this stage of the game and offered to buy a half interest in Harry's horse for $3. The deal was closed and the horse became the property of Gelsberg and Goss. Then it was that the horse was examined. He was a nice looking animal, no bad habits such as smoking, chewing or other things, didn't snore and didn't eat. That is it would not eat hay or anything rough. The two newly made livestock dealers were puzzled to know what they were to do with the horse.
Stable bill for about an hour would be worth more than to horse, but just at this time Mr. H. D. Goss, the sign painter, came along and the two young men conspired together and decided to wish the horse off on Mr. Goss. Mr.
Goss gave the beast the "once over" and decided that he could not use him, but consented to keep him overnight. This was done, and the next morning the problem of the horse was about to drive the Gelsberg shoe company insane. Time after time they tried to give him away to sell him, to wish him on someone, but each time the attempt met defeat. Finally the horse was disposed of to a Mr. Pant, a young farmer of the county. The horse became his property and Mr.
Gelsberg and Goss were paid $3 for their property. This leaves a deficit of $3 in the firm of Gelsberg and Goss which may or may not be made up. It is hardly probable that they will venture into the livestock game the second time.

Too Much.

"I see you bought a good"
"Yes. And those would be humorous make me sick. Only today one of them sent me a rubber band for an extra life."—New York Times.

SOUTHSIDE GROCERY COMPANY ORGANIZED

OFFICERS ELECTED AT MEET-ING HELD TUESDAY
AFTERNOON

ERECTING BUILDING

Across Street From Present Location of Business—C. C. Prevost Heads Company.

The Southside Grocery company was organized Tuesday afternoon with a capital stock of $10,000. Officers for the company were elected as follows: Charles C. Prevost, president, and treasurer; F. F. Hapgood, vice president and Jas. Crawford, secretary.
The directors are: C. C. Prevost; Willett P. Sloan, Jas. Crawford, B.
F. Hapgood and Mrs. S. P. Hapgood.

Mr. Prevost stated that the organization of the company was due to the increased amount of business his place has had within the last few months. At the meeting of the directors this morning he announced plans for the acceptance of a store room being erected by Mr. Willie F.
Marshall, on the lot across Main street from the present site of the building.

The building is now in process of construction and quarters will be taken up there as soon as possible.
Mr. Prevost has been in the grocery business since February of 1914 and has conducted a good business dealing fair with everyone and now his business ranks among the foremost of the city.

No Chance For Him.

A man was on trial before a Wisconsin judge for horse stealing, says Harper's Magazine. When it came time for the lawyers on both sides to tell the judges what instructions they wanted him to give the jury in addition to the points covered in his own charge, the attorney for the defense said:

"I respectfully ask your honor to charge the jury that it is a fundamental principle of law in this country that it is better for 99 guilty men to escape than for one innocent man to be found guilty."

"Yes, that is true," said the judge. reflectively, "and so I instruct the jury; but I will add that it is the opinion of the court that the 99 guilty men have already escaped."

Its Offspring.

Luke, venturing into town for the first time, essayed to cross the street and was bowled over by an automobile, says the New York Post. He lay in the roadway while the bystanders shouted at him to run.
Presently a speeding motorcycle also hit Luke. Then he reached the curb.

"Why ain't you run when Ah told you?" demanded a bystander.

"G long mah," responded Luke indignantly. "Hucome you reckon Ah know dat contraption had er colt?"

Taking Doctors Orders.

A country doctor, walking out one day with a Highlander who boasted he was a stanch teetotaler, resolved to put him to the test, says The Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph. Passing a hotel he asked him in and ordered two glasses of whisky. After they had "shifted" these and two or three more at the doctor's expense, his friend began to get a wee bit "dlib o' the gab." The doctor then, feeling he had him, bluntly asked, "How does this square w' you" teatotal pretensions?"

"Weel!" quoth John, with a quiet smile, "though I'm a stanch teetotaller, I'd be a fule to refuse what the doctor orders."
